FOREWORD

It has been the privilege of the men and women of the Class of 1921 to review the proud spirit of George Washington University through the trial of a hundred years, and it has been their greater privilege to see that spirit broaden and deepen with the conceived Greater University as the CHERRY TREE tries to manifest in the Centennial Edition. The Editor of this book has tried to catch the significance of that growing spirit and to express something of it on these pages, and it is his sincere hope that the result of his efforts will not be altogether unworthy of the greatness of his inspiration.

History of George Washington University

REV. WILLIAM STAUGHTON
First President of Columbian College

IN this most promising year of 1921 George Washington University has the satisfaction of celebrating its centennial, and seeing the gratifying results of one hundred years of self-sacrifice and perseverance. Many of its dearest hopes have been realized, during the past years of its existence, and, what is best, it has succeeded in making it possible for students from all parts of the world to benefit by both the advantages of our National Capital and an excellent institution of learning.

Originally the University was under the name of Columbian College, and in common with Harvard, Yale, and Princeton owes its beginning to the zeal of a Christian denomination. Rev. Luther Rice, a returned missionary from India, conceived the idea of founding a college in the city of Washington for the education of Baptist ministers. The other schools he proposed in connection with it were to be entirely unsectarian in their discipline, and national in their aims.

So a "literary association" was formed for the purpose of buying land adjoining the city, with the understanding that it should be held for an educational establishment, under the direction of the general convention. They paid $7,000 for the land, and among the contributors are found the names of John Quincy Adams, Wm. H. Crawford, and John C. Calhoun (members at that time of President Monroe's cabinet), together with thirty-two members of Congress and many leading citizens of Washington.

In February, 1821, during the Presidency of James Monroe, a charter was procured from Congress, erecting "The Columbian College in the District of Columbia" for the "sole and exclusive purpose of educating youth in the English, learned and foreign languages, the liberal arts, sciences and literature, with full power to confer all degrees usually granted and conferred in colleges." At the first meeting of the constituent Board of Trustees the charter was formally accepted and Rev. O. B. Brown was elected President of the Board, and it was resolved that the college should be divided into two departments, the Classical and the Theological. Dr. Staughton, a native of England and an eminent pulpit orator, was elected President of the institution.

The original site of the institution was generally known as College Hill, which extended west of what is now Fourteenth Street, and north of Florida Avenue. The college opened with thirty-nine students in 1821, whereas the first commencement was on December 15, 1824. Its first graduates with the degree of A. B. were Alexander Ewell and Albert Fairfax, of Virginia, and James D. Knowles, of Rhode Island. The commencement was graced by the presence of President Monroe, Secretary of War John C. Calhoun, Speaker of House of Representatives Henry Clay, and the distinguished French visitor Marquis de LaFayette.

During the early period conditions of living were very different from those at present, for in 1824 it is stated, in a pamphlet issued by the college, that tuition, board, fuel and light, bed and bedding, room rent, steward's salary, servants, shoe blacking, etc., would not ordinarily exceed $200.00 a year—and that $10 would, in the opinion of the trustees, be quite as much as ought, in any case, be allowed a student for pocket money.

For a number of years the regulations of the college provided that—"No student is allowed to attend the theatre or any such place or to visit any barroom or similar establishment or to visit any hotel but for special and adequate reasons."

The first five Presidents of the University were Doctors of Divinity of the Baptist Church, William Staughton (1821-1827), Stephen Chapin (1828-1841), Joel S. Bacon (1843-1854), Joseph G. Binney (1855-1858), George W. Samson (1859-1871). The next three Presidents were also Baptists, although not ministers. Dr. James C. Welling served from 1871 to 1894, Dr. Beniah L. Whitman from 1895 to 1900, and Dr. Charles W. Needham from 1902 to 1910. It may be of interest to note that Chapin Street above Florida Avenue is named in honor of our second President.

There has never been a time in the history of the University when it has been sufficiently supported financially.

FIRST MEDICAL BUILDING

OLD ATHLETIC FIELD AND CLUB HOUSE
IN VAN NESS PARK

It has twice been on the verge of collapse. The greatest contributors to the college were John Withers, John Quincy Adams, William W. Corcoran, General Maxwell Van Zandt Woodhull, and A. Lisner.

The Medical Department was originated in 1825, and is the seventeenth medical school in seniority at this time in the United States. The Law Department was organized the following year, but was discontinued in 1827 and not re-organized until 1865. The Dental School was organized in 1887, but discontinued in 1920 for financial reasons arising out of the increasing requirements for dental education. The Corcoran Scientific School, established in 1884, the School of Graduate Studies, established in 1893, the Teachers' College, established in 1907, and the College of Engineering, established in 1906, all form a part of the Department of Arts and Sciences.

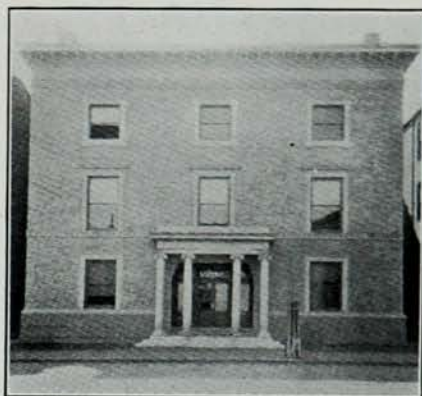

In 1872 the University moved to the corner of 15th and H Streets and remained upon that site until 1902, when the buildings were completely outgrown and the property had increased too greatly in value longer to be occupied for university work. The Van Ness property was purchased for a permanent site, but later sold at a large advance to the Bureau of American Republics.

The state of the University at this time was critical and there was grave question whether it would not have to close its doors entirely. Fortunately, the wisest possible guide was found in this emergency in Rear Admiral Charles H. Stockton, who had retired from the Navy. He accepted the presidency of the University and served in that capacity for nine years, the first three without salary. He placed the University, probably for the first time in its history, in a perfectly sound financial position and so left it when he retired from the presidency two years ago.

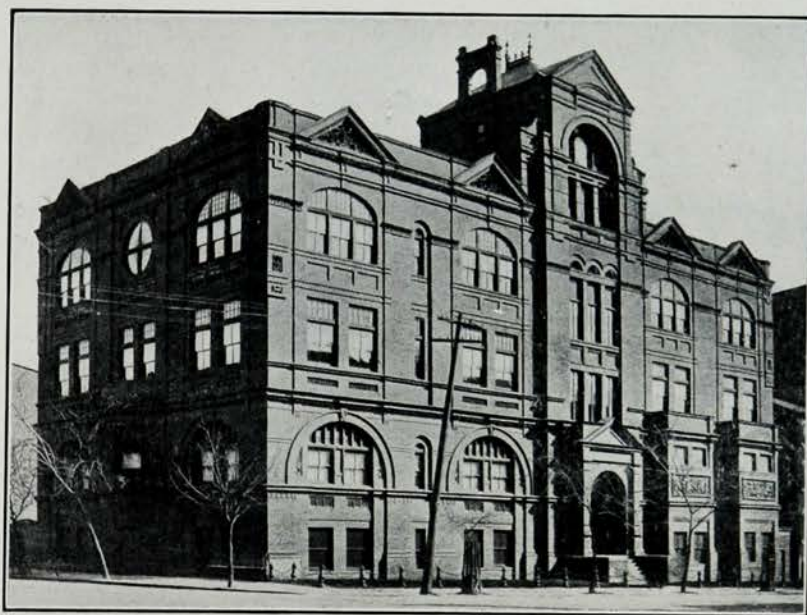

PROPOSED BUILDINGS IN VAN NESS PARK

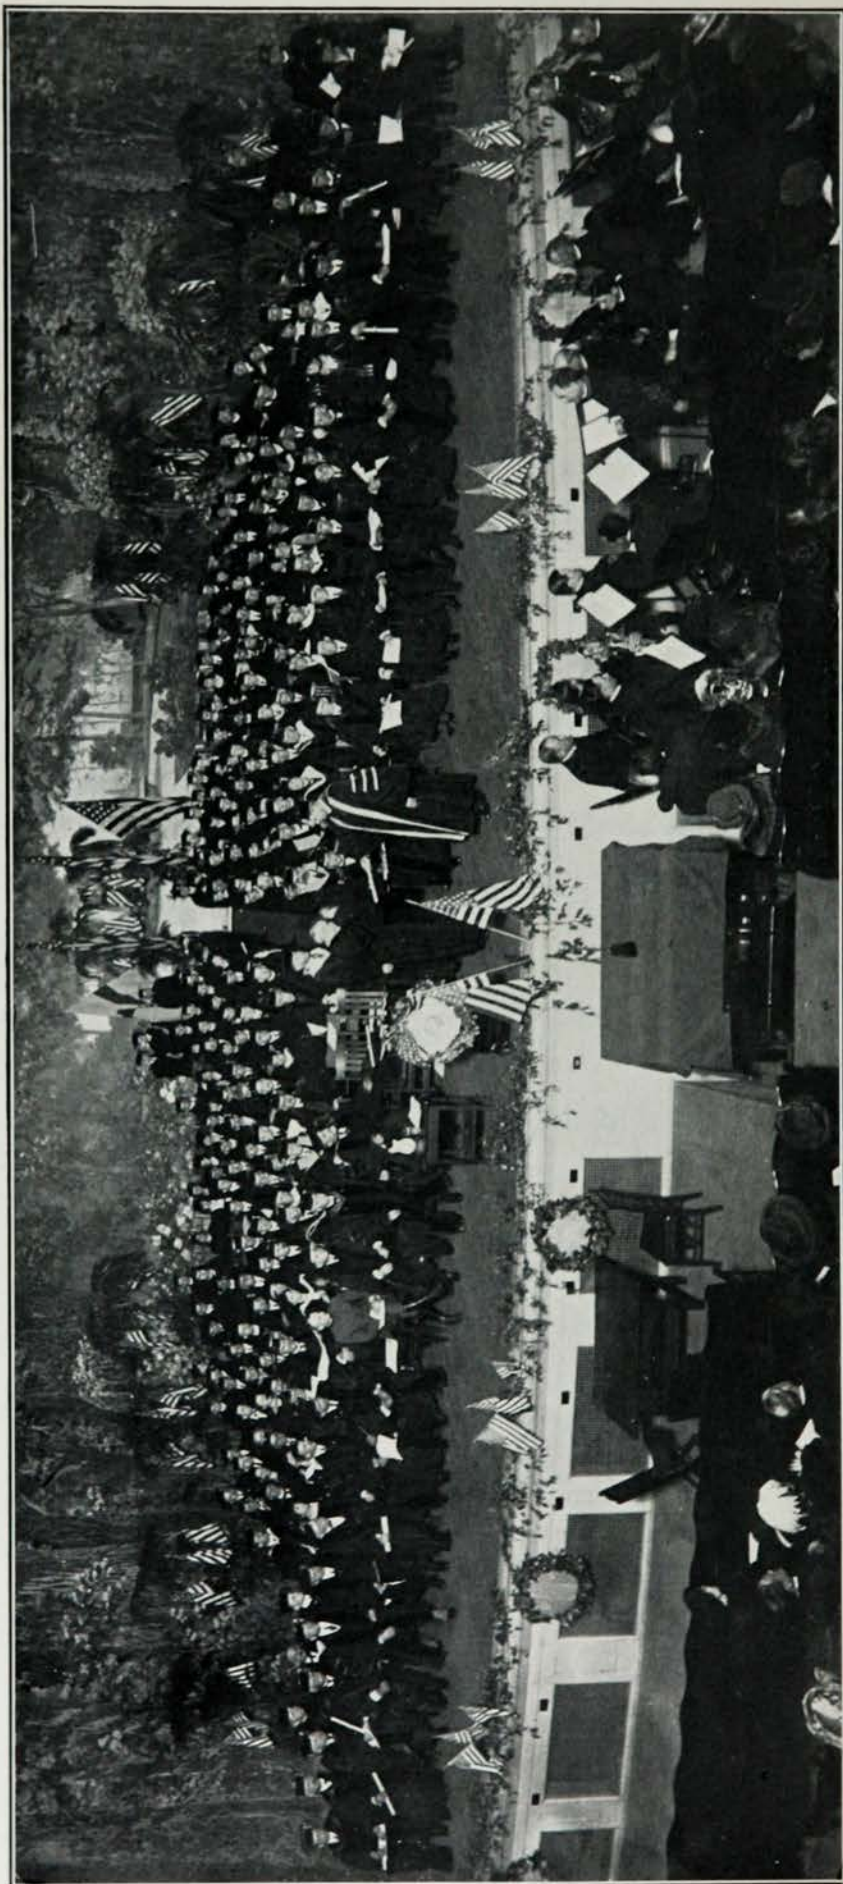

Now when a new era is opening for the University after one hundred years of trials, struggles, successes and accomplishments, we feel that there is before us the greatest of futures. We are happy in the belief that the next years of the University are to be marked by that same spirit of perseverance and achievement, which in the past has helped to make this institution one of prominence. Our greatest desire is that our bi-centennial may have seen as many steps of advancement as the first one hundred years, and so enthusiastic is the spirit for progressiveness and for betterment, not only among the faculty, but among the whole student body, that it is certain that our desire will be fulfilled.

Centennial

HE celebration of Centennial Week was opened on Saturday evening, February nineteenth, with two departmental banquets, the Arts and Science and the Law School. The Arts and Science was held at the Hotel Willard with Mr. Mussman as Toastmaster. Addresses were made by the President, Dean Hodgkins, Dean Wilbur, and Mr. King, '78. The program included several vaudeville acts staged by the various organizations. The Law School banquet was held at the Franklin Square Hotel, where addresses were made by Dean Roscoe Pound, of the Harvard Law School; the President of the Alumni Association of the Law School, and the Presidents of the various classes. Dean Ferson was a most able toastmaster.

On Sunday afternoon the Centennial Convocation Sermon was preached by the Reverend Dr. Charles Wood at the Church of the Covenant. The June Seniors, donning the Cap and Gown for the first time, took part in the procession which was lead by the Senior Marshals.

Monday afternoon, the Junior Class held a reception at the Raleigh Hotel for the faculty, student body, and the alumni. There was dancing throughout the afternoon and a short program was given by the Men's Glee Club.

The University Centennial Dinner, which superceded the usual alumni dinner, was held at Rauscher's on Monday evening. Among the guests of honor were the French Ambassador and Madame Jusserand, the Chilean Ambassador and Senora de Mathieu, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Southern, Senator and Mrs. George H. Moses, Senator and Mrs. H. W. Keys, and many others of prominence, including representatives from one hundred and twenty-five colleges and universities.

The Centennial Convocation was held at Central High School on Tuesday afternoon, February the twenty-second. The academic procession was composed of the graduating classes, faculty, and representatives from many educational institutions, both in America and the Continent.

The greatest social event of the year, the Junior Prom, was held at Rauscher's on Thursday, while the Junior Play, "The Truth," was presented Monday evening, the twenty-fourth, at the Central High School Auditorium.

CENTENNIAL CONVOCATION OF GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY,
FEBRUARY 22, 1921

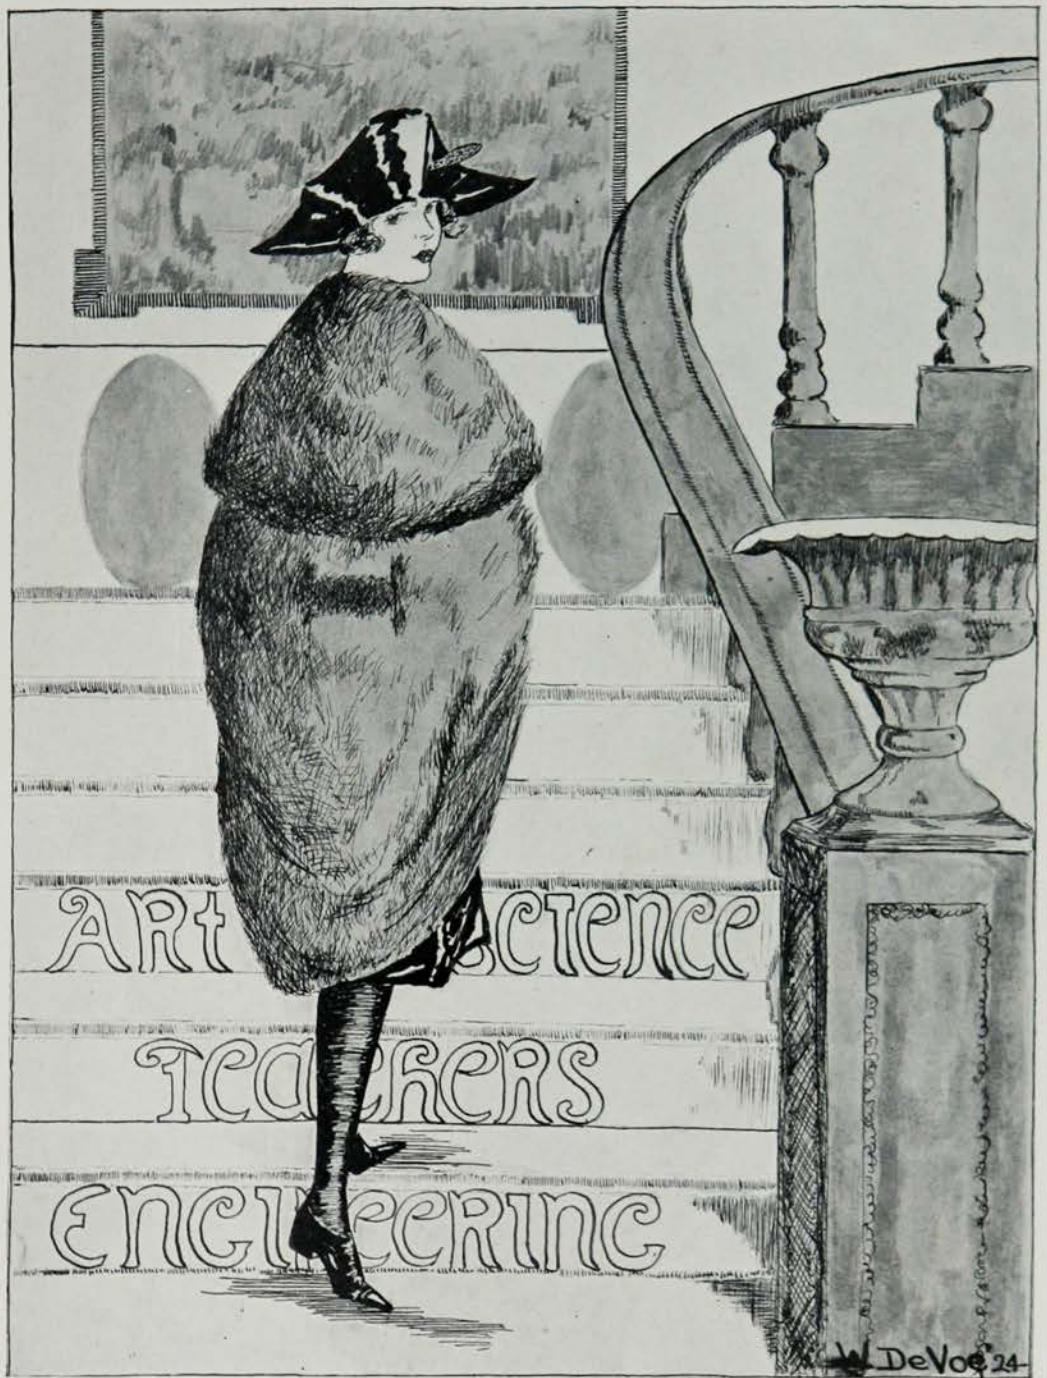

Leaders in the Academic Procession, from Left to Right:

His Excellency, Mr. J. J. Jusserand, the French Ambassador; His Excellency, Señor Don Beltran Mathieu, the Chilean Ambassador; His Excellency, Senator V. Rolandi Ricci, the Italian Ambassador; Honorable Henry White, former American Ambassador to Italy and also to France, Trustee of the George Washington University; Mr. H. B. F. Macfarland, Trustee of the George Washington University; William Miller Collier, former American Minister to Spain, President of the George Washington University.

Second row: Professor George N. Henning, Dean of the Graduate School; Professor William A. Wilbur, Dean of Columbian College; Professor Merton L. Ferson, Dean of the Law School; President Charles A. Richmond, of Union College, the Centennial Orator (back of and between the Chilean Ambassador and the Italian Ambassador); Col. Charles W. Kutz, Engineer Commissioner of the District of Columbia.

Bob remained in the background for two years and then suddenly came forward as President of the Junior Class, where he reached the pinnacle of his fame, and then as a Freshman in Law School faded away into darkness again. He has a smile and handshake good for a majority vote in any doubtful election and we expect to see him in the halls of the U. S. Senate or some State Legislature some day.

Student Council, Secretary-Treasurer, 1921; Vice-President of Enosinian Society, 1921; Vice-President of Spanish Club, 1921; The Players, 1919; W. U. C.

Rosemary's accomplishments would fill a book, and then you wouldn't know them all. If you have ever heard any of her pianologs you will understand why she was in such demand at Eagle Hut and the Y. M. C. A. during the war. She is also a literary genius of no small degree, and in this line her host of friends know she will bring honor to her Alma Mater.

"And I oft have heard defended,
Little said is soonest mended."

This seems to be Bill's motto in life. But having had so much experience as treasurer, perhaps he thinks "money talks," and why offer it any competition. He has shown great competency, however, in handling money—both his own and other people's.

HENRIETTA BEHREND

Enosinian Society, 1921; Literary Society, 1920; W. U. C.

Henrietta firmly believes that to be interesting one must have a hobby—so she has hers—and it is well developed. Never is she to be seen without a pencil and the love lyrics and sonnets which flow therefrom enlighten one on all subjects from yellow roses and moonlight to the professors.

ROBERT JOSEPH BOSWORTH

A K K

Robert is a joint product, supporter, and specimen of D. C. and George Washington. From the present indications we may soon expect to hear of Dr. Bosworth and to see his shingle hanging high and proclaiming to all who pass that here may be found an excellent dispenser of pills and potions.

MARY M. BRADLEY

GEORGIA

Spanish Club, 1921; W. U. C.

Miss Bradley may be seen on the campus most any day from five to seven, and she is always very intent on something—we wonder if it is always her studies. She graduated from the State Normal School at Athens, Georgia, and she has had the advantage of studying in several private schools in England.

GEORGIA MAE BROWN

MINNESOTA

Chemical Society, 1921; Spanish Club, 1921; W. U. C.

During her one year's stay with us she has so impressed us that it seems as though we had always known her, as they say in the short story. We feel that we have profited greatly from the short acquaintance.

JOSEPH LEON CAMPUS

NEW YORK

Of such great versatility is he that part of his day is given to teaching in a high school, part to attending the University classes, in which he really does most of the instructing, as all of his profs verily know, and part to his avocation—that of writing movie senarios. He has also attended N. Y. U. and Fordham, and we think that some day the Hall of Fame will be graced by his efforts.

They grow tall in Southern Illinois! Tim is proving that aristocracy cannot be downed even when running one of the government departments, carying twenty hours school work and keeping beaucoup social engagements.

DENVER COLEMAN

Den is an exponent of Chicago University and other way-stations until he joined us this year at G. W. U. Think he likes us pretty well, for next year he is going to enlist in the ranks as a G. W. medic.

DONALD GEORGE COLEMAN

KANSAS

Junior Prom Committee, 1920.

Coming to George Washington from the Naval Academy, Don brought with him much enthusiasm and found an outlet for some of it by being a staunch supporter of the Junior Class of 1920. As he has decided to remain in the D. C. for a short time, at least, we expect to see and hear of him from time to time.

DANIEL STICKNEY COOMBS

NEBRASKA

Mr. Coombs brings with him a long list of activities from Doane College, Nebraska, which he attended from 1911-14, including President of the Junior Class, an Editor of the Doane Owl, and a member of the College Debating Team. He later attended the University of Nebraska, and finally transferred his energies to Sundance, Wyoming, where he was principal of a high school. As yet he has not lost any of his Western pep.

EARLE JAY DRUMMOND

OHIO

A level head, and lots in it! After spending two and a half years at Ohio State, he made the acquaintance of G. W. and has never left it. He ambitions are too numerous to mention, and as for his charms, "the half has never been told." To dispense with a little surplus energy he is an active member of the Biological Society of Washington.

MAURICE DUFFY

"Duf" is a product of the coast, and how he got here no one knows. Has the reputation of getting his LL. B. in February and his A. B. in June. Going some, we would say! As to house parties, etc. . . . just call up Wardman Park!

BEATRICE LOUISE DURYEA

NEW YORK

While Beatrice took the first of her college work at Syracuse, and later some at Cornell, she now admits that they are both grand places to be from. We are glad she has felt that way, for her geniality has made her a general favorite with both professors and students.

WALLACE DICKINSON EDINGTON

NEW YORK

Wallace received his B. A. degree from Gallaudet in 1915. While there, he was a member of Kappa-Gamma Fraternity. All who know him agree that he is ready for anything at anytime—in short a "regular fellow."

THOMAS FRANCIS FARRELL
MASSACHUSETTS

The boy with the smile which won't come off, and how sadly will he be missed now that he is educated. But we realize that all good things cannot go on forever (even at G. W. U.), so we are willing that he should leave us and add his bit to the running of the universe.

CHARLES FRANCIS FOLEY

During Charlie's brief stay at G. W. he has made many friends; however, from all reports, he is to make D. C. his home after graduation. And it would appear that he will become a partner in a well established real estate and banking house.

But all pleasant associations must come to an end sooner or later. We shall soon know how Randolph-Macon misses her, for she will soon leave our midst.

CLARENCE MORTIMER GODFREY

Secretary, Senior Class; Secretary of Engineering Society, 1921; Junior Prom Committee, 1920.

Clarence is very fond of working, and yet like most mortals he waits until the spirit or his friends move him. We will admit, though, that he is at quite a disadvantage, since the source of most of his inspiration moved to Baltimore, and so much time is lost on an electric line.

ALYS MILLSAPS GOFORTH
LOUISIANA

Another daughter from the land of pickaninnies and cotton is Miss Goforth. Her enthusiastic interest in her studies is excelled only by her warm southern friendliness. She attended Louisiana State University before getting the finishing touches at G. W. U.

ARTHUR JACKSON GRONNA

"Art" breezed in on us from North Dakota and at once turned his attention to the more essential parts of a college education not prescribed by the catalogue. We are at a loss to tell whether "Art" is attracted by the women, or the women by "Arts."

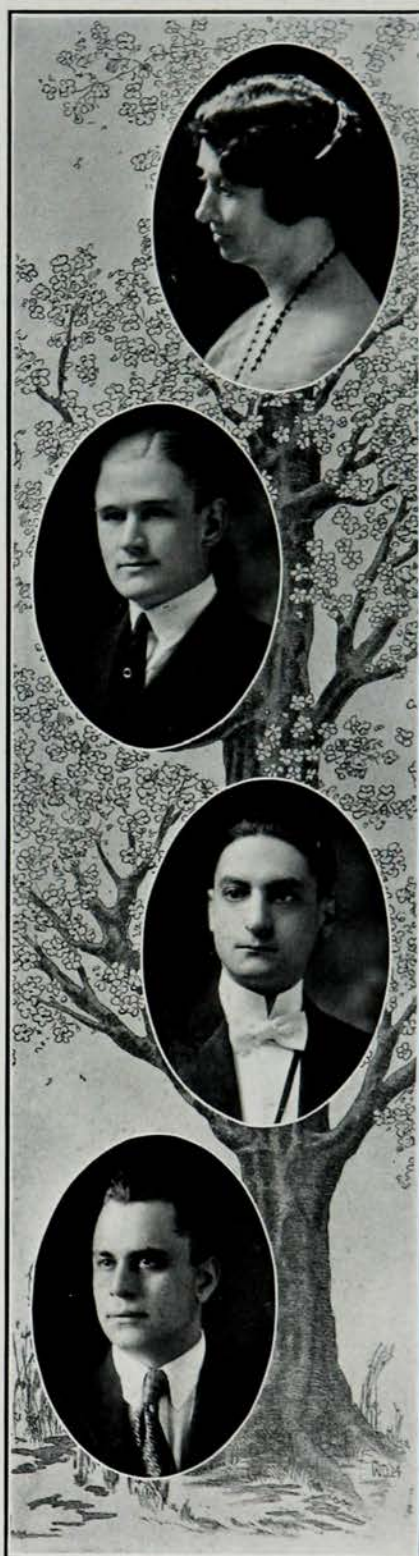

HERBERT ROBERT GROSSMAN

DANIEL LUTHER HALDEMAN
PENNSYLVANIA

From Mahon City hails Daniel Luther with the very creditable record of graduation from the Mahon City High School in 1910 and from the West Chester State Normal School in 1915. In addition to these he also attended Penn State College in 1912-13, and now is with us at G. W. in the Class of 1921.

EDWARD HANSON

Ladies and Gentlemen, we have with us in the next compartment, Edward Josephus Junior Hanson, of No'th C'lina. Ed carries with him the rich dialect of the Southland, touched, as is everything in which he engages, with peculiar and delightful humor of his own. That he has been often on the "firing line" for his Alma Mater is proved by the partial list of his "Engagements" above, and that he is much beloved by his fellow-students is tangibly evidenced by his election to the post of Senior Marshal.

Rosemond has divided her time between the Government and the University, but every little bit helps, so now she has earned her sheepskin and she feels sure that it is "the skin you love to touch." From her calmness, we know that she gets her degree without ever having had a moment's worry.

GEORGE SANDS HASTINGS
DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Chemical Society, 1919; Columbian Debating Society, 1920; Engineering Society, 1921.

When interviewed by our reporter, George said that he was born in Chicago, and expects to be a farmer in Maine, and that his favorite color is blue, because his hair is red. And, oh, yes, he prefers ladies one at a time. A man of few words, you see, but we suspect there's a lot behind that shy twinkle in his eyes.

JAMES CHANDLER HATCHER

Pyramid Honor Society; Varsity Basket-Ball, 1919-20; G. W. Club; Columbian Debating Society.

Gifted with the tongue of an orator, the physique of an athlete, and the personality of a genuine Southern gentlemen. Jimmie during his stay at G. W. has made himself well-liked by all who have had the pleasure of knowing him.

WILLIAM PRESTON HAYNES

Pyramid Honor Society; Glee Club President, 1921; Cherry Tree Staff, 1920; Chairman of Junior Play, 1920; Junior Prom Committee, 1920.

Pres is the blonde brute from Kentucky, a musician and entertainer of the first rank. Ask any co-ed. He is the man who revived the Glee Club this year and is responsible for the excellent joint concert with the Columbia University Glee Club. During his three years at Columbian College he has endeared himself to all who know him. We are not to lose him just yet, for besides being a Senior in Columbian College he is a Freshman Medic. If when he gets his M. D., his pills are half as stimulating as his personality, pilgrimages to Kentucky will become fashionable.

ROBERT BURNS HEALEY

Spanish Club, 1921.

Bob is the fellow who thinks he knows women. Cannot help being handsome, neither can he keep the ladies from wanting to know him—by notes or otherwise. However, there is one thing he can help, and that is not to give said ladies any encouragement. At any rate, we feel that when Bob came to G. W. from Princeton and Harvard it was a distinct addition to the student body.

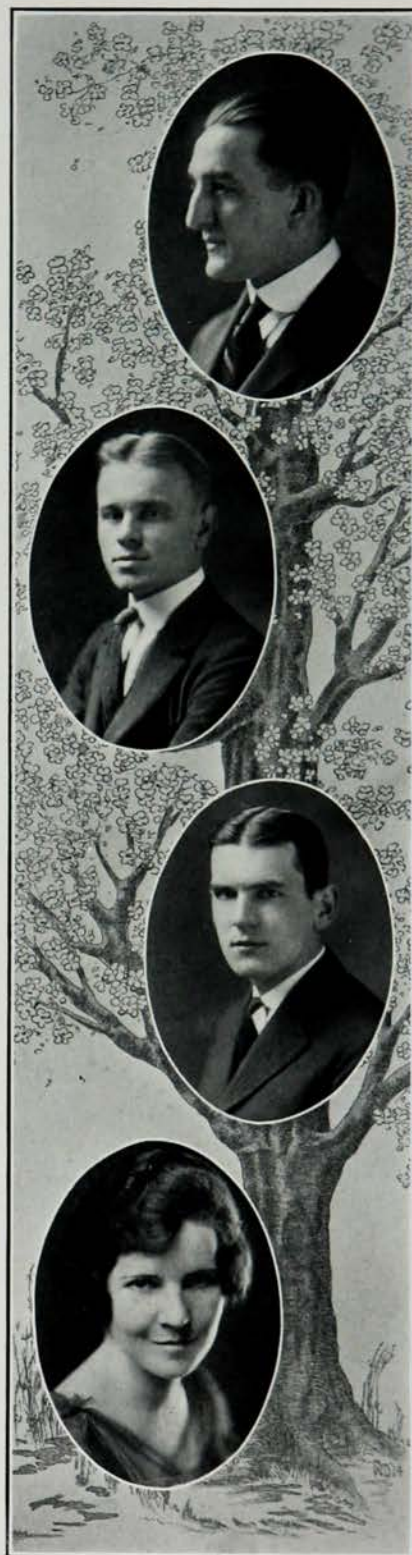

RUTH MARIE HEDDEN

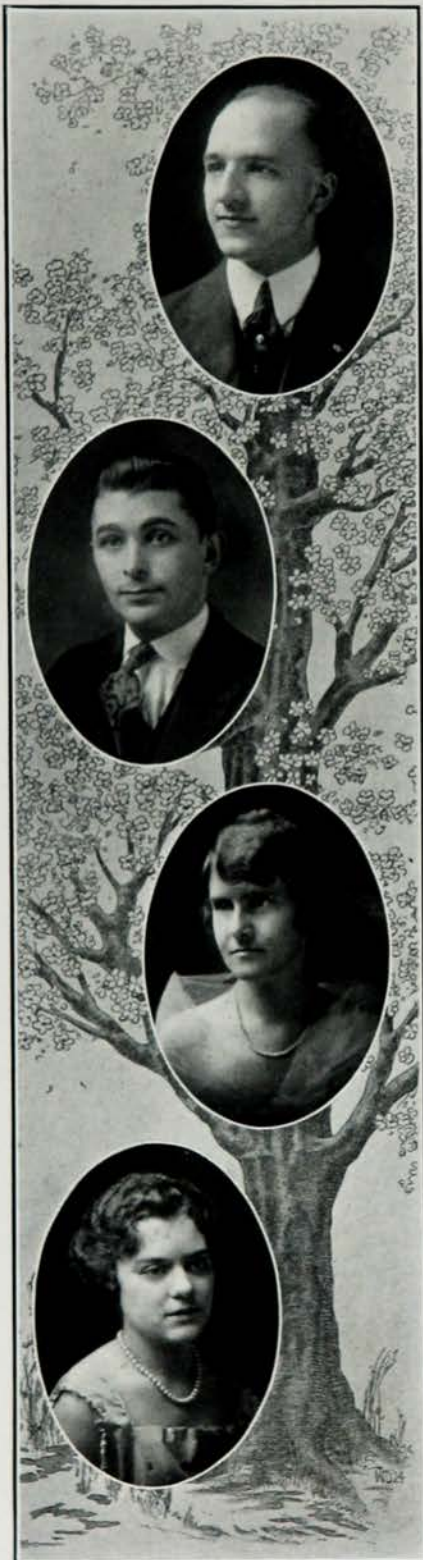

INDIANA

Θ Δ Σ

Spanish Club, 1921.

Whenever you are in doubt as to the most proper and effective method of Parliamentary Procedure it would be well to consult with Ruth for the "I move that the motion be carried" has smoothed many difficult spots and relieved many legislative tangles during her stay at G. EVERETT ALBERT HELLMUTH

VIRGINIA
Σ Φ Ε

Alchemists, Treasurer, 1918-21; President, 1920; Vice-President of Junior Class, Engineering College, 1920; Engineering Society; Chemical Society.

While Hellmuth is perfectly qualified to teach a whole class in Chemistry, due to his long and faithful service, he feels that his energy will be better directed if applied to household arts and enlisted in the service of only one. So in this capacity his many friends wish him good luck.

HERMAN S. HOFFMAN

MARYLAND
Φ Α

While Hoffman lives just across the District line, he evidently does not believe that "distance lends enchantment," or perhaps he knows a good thing when he sees it, and that may be what brought him to G. W. At any rate, it has been a fifty-fifty split for both him and the University, as his friends can all testify. His good-natured smile will be long remembered, even after he gets his sheepskin.

HELEN HOSFORD

IOWA
Σ Κ

Associate Editor of Cherry Tree, 1921; W. U. C., Treasurer, 1921; Enosinian Society, 1921; Literary Society, 1920; Panhellenic Association, 1919-20; Secretary, 1921; Varsity Basket-Ball, 1919.

When Helen is around you might just as well not try to say anything witty—because you'll be completely eclipsed, anyway. There isn't much that Helen can't do or, in fact, that she hasn't done at some time or other, and the nice part is that she always does everything well and yet is never too busy for her many friends.

In spite of the fact that Jo has given most of her day to the government, she is always to be found in the evening classes of the University. Beside this, only her friends know how often does she "trys" the light fantastic. Still we wonder how she does so much, and that so well, as her dance partners always testify, to say nothing of her professors.

AUBREY EUGENE HUMMER
DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Chemical Society, 1914-15-16.

By being able to enter Columbian College on a University scholarship in 1914, he received a good start. At the end of his first year, he transferred to the College of Engineering, where he was a student until entering the Coast Artillery School at Fortress Monroe, Va., and in 1919 he entered Carnegie Tech, returning to finish at G. Ethel is one of those people who somehow seem to crave variety, and those who have been with her all four years at George Washington know that she has had it. At present her chief interest is centered in tennis, but her time is divided between it and her D. A. R. activities.

WILLIAM JOSEPH JOHNSON

Evelyn is never to be seen without a suit-case, and even though she is not from a moonshining district, her appearance always arouses much interest among the loungers in front of Lisner Hall. While her chief interest is basket-ball, most of her time is spent in listening to Kitty.

FRANCIS MARION JONES

KANSAS

Fairmont College, of Wichita, Kansas, witnessed Francis' start as a seeker of knowledge. Afterwards V. P. I. and Yale were both similarly favored with a short stay, and then following some good example he blew into George Washington with a smile and a good word for every one.

ELEANOR LANE

Women's University Club.

Eleanor comes to us from Lake Erie College, and now that she is here, we wonder how we ever got along without her. We always know that when certain munching sounds come from the rear of the Library that Eleanor is there, and that her friends are being well entertained, or at least well refreshed. We will always continue to wonder how she evades the cops, and yet Lizzie lives on uninjured.

ISADOR LATTMAN

NEW YORK

Ph. G., Columbia University.

You know them—the Lattman twins, the two Socialists who are so much concerned for fear their affiliations will be considered Bolshevik. If you wish to know the fine distinctions of the two (not twins but parties) just appeal to either of the brothers. In reference to their studying medicine, the twins say, with one accord, that they'll probably be surgeons and so finish their patients with knives, if not with drugs.

MORRIS LATTMAN

NEW YORK

Ph. G., Columbian University.

Two heads are better than one, so Isador and Morris are always together. In fact no class is complete with one and not the other. They admit they like all the girls at G. W. and our only hope is that they won't both like the same one. After obtaining Ph. Gs. from Columbia in 1916 and A. Bs. from G. W. they expect to study medicine, and at some future time to return to Russia, the land of their birth, to put their knowledge to practice on their own people.

PERCY WALBOURNE LE DUC

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

A man of few words, but he insists that actions speak louder, anyhow, so we are going to watch the records of time for more of him. We know, too, that we shall not watch in vain, for who would ask for a better combination than a little common sense and good judgment spiced with just the right amount of ambition?

FREDERICK LEWIS LEWTON

MARYLAND

Mr. Lewton began his college career at Drexel Institute, and before coming to G. W. he attended Rallins College in Florida. He admits that a rolling stone may gather no moss, but insists that it takes on a very fine polish.

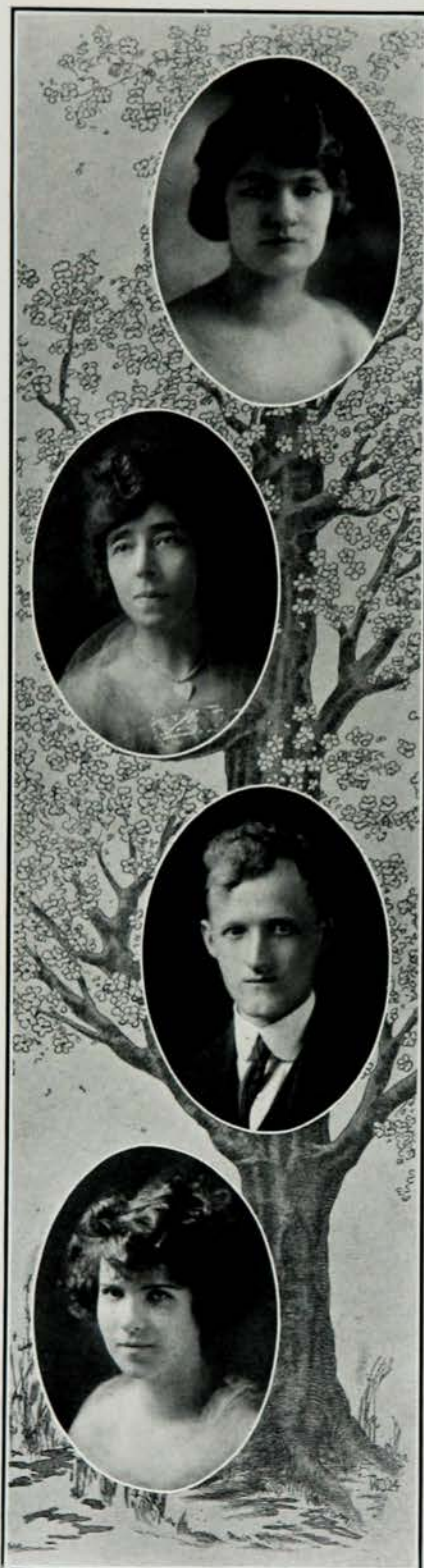

OSCAR HENRY LINDOW

WISCONSIN

Enosinian Society, Vice-President, 1917.

Lindow's greatest ambition is to be of real value to the Literary World. He thinks that if he can't rival Shakespeare, O. Henry will do, and those who know him best say that in the past he has always proved himself the "strong man" and the game is to the strong.

LAURA MADELINE McCLINTOCK

Miss McClintock has divided her time among several institutions, but G. W. U. seems to be the favored one, as it grants her degree. PHILIP W. McKENNA
DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Mark Twain has nothing on McKenna as far as humor goes, but there is one great difference between them, and that is their love for the ladies. The former loved them all, while the latter never has eyes for any—but when he does fall—Oh! how great will be the fall thereof!

CLARA ALLEN MARROW
MARYLAND

Behold, Clara—the girl who thought it was easier to get through Teachers' College, but after a trial came back to us. Clara, with the "I don't-care smile," will ever be remembered, especially in the Library. Nevertheless, any one in the future who graces Wardman Park will surely find Clara in evidence.

MARGARET METZEROTH
DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Sphinx Honor Society; W. U. C., President, 1921; Senior Class Pin Committee.

Margaret is a math and science shark, and you would know it just to look at her, for she, somehow, has that learned look. Men have no appeal for her, except at a distance, and the greater the distance the better. She has shown much interest throughout her university career, as is shown by her list of activities.

ALBERT JOSEPH MOTTERN
OHIO
Σ A E

Chemical Society, Treasurer, 1921.

Mottern feels that all the odds are on his side, and who wouldn't if they came from that state which furnishes so many Presidents? That's all right, though, for he can't begin writing his campaign speeches a bit too early, and if he just hitches his Ford to a star (not a movie star), we know he'll get there.

AXEL NELSON
DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

L. L. B., Washington College of Law; Chemical Society, 1914-15-16.

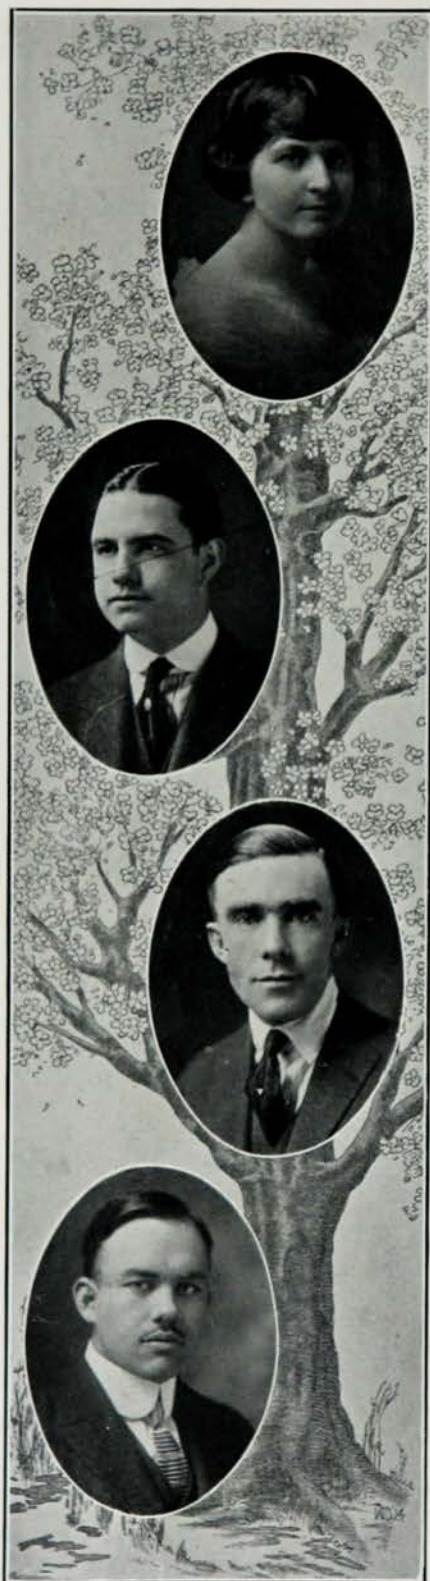

A lawyer and a chemist! Some combination! But a good lawyer must know many things besides law, and Nelson belongs in that class.

HARRY WRIGHT NEWMAN
ALABAMA
Σ N

Senior Marshal; Pyramid Honor Society; Student Council, 1921; Editor of 1921 Cherry Tree; Associate Editor of 1920 Cherry Tree; Chairman of Student Activity Tax; Chairman of Junior Prom, 1920; Vice-President of Junior Class, 1920; The Players, 1920-21; Enosinian Society; Chemical Society.

A true son of the South—a gentleman, a scholar, a ladies' man, a diplomat and politician. How well he has gotten away with it at G. W. U.—just read the list of the elective positions he has held. He is constantly consulted by the younger politicians for advice, which he is always ready to give, somewhat as the "Sage of Monticello." He expects to be American Minister to Spain or the Hedjaz when the Democrats get back in power.

LINN ALBERTA NEWMAN

INDIANA

Θ Α Σ

W. U. C.

Lindy Low is one of those much-to-be-admired people who can sit in a class without ever speaking a word, and yet when it comes to examination she knows it all. While she appears rather quiet, we all know that when anything needs doing she is the one to find. She is to be depended upon in any emergency, and will certainly be missed after graduation.

JAMES FRANCIS NOLAN

NEW JERSEY

Δ Τ Δ

Senior Class Social Committee; Glee Club, 1921.

"Jimmie," after two or three years at Lehigh and Catholic Universities, casts his lot with George Washington as most suitable in which to assume the cap and gown. And we are glad that he did. Has made numberless friends during his one year with us by his genial disposition and his happy smile.

WILLIAM BENEDICT O'CONNELL

SOUTH DAKOTA

Γ Η Γ

LL. B., Georgetown, 1920.

After getting his LL. B. from Georgetown in 1920, he decided to get the corners rounded off at George Washington. While he hails from the prairie state of the Indians, he brings none of their characteristics with him, for he is a notably good mixer and an all-round good fellow.

EARL L. PACKER

IOWA

If you didn't know him you wouldn't think he had been all through Russian and speaks it like a Bolshevik. In addition to being a good student he assists the State Department in functioning during daylight hours. Expects to be an Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary some day.

MARIE ANTOINETTE PAZOUR
SOUTH DAKOTA

Varsity Basket-Ball, 1920; W. U. C.

Marie brings with her a dash of Western breeziness. If you have ever heard her tell of her experiences upon arriving in Washington, you will know that nothing but an abundance of real pep would have brought her out a conquering heroine. We fear that the call of the wild will be too great to keep her here after graduation.

REBECCA PEARLMAN
DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Rebecca's source of knowledge at examination time will never cease to be a cause of wonder to her fellow-students, and has undoubtedly been a source of great satisfaction to her professors. Never was she found wanting, when it came to a display of information on anything from the "Bionomial Theory" to the "Song of the Shirt."

WILLIAM WALTER PETERSON
IOWA
Φ K Ψ

Wandering Greeks.

Nature was kind to Iowa and did give her the wealth of the Indies, the beauties of the Orient, and "Pete" with his "bless-you" smile. A cornucopia of golden good nature, and silver seriousness when necessary. As a warrior each shoulder bearing a silver bar, no more handsome knight e'er walked before. With "wimmin" he bears well the Scottish appellation of William "the Lion."

RUTH SUTHERLAND PHILLIPS

Spanish Club, Social Committee; Enosinian Society, 1921; Glee Club; W. U. C.

Ruth is known throughout the University for her versatility in languages. She has given her services in translating to the Bolivian, Argentine, and Swiss embassies. Her gift in writing will not be forgotten by those who have read her poems. With all this, Ruth was known to be on time at class only once—and then the professor did not show up.

OLIVE PRESCOTT

ILLINOIS

Senior Class and Historian; Basket-Ball, 1921; Architectural Club, 1920-21; Girls' Glee Club; Junior Prom Committee, 1920; The Players, 1921.

Olive has become so actively identified with so many different student activities that she finds herself with six different meetings to attend at the same hour, not to mention man-dates. She is a consistent worker at everything she undertakes.

THOMAS F. PROBEY

A native of the National Capital, which so rarely can be found in Washington. Tom has completed his college course with honor to himself and credit to the city which he claims as home.

JAMES BYRNE RANCK

During his college career he has impressed all who have known him by his honesty, industry, and seriousness of purpose. Surely a position of responsibility and honor must await Ranck somewhere.

GEORGE REEVES

VIRGINIA
Σ Φ Ε

George had the exceptional advantage of touring the Orient during his university career, and is further noted as being the brother of Ruth. He is of the wise opinion, however, that a fellow must keep his sister happy, because one sees so much of a sister (either his own or some other fellow's).

OTTO A. SCHLOBOHM

NEW YORK
Κ Δ Ρ

LL. M., Georgetown University.

In addition to keeping up a law practice, reporting supreme court decisions and contributing to a number of publications, he wastes the other two-thirds of his time around the Press Club. This is not counting knocking out enough credits to complete his work for an A. B. at George Washington and knocking "Doc" Hill cold whenever he is questioned in "Poly Sigh."

EARLE CLIFFORD SHEA

SOUTH DAKOTA
Θ Δ Χ

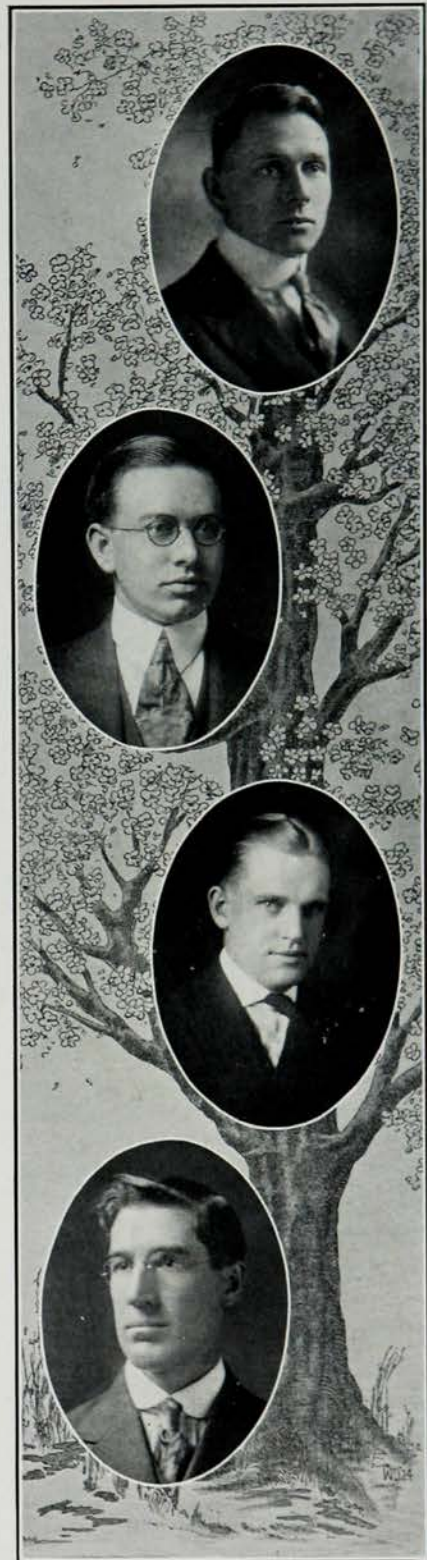

President, Senior Class; Chairman, Centennial Banquet.

"Pick" has a subtle line with the ladies, ask any Pi-Phi. After breaking all the hearts in the Black Hills, Urbana, Ill., London, and other places on the continent, he came to G. W. seeking new worlds to conquer. How well he has succeeded, the sights around the campus with not more than three on each arm will speak for themselves.

EDGAR LEE SHEFFIELD

IDAHO

Here is a man who does and dares! He frankly admits that he would much prefer to see a good baseball game than to listen to a professor's thoughts on any scientific problem. He attended the State Normal School at Lewiston, Idaho, before coming to Washington, and was a member of the G. W. U. Law School last year. His friends all feel that the top of the ladder will never be too high for him.

GEORGE SHISLER

OHIO
Δ T

Chairman of Publicity Committee, Senior Class; Masonic Club.

George came to us in our Junior year, another valuable addition from another college. By his hard work has earned a crown of glory, etc. A genial, good fellow. To like him you have but to know him.

MARGARET MARY SMITH

MARYLAND
Coalition

Sergeant-at-Arms, Senior Class; Junior Prom Committee, 1920; The Players, 1920; Glee Club, 1918.

Never have we known any one with more enthusiasm than Margaret has exhibited. She is one of those unusual people who can talk on indefinitely without even an apparent stop for breath. Her zeal to make class affairs a success was shown by her interest in Junior Week, and this is not lost sight of in her last year, of which her organizing ability is proof.

GEORGE BAILLIE SPRINGSTON

ILLINOIS
K Σ

Varsity Football; Varsity Basket-Ball, 1921; Baseball; G. W. Club.

After knocking them cold at the University of Illinois for three years, Baillie came to us in his Senior year and has divided his time between athletics and the co-eds. Is a good, all-round fellow, even if his knowledge of the fundamentals of "Poly Sigh" is lacking at times.

MARJORIE SHAW STUART

Vice-President of Sophomore Medical Class; W. U. C.

Marjorie is one girl in a thousand, one who dares to aspire to become an M. D. Although this appears startling at the first glance, still she is by no means an advocate of all work and no play. With her ability to perform real conscientious work, when it is necessary, and her unfailingly cheerful disposition, the members of the Sophomore Medical Class and we, her classmates, look forward to her success in the practice of medicine.

Kitty is an authority and a strong one on almost any question. For instance, if you feel in need of any information regarding the Philippines just refer to her. If you are in doubt about the Irish Question, and think you can stand an emphatic and concise example of free oratory, just open fire—and we can guarantee you'll get your money's worth, though it depends a little on how you value your money.

ETHEL MARIE VAN NESS

NEW JERSEY

W. U. C.

Ethel Marie came to George Washington from Beaver College, where she was as well liked as she is here. Her work, too, has been a source of gratification to both instructors and friends for who does not enjoy having learned friends so that one may bask in the light of their superior erudition.

SHERWOOD P. VAN WATERS

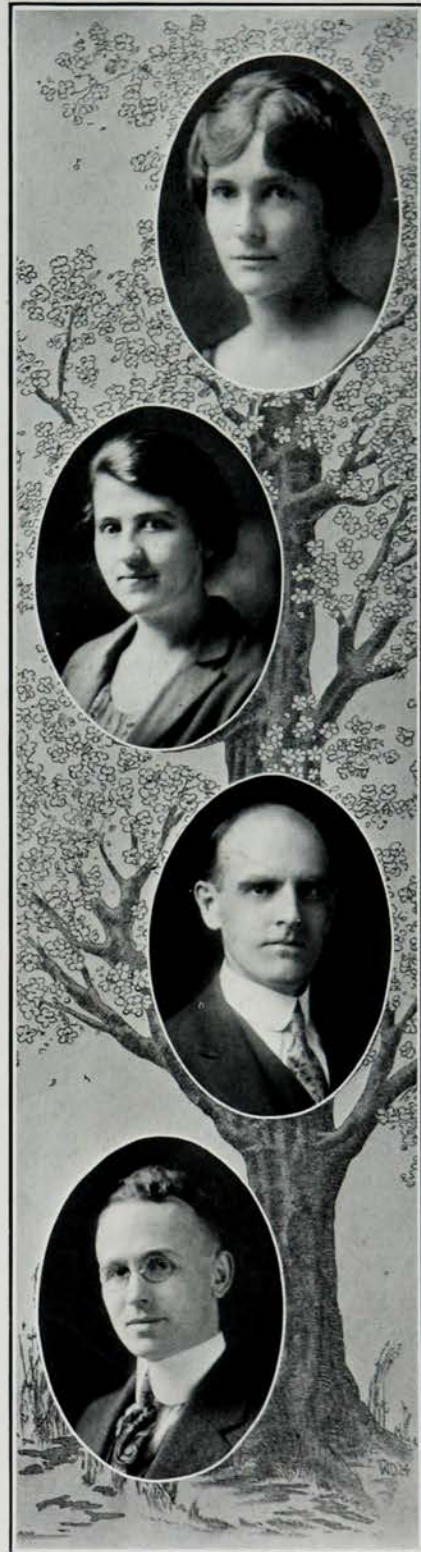

NEW YORK

Van hails from the Empire State, the land of millionaires and politicians. Imbued with a desire to get an education he came to George Washington, where it may be truthfully said that he has realized that ambition.

ANDREW M. VLIET

INDIANA

The Hoosier State has furnished us more poets than has any other and we feel that Andy is undoubtedly inspired having come from such an environment. His manners have been the delight of all who have had the pleasure of observing them, and many are those attempting to follow in his footsteps. He came to G. W. from Indiana University.

KATHRYN WAITS

Kathryn, after spending three years at Randolph-Macon, came gently among our midst like the perfume of mignonette from "Old Corinth." She has captivated almost every masculine heart in the university, as well as won the admiration of the co-eds. She dashingly appears one day with a Kappa-Sig pin and then the next a Sigma-Nu. Oh, Woman! Woman!

Lella is always to be found in either the Library, the front hall, or the Rabbit Hole. This makes us wonder when she finds time to attend classes. But perhaps she is living on her reputation, which she made many, many years ago, when she was chosen to reply to the Freshmen welcome—way back in '17.

MILO R. WHITE

INDIANA

Masonic Club, C. C., Vice-President, 1921.

Milo is a quiet, unassuming sort of a fellow in a crowd, but the girls say "when you get him alone you'd be surprised." Is studying to be the world's greatest surgeon, he says. Favorite hymn: "When I get you alone to-night."

You can't find anything around school that Russ hasn't been connected with, not excepting wine, wimmin, and the Student Council. Managed the first football team since the resurrection and got away with it. A wearer of the G. W., and proud of it.

JOSEPH COPE WIMMER

It can be said that Joe holds some of the sober ideals that the fathers of his great comomnwealth did. He is a man of a few words, but at any rate friend "Wimmer" is a winner.

WALTER F. AMAN
MARYLAND

A short man of lusty stride, which some say he acquired while hiking last summer with the Geodetic Survey, while others insist that it was developed by walking in to school from Mt. Rainier because the cars were so slow. Well-known among us as the "Little Professor," he announces his intention of resigning his professorship in June. The height of his ambition being considerably above that of his wavy locks, he professes the intention of advising politics and Government Departments.

JOHN B. BRADY
MARYLAND

Secretary, Engineering Seniors; Secretary, Engineering Society, 1920.

John leaves this year with a degree in Electrical Engineering and intends to enter the Law School for a course in Patent Law. He is specializing in Radio Engineering, and has been a hard worker ever since he entered George Washington.

"Bev." is known and liked by every one who comes in contact with the chemistry laboratory. He has been unusually active in college activities, and has managed to make good marks in the bargain. He receives a degree in chemistry and intends to spend a year or so in Europe to perfect himself in the science. We are confident that wherever his travels may lead him he will at all times be a credit to G. W. U.

WALTER CARL FEDDE

Fedde is one of the chemists and may be found almost any time in the Organic Laboratory hard at work producing some new compound. He is an energetic worker and is liked by every one.

JOHN MAHONEY

FRANK HENRY MARKS

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Engineering Society, 1918; Chemical Society, 1918-21; Masonic Club, 1921.

We are glad to say that Frank will be with us this year, despite his unfortunate accident at the Research Laboratory. He is a member of the corps of chemists engaged in research work with explosive on Eye Street, and has done splendid work throughout his whole college course.

SPENCER BARRETT MICHAEL

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Vice-President, Senior Engineers; E. E. Vice-President, Engineering Society; Engineering Society, 1915-16-17-19-20-21.

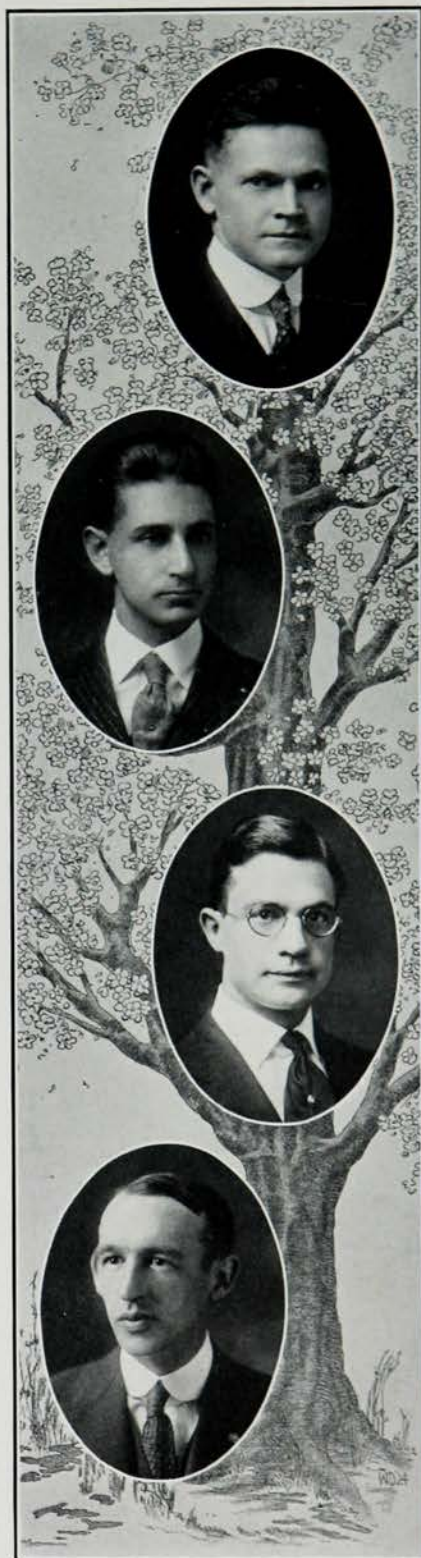

"Mike" is the "Star" of the Thermodynamics class. He knows all about B. T. U.s, and it is rumored that he can draw a complete steam power plant in his sleep. His accomplishments are so numerous that space will not permit of our discussing them here, so it must needs suffice to say that we are proud he is graduating from G. W. U., and we are sure that success will follow him through life as it has through his college days.

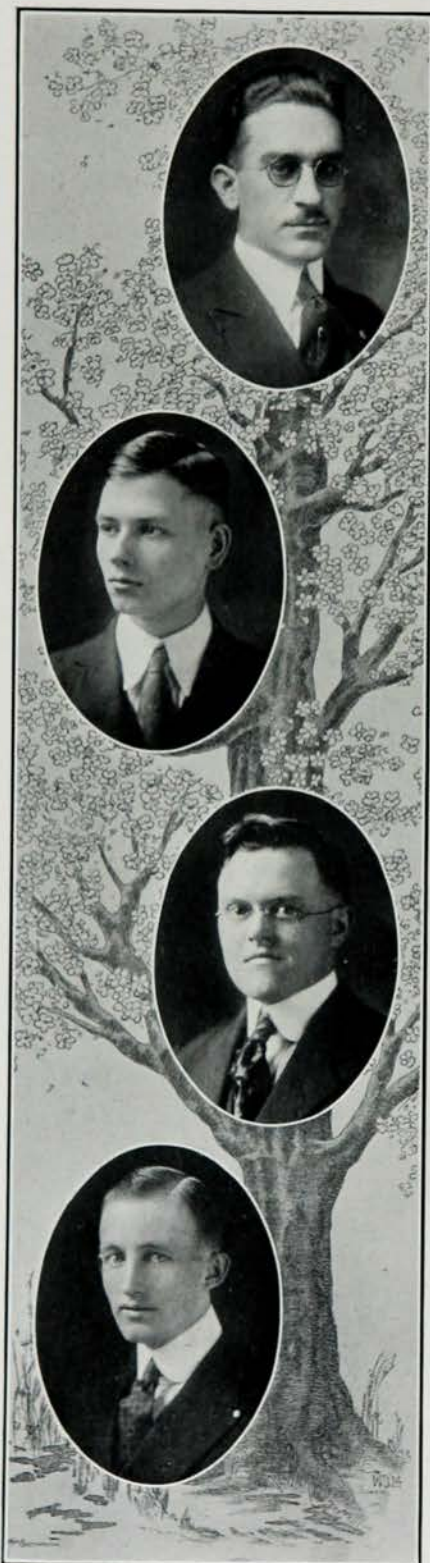

ALBERT AUSTIN RILEY

Harold is an electrical engineer and his hobby is radio. He can tell you all about ohms, volts, detectors, tuning coils and the many other mysterious things connected with wireless telegraphy. He is a "star" in applied mechanics class, where he always writes his name on the board in pink chalk, and proceeds to get the answer before any of the rest of us. We predict a promising future and wish him the best of luck.

Hats off to the mother, to you who in our class can alone claim the distinction. We salute you! Home, school, and college fail to pin our Beatrice down, for rise she will to new worlds to conquer with her smile.

MARGARET BYRD BELL
TEXAS

Lady Byrd hails from the cattle ranches of far-away Texas. She is always ready for work or play, and is an all-round good friend. At Sociology she stars, and now that she has learned all that G. W. teaches, she goes seeking more knowledge from life's school of experience. We all wish her well.

W. U. C.

Margaret came to do her bit, and being so capable she remained on sorting mail for Uncle Sam. In spare moments she invades G. HAZEL H. FEAGANS
INDIANA

Here's to fair "Hay," who is ever so gay. Her friendly ways and sunny disposition have made her dear to us, and we wish to say, ere she leaves us, "Good-bye and Good Luck."

IDA CARRIE HELEN GAARDER

Ida is a product of the corn belt. Early realizing the advantages of a few years' sojourn in her nation's capital she cast her lot to rise or fall with the Class of '21. Gallaudet claims her time, but she always pries loose long enough to lighten the load and cheer some one on his way. Little deeds of kindness make her friend indeed, and may we all be as generously minded as she.

RUFUS SOL GARDNER
VIRGINIA

Although Rufus did not go out for athletics, he is no dark light in the classroom. He is kind-hearted and true, and although he does not know what he is going to do, it must be remembered that he was "riz" in Virginia, whence come presidents and other lights.

A daughter from the Blue Grass State, who has brought to G. W. U. sweet dignity that we have learned to admire, although she has been with us only one year, having spent her early college days at the University of Indiana.

HARRIET LENORE MURRAY
PENNSYLVANIA

College Women's Club.

Harriet, with her smiling face, is one of the prizes of our class. Her happy disposition has gone a long way toward making our road to knowledge seem less rough and thorny. "I fill this cup to one made up of loveliness alone."

IVADEL ELSIE NEWLOVE
NORTH DAKOTA

Spanish Club, 1921; Columbian Women; Glee Club, 1919; W. U. C.

In Ivadel we have an aristocratic and haughty school-marm, who every day doles out fragments of knowledge and understanding, first to her respecting pupils, and then to her numerous friends at G. W. We confidently expect that very shortly after her graduation the whole universe will be startled by her contributions to the field of pedagogy and so we wish for her every possible success.

MERLE WHITE NEWLOVE

Columbian Women; W. U. C.

Cupid and the Capital City lured curly-haired Merle from the cornfields of Illinois. Although she transferred in her Junior year to G. W., her alluring personality triumphed. She came, she smiled, she conquered. "Forbear to judge, for we be sinners all."

HERBERT BARKER NICHOLS

Φ Σ

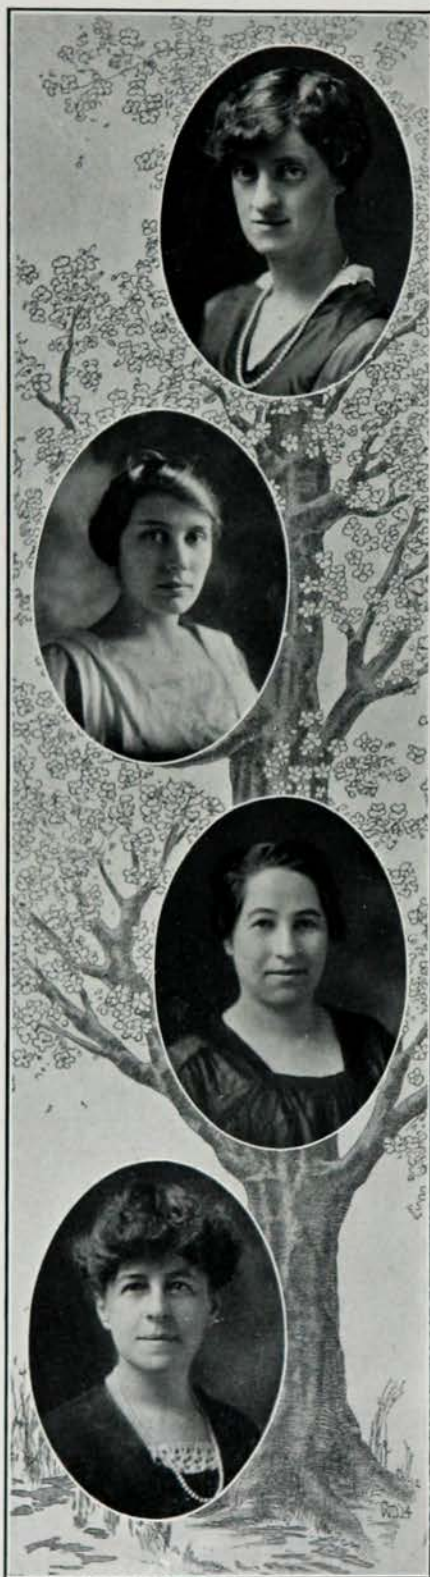

Girls' Glee Club, 1921; Basket-Ball; Columbian Debating, 1920-21; Junior Week Committee, 1920; Women's Legal Club, 1919-20-21.

Billy's life at G. W. U. has been one romance after another. It began one evening at a fraternity dance and continued throughout her law course, specially in contracts based on "Love and Affection" and in domestic relations with Harry Perlin as the innocent victim. The climax was raised when shortly before the Junior Prom, '20, Billy and Harry took a little trip, keeping the purpose dark until this year. If her work at A. & S. is as good as her law, there is no doubt of her excellence as a home-builder.

MATTIE JANE POINDEXTER
KENTUCKY

Mattie lives the creed—a thing worth doing at all is worth doing well. The best she demands from all (Edmonston included). Oh, for a world of Matties! Success will always camp on her trail and her classmates wish her well.

BERNICE RANDALL
DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

President of Senior Class; Teachers' College.

G. W. U. can surely teach an old dog new tricks. Bernice pounds out tons of knowledge every day at Wilson Normal, and then comes down to us for more to impose upon her innocent victims. We often wonder how she does it, but she does.

RUTH ELIZABETH REEVES
VIRGINIA

Sphinx Honor Society; Basket-Ball, Assistant Manager, 1919-20; Manager, 1920-21; Secretary of W. U. C., 1921; Swimming, 1920.

Looking wise is half of it, and Ruth surely looks her half; and beside that she has learned the value of a front-row reputation. All together she has made her mark in the university for her efficiency, both among professors and students.

ANNE TILLERY RENSHAW
NORTH CAROLINA

Versatile perhaps best characterizes her, for already she has proved herself a reader of marked ability, a poet whose verse rings with the fragrance of the south-land, and a business woman with a keen sense of bargaining, especially if a Ford be concerned—and if all reports be true, Henry the 8th will make his debut this summer. Her hobbies are Fords, cats, and a generous supply of nicknames for her friends. Humorous, full of friendly interest, a whole-hearted nature, and with a fine sense of duty and loyalty—these make one glad to call her friend.

MARY ESTELLE ROSE
DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Secretary-Treasurer, Senior Class; Teachers' College.

Class officer, we greet you! A girl of many talents and a perfect jewel of usefulness. If you want a thing done well and on time, delegate it to Mary Rose.

LILLIAN WARFIELD SAGE

MARYLAND

Ambition should really be Lillian's middle name. She wields the rod over Rockville's kiddies and then, rain, sleet, or shine, she greets the co-eds with a smile ready to solve all knotty problems at the behest of all her Profs.

LILLIAN STALLINGS

In the wake of fair Lillian follows a stir of excitement, mystery and fun. Her mischievous ways soon made her victims dub her Billy. May she, like Aunt Minerva's nephew, keep the world appreciating harmless fun. We predict that she will always brighten the corner wherever she may be.

ELIZABETH STEWART

VIRGINIA

College education has had a two-fold meaning for our Bess. Book knowledge comes easy to her but traction schedules and break-downs cause even the optimistic Bess to groan. Old Virginny has another daughter to be proud of for punctuality, scholarship, and good-fellowship—the outstanding characteristics of our Virginia lass.

MARIE ADA THOMPSON

W. U. C.

The call to arms brought to G. W. "Missip." Her Southwestern drawl and pep soon made itself felt in all circles. In February, though, she stole a march on us, plucked her diploma from the hands of Prexy and hastened westward. Oh, sly one, methinks the curfew must toll the knell of Wedding Day. Best wishes always.

CATHERINE TONGE

Sergeant-at-Arms, Senior Class.

Alpert is the smallest member of the class, but his voice is ever lifted in its councils. He is one of the well-known "Hepatic Trinity," the exclusive membership of which is: Alpert, Renner, and Dunsky. His nickname is "Mendrill," which is a Yiddish term having something to do with the Darwinian Theory. He came to us from Long Island, and expects to practice in New York. His favorite pastime is arguing with Slutsky and voting "no."

RICHMOND JAMES BECK
WISCONSIN
Φ X

Cherry Tree Staff, 1921; Chairman of Biography Committee of Senior Medical Class; Treasurer of Pre-Med Class, 1916; M. R. C. Army.

As a finished product, G. W. U. claims sole responsibility for "Beck," for here he had his pre-med work in the science department and here he chose to work out his M. D. As an entertainer Beck has no rival, on many occasions he has raised morale, in fact he has been the "life of the party." It is rumored that this member, having taken the District Board, will thereupon perfect himself in the field of neuropsychiatry. We are all confident of his success.

WILBUR LORENZO BOWEN
VIRGINIA
Φ X

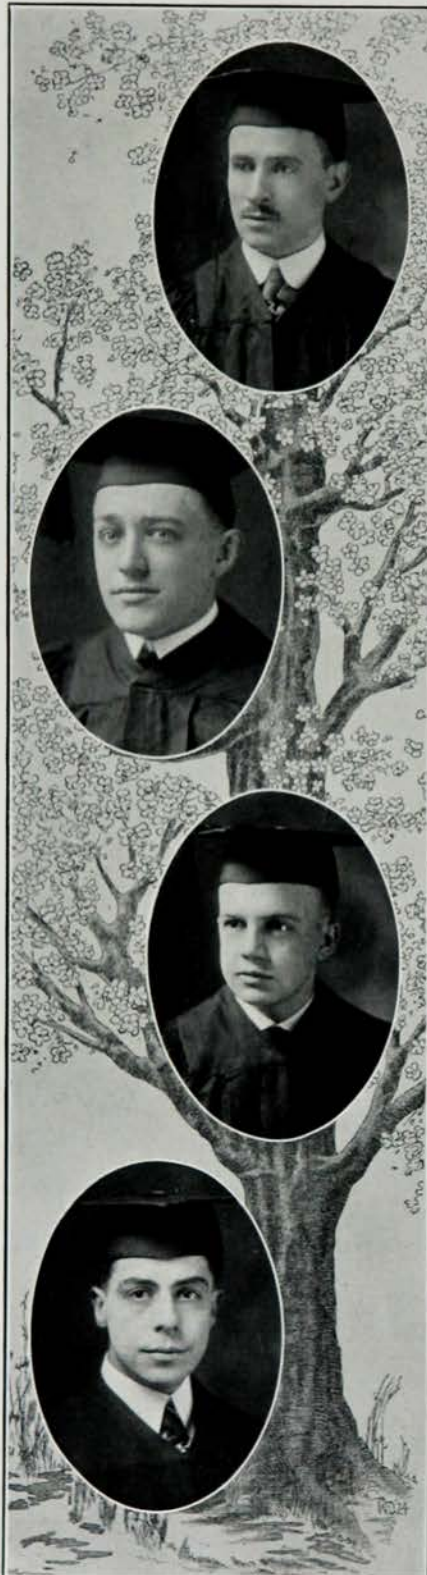

"Wilbuh" had his pre-medical training and all his work in medicine at George Washington. He has developed among us, and we all honor and respect him for the qualities of which Virginia aristocracy has ever been justly proud. A hard worker, a good student, and a faithful, he expects to practice in Washington, and we know he will succeed.

"And thus he bore without abuse the grand old name of gentleman."—Tennyson.

ALFREDO MARIO BRENES
COSTA RICA

A. B., Lyceum of Costa Rica.

Alfredo is a good student and a thoroughly likeable fellow. He is ever the first to congratulate an associate on a success and likewise the first to sympathize with him in sorrow or misfortune. Further, he is courtesy itself. He expects to practice in Costa Rica, and we wish him the success we know will be his.

HERMAN RAWSON CASTRO

COSTA RICA

A K K

B. S., Liceo of Costa Rica.

Herman is also a product of sunny Costa Rica, brought hence by the fame of G. W. U., and he believes thoroughly in the school. Everybody likes Herman, for he is handsome, congenial and a real student. We know that Dr. Castro's patients will all be charmed by that winning smile and those sparkling eyes. He hopes to be a Psychiatrist some day, and we predict for him a wonderful future.

CHRISTOS J. DEMOPOULOS

GREECE

A. B., G. W. U.

"Charlie," as he is familiarly known, has been a busy man during his seven years of struggle with the language and for two degrees. Aside from his school work he has had the responsibility of directing the interests of a chain of lunch rooms. He is a success as a business man, and we believe his persistence will procure deserved success in his chosen profession.

FRANK DUNSKY

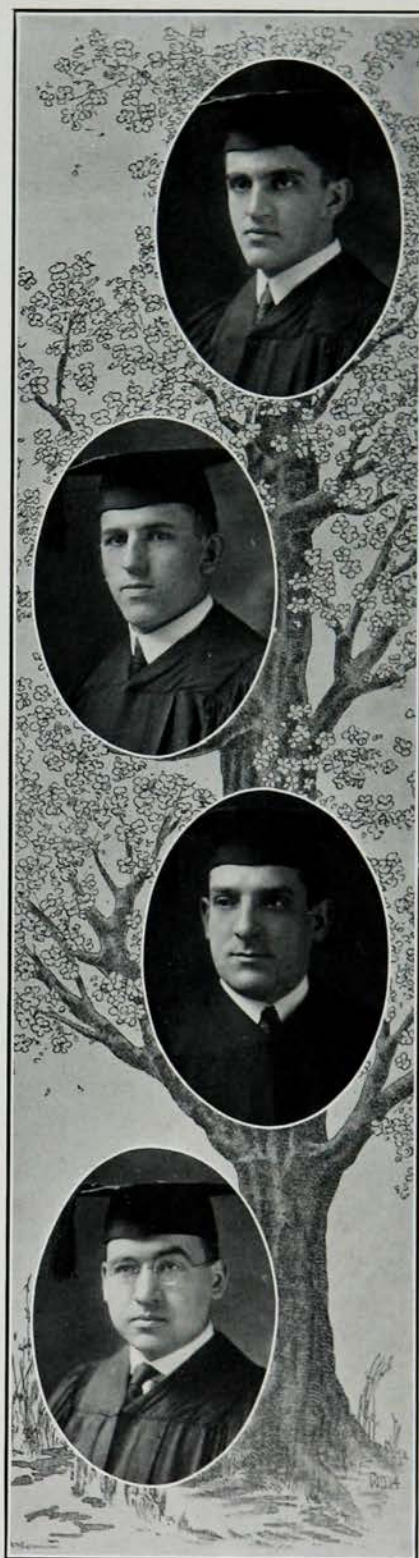

NEW YORK

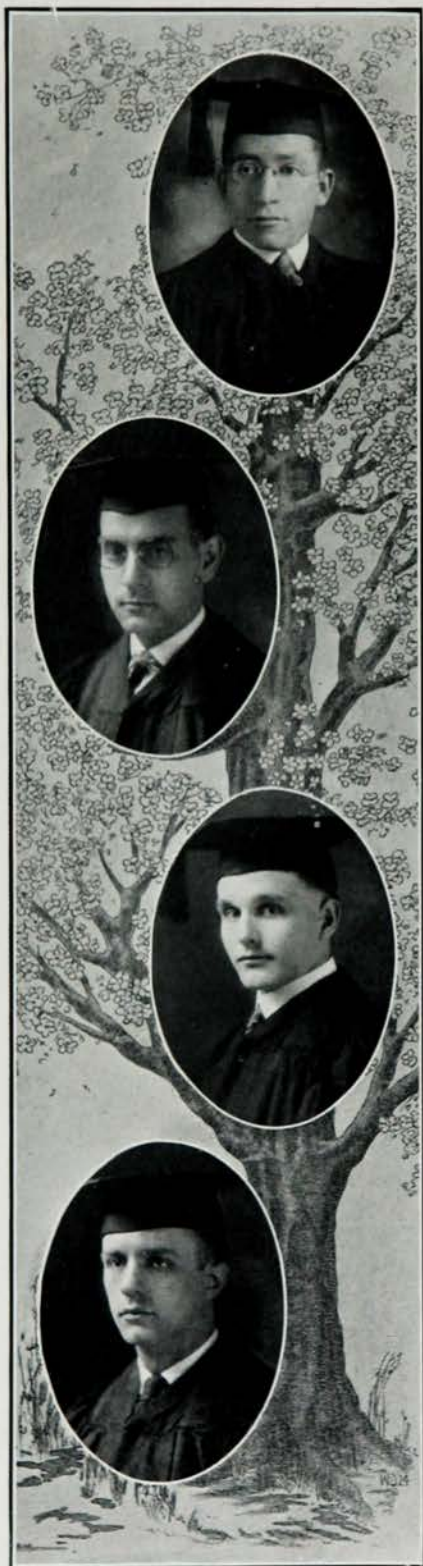

"Goofer," as he is known to his intimates, is the second member of the "Hepatic Trinity." He is a man of sorrows and has come to believe in the wisdom of the old saying that "Man is of few days and full of trouble," for when he is not worrying over the troubles of the future he is holding a "wake" over the dead past and its disappointments just to keep in trim. Anyway, if being concerned over the successes of life will bring success, Dunskey will surely be successful.

WALTER GEORGE EISINGER

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

"Pop" has kept us laughing for four years with his quaint, droll and humorous conclusions on people and things. He is as unexpected as a fifth ace in a poker deck, and is the surest thing we know of as a destroyer of Burt Glenn's kingly and imposing dignity. He could throw Burt into laughter at a funeral. And as a student—if the text-books say anything about it or any one has lectured on it, "Pop" won't draw a zero. The "Pop" isn't age—it's effervescence.

NATHAN JOSHUA EPSTEIN

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

"Eppie" is another of that number who have worked to attain success. Against such enemies as a financial low tide, a new language, vocal impediments, and scholastic disappointments he has emerged victorious. He has in truth "Feared not to work up from the lowest ranks whence come great nature's captains." Respecting him also as a man who keeps his word, we wish him all the reward his characteristics deserve.

AUBREY DAVID FISCHER

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Vice-President, Junior Class, 1920; Masonic Club, 1919-20.

Aubrey and Burt Glenn are the 20th Century Damon and Pythias, as inseparable as finger and thumb. The most striking thing to us about Aubrey is the consistency with which he accomplishes the wise use of leisure. Williams, Burt, and Aubrey in a deserted corner of Hall I are a frequent lunch-hour group. He is a conscientious worker, a successful suitor (yep! he's engaged to her!), and a real friend.

FREDERICK ARNOLD FRANKE

UTAH

Θ Σ, Α Κ Κ

B. S., University of Utah; President, Senior Class, 1921.

"Fritz" has all the characteristics of a true Westerner for he is loquacious, confident, and altogether a "sure-fire" sort of person. He is studious, energetic, and always ready to help a comrade in any way he can. Although he had only entered G. W. at the beginning of the third year, he was easily elected President of the Senior Class.

JOSEPH BURTON GLENN

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

K Α, Φ Χ

President, Junior Class, 1920.

"Burt" is a most imposing person—tall, handsome, well-groomed. He might be an advertisement for Arrow Collars, but he isn't—he is a real man and a student. He has an honest-to-John "hundred" in a Major third-year subject on his record, which is, we would say, a lot rarer than a day in June. Also he is a real sleuth of heart murmurs—when they are presystolic as well as systolic, Burt knows it.

RAY FREDERICK GUYNN

VIRGINIA

A K K

Secretary, Sophomore Class, 1919; Treasurer, Junior Class, 1920.

"Papa" Guynn is easily the most conspicuous contradiction of the saying "nobody loves a fat man." In fact, the popularity of this man is so great with the ladies that he is a dangerous contender for the Silver Loving Cup in that department. He is really a worker, student, and a true friend of matchless worth. As a politician he is a gem of the purest ray serene. The only thing we know against Ray is that he is suspected of being the man who voted for Cox in the last election.

MAURICE H. HERZMARK

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Φ A

President, Sophomore Class, 1919.

"Herzie" is a consistent performer—he gets "tens," and he can answer Dr. Lawson's questions right off—pouf!—like that. Right the first time. A good student, a dependable interne, a good fellow, and accurate even to the smallest detail in a story. And he can play the piano, and does.

IRA JAY HOPKINS

UTAH

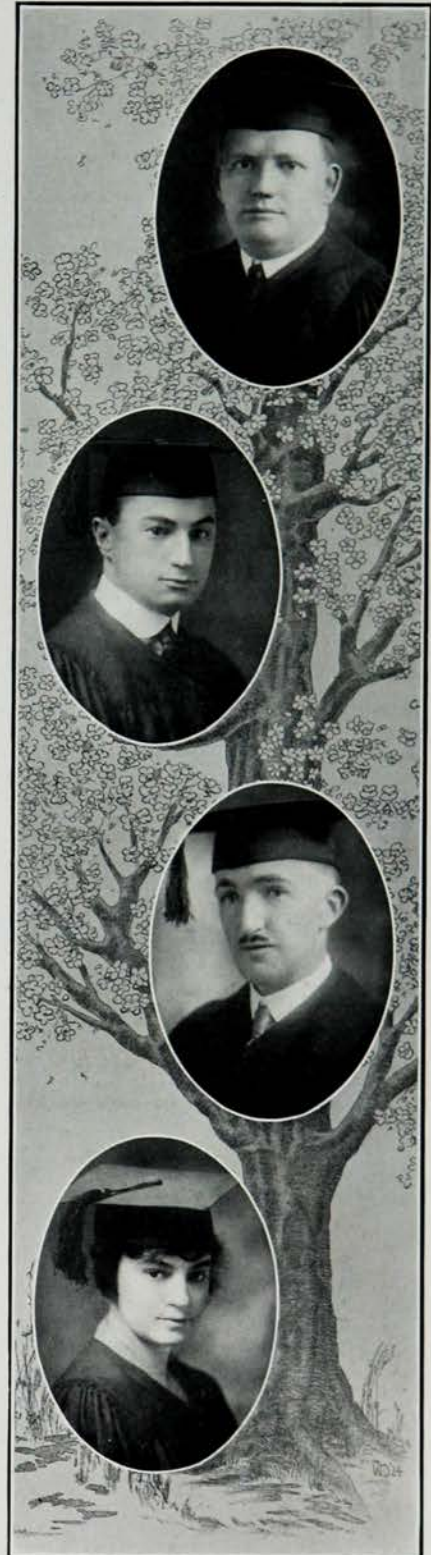

Φ Δ Θ, Φ X

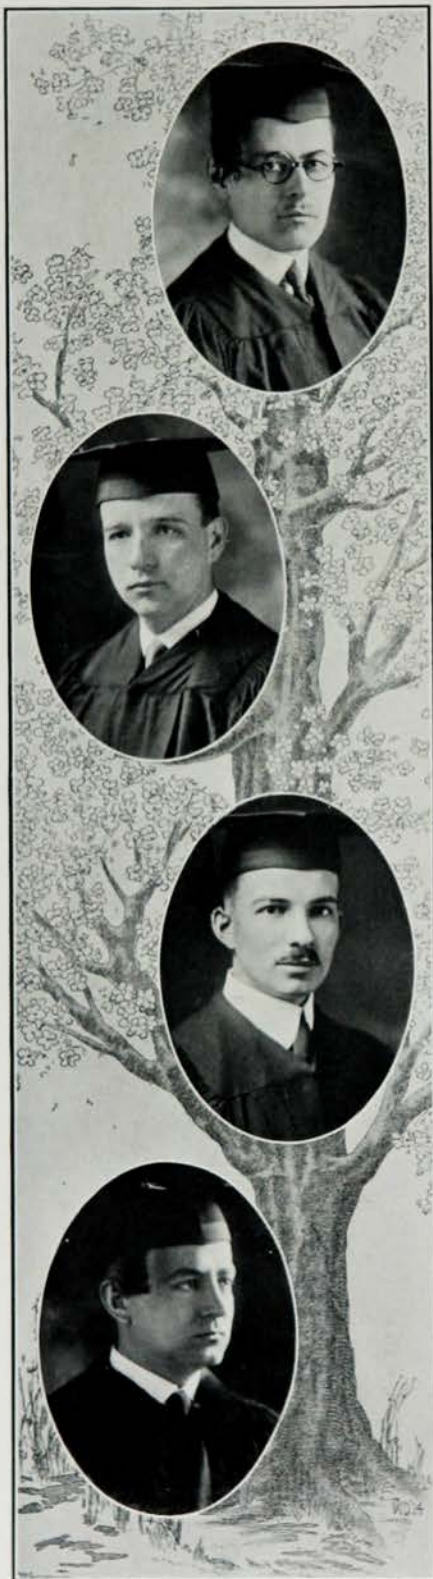

"Hop," as he is known far and wide, is a good student, a politician in his home state, an ardent Republican, and a really and trully honest-to-goodness papa. Even "we" know that at present writing little Theodore Reed Hopkins has two incisors and another showing through, etc. "Hop" is a financial wizard, and he is sure to succeed.

REGINA COOK JOHNSON

MARYLAND

This is our one claim to greatness, that Mrs. Johnson (yes, she's married) will graduate with distinction. She raises us thus above dull mediocrity. Her average is so high, both here and with the Maryland State Board, that it gets dizzy. She is easy to look at and so restful to the eye that we had hoped she would be an ophthalmologist, but has chosen gynecology. She is a very wonderful person, and it has been a privilege to know her.

HAROLD FOER MACHLAN

WISCONSIN

A K K

Student Council, 1921; Chairman, Junior Dance Committee, 1920; Freshman Prom Committee, 1917.

"Mac," the Globe Trotter of our class, has gathered his education in many countries any many climes. He speaks of Australia, even, as one who knows whereof he speaks. A ready wit and the quality of leadership are the outstanding features of his personality, and his activities are as numerous as his friends, and they are many.

RICARDO MARCHENA

COSTA RICA

Ricardo is a twin sphinx to Cadilla. When Fontenelle wrote that he should leave the world without a regret because it contained not one good listener, we are sure he could never have known that our class would come to be known or that this pair would be among us. They are nobles of the great Empire of Silence. Marchena answers up well in class and gives a general impression of being remarkably well posted.

CLEMENT RUCHANON MASSON

NEW YORK

Φ X

Masson is the one and only thing of his kind we know of. A hard worker and an eager student—he is tower of strength to his associates in those feverish, hurried last-minute reviews which precede and examination or a quiz that is awfully important. He can always think of the things the others have missed and he always knows the answer to his own and the professor's questions. He can't Fail!!

LYLE JORDAN MILLAN

VIRGINIA

Φ X

"Lyle" is from Rappahanock County, Virginia, and is an aristocrat—F. F. V.—and a prince of a chap. His favorite pastime is adding the lectures of a minor course to his "repertoire."

His years are young, but his experience old;
His head unmellowed, but his judgment ripe.

—Shakespeare.

MORRIS J. RENNER
NEW YORK

"Gorilla"—the third and last of the Hepatic Trinity—is a real virtuoso with the violin and can ascend to realms unknown in the throes of his music. He is temperamental to his finger-tips. At times his ethereal environment makes it a little difficult for him to locate the aorta or to remember what cancellous bone is, but on the whole he does creditable work. Since coming among us he is a changed and improved man. (He is good enough to tell us so.)

CHARLES HAMILTON SCHULTZ
PENNSYLVANIA
N Σ N

Secretary, Senior Class.

"Charlie" is our idea of what a future professional man of dignity and power should look like during his student life. He is quietly secure in appearance and scholarship, and has that understanding, sympathetic nature, something about him that one associates somehow with a physician and the medical atmosphere. He is secretary of the Senior Class, and is Guynn's great rival in the popularity campaign for the cup we spoke of in reference to him.

JOSEPH SESTA
NEW YORK

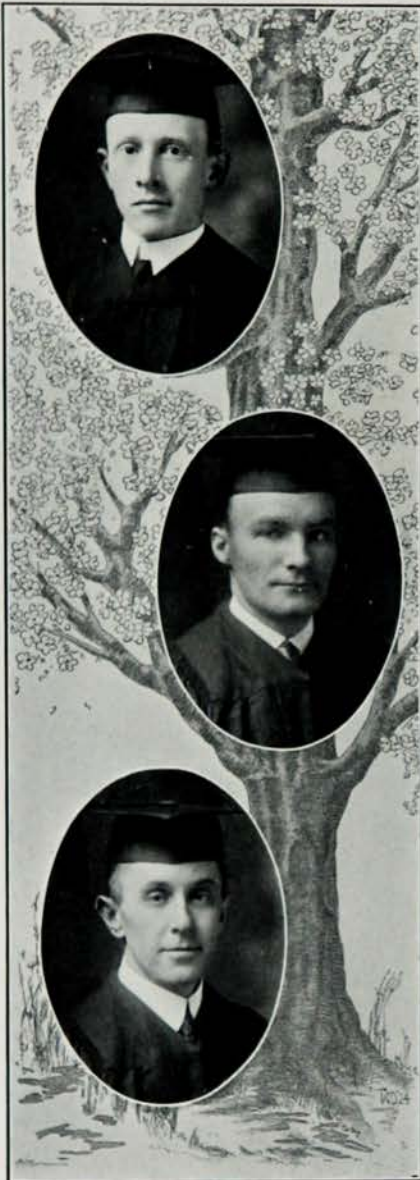

"Joe" is large of heart and of stature. His great difficulty is getting to his clinics on time, but when examination time rolls around his ability to absorb a tremendous lot of wisdom is the striking thing about him. As an athlete, Joe is probably unparalleled in the class, and that means in the Medical School.

BENJAMIN LLOYD SLUTSKY
CONNECTICUT

Sergeant-at-Arms, Junior, Sophomore, Freshman Classes; Treasurer, Senior Class; Masonic Club.

Ben is the youngest member of the class, but he is also one of the most gifted physically and mentally. Under the stimulus of misfortune and bereavement the very best in Slutsky as to character and seriousness of purpose have come to the fore in a manner not to be denied. He has the keen mental acuity of his race and a subtle humor which should make him a power in any community in which he elects to practice.

SIDNEY GAYLORD SONNELAND

NEBRASKA

Σ X

B. Sc. Valparaiso University.

Besides Valpo, Sid has attended the University of Nebraska. Artist of no mean ability his work has contributed to the success of year books in each university he has attended. Gentleman and high-grade student, "Sunnyland" will avowedly succeed in the field of medicine.

LYMAN BROOKE TIBBETS

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

A K K

Doctor of Pharmacy, G. W. U.

"Tibo" is a regular fellow, and one whom we believe will make a regular Doctor. He is a hard worker, a fine student, and has a couple of years of faithful service as an interne at Sibly Hospital to his credit. Surgery is his forte, and his admirers believe that some day he will be great in this, his chosen specialty.

FREDERICK YATES WILLIAMSON

Vice-President, Senior Class, 1921; Vice-President, Freshman Class, 1917.

"Billy," as he is affectionately known to the entire class, has a host of friends. He is quietly efficient, a good interne, and an ever-present help in time of need. His soft, Southern accent and the 'cigar which seems to be an integral part of all North Carolinians are well known to those about G. W. U.

FAUSTINO BARTOLOME ACOSTA
PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

We might name him "Faust" for short, and his moot court partner, "Marguerite." Acosta (we really do call him by the shortest one) is ambitious to become a statesman. He has done literary work, his favorite theme being "The Ideal Woman." He searches the law school for material, but as the "ideal" must not know anything about suffrage, he found only a limited field for study. Such versatility insures him success in the field of diplomacy.

HARRIET M. BARBOUR
OREGON
Φ Δ Δ

Women's Legal Club, President, 1920; Columbian Debating Society, Treasurer, 1918; Secretary, 1917.

Harriet entered the Law School in 1917, and was admitted to the bar of the District of Columbia this year. She is a modest violet, and while she may surprise us by opening a law office some day, Hattie's present plan is to remain at work in the government, where her legal knowledge will surely increase her value to her Uncle Sam. While otherwise, she is quite a sensible person. She has a weakness for "pink teas."

CHARLES MAURICE BARNES
VIRGINIA

A. B., G. W. U.

Charles Maurice was born in Virginia on St. Valentine's Day. Years ago he attended Washington and Lee, but received his A. B. from G. W. U. in 1910, and still continued his work there in the pursuit of graduate studies, winding up an extensive education this year by completing a law course. Charlie has been a school teacher, statistician, and now acts as an assistant solicitor in the State Department.

ISMAR BARUCH
CONNECTICUT
Σ Ε

Ph. B. Brown University; A. M., Princeton University; Phi Beta Kappa; Delta Sigma Rho; Law School Senate; Ordronaux Scholarship; John Byrne & Co. Prize.

Cast your eyes upon the man whose grades are all A's, notwithstanding the fact that he completed a course in accountancy in conjunction with his law course, and found time also to attend the beauty shows at the "Tidal Basin." After obtaining a Ph. B. at Brown, "Bark" felt that still more wells of knowledge remained to be fathomed, so, on his way to Washington, he stopped off at Princeton for a year, where they handed him an A. M. Then he found his real vocation and came to G. W. U.

FRANCIS MORRIS BLEHR

MINNESOTA

Φ A Δ

Columbian Debating Society; G. W. U. Masonic Club.

Blehr was born in Chicago, of Scandinavian parents, a quarter of a century ago. While he was still too young to have a mens rea, the family moved to grandfather's farm in Minnesota. Francis attended the village school and a business college at St. Cloud. He then had some more business college out in Pueblo, Colorado, topped by a brief period in the Infantry during the war. His present plan is to leave for Minnesota very shortly, where his law offices will be located.

HOWARD BROCK

OHIO

Φ Σ K

Delta Sigma Rho; Columbian Debating Society; President Ohio Club.

"Judge" Brock is a little fellow with big ideas. He "loves" the "ladies," but belongs to the old school so far as his estimation of their brain is concerned. He thinks nature endowed only one of the sexes with a thinking apparatus and pities the poor girls who are going out into the cruel world looking for a client. "They'll have 'hard sledding,'" says he. Howard is a star debater and participated in the intercollegiates in 1917 before he went to war.

EDWARD JACOB BRUNENKANT

CALIFORNIA

Mr. Brunenkant surprised his fellow-students by announcing his marriage when he returned from his Christmas vacation. He began his law studies in his home state and has not been with us long, but we all wish him the best of luck when he returns to the place of the ideal climate and starts his professional career.

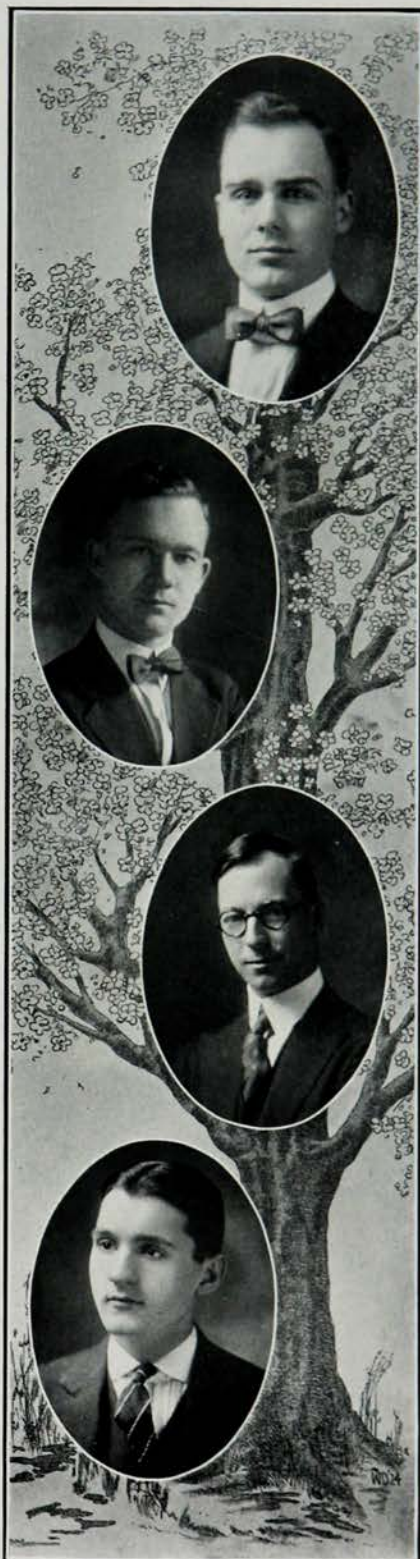

WILLIAM CAMERON BURTON

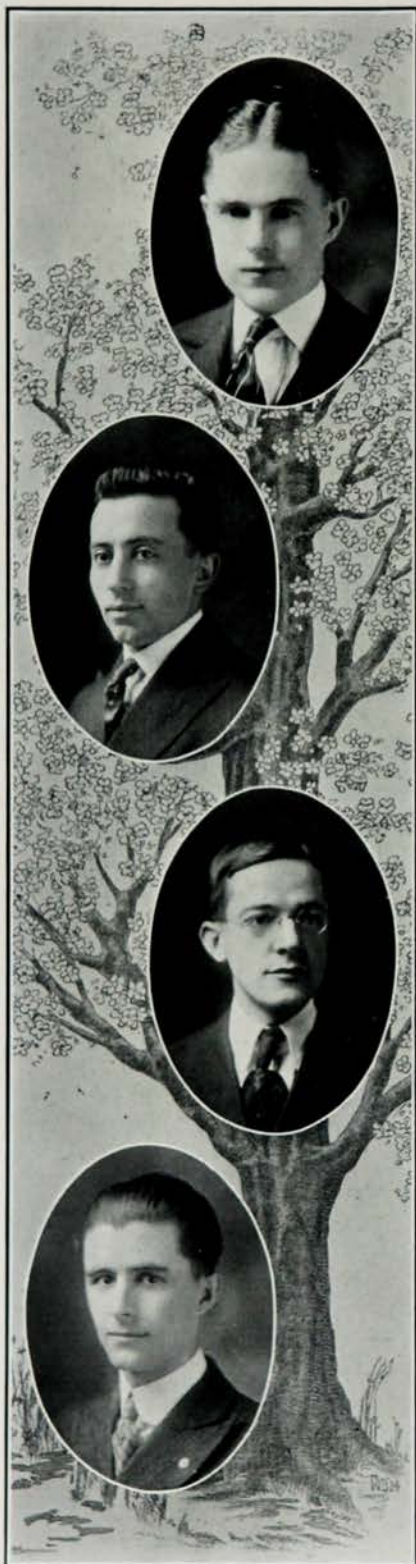

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Pyramid Honor Society; Student Council, 1920; President, 1921; Captain, Law School Baseball Team, 1919; Interfraternity Association, 1919-20; The Players, 1918; President, 1919-20; Spring Play, 1918; Freshman Prom Committee, 1918.

Cam is the boy with the syncopated feet (also shoulders), and his native ability has made him one of the stars of the George Washington Players' productions. When it comes to work, Cam is right there, too. He has been prominent in student activities, breaking into the political limelight in his Freshman year in connection with the Freshman Prom. As a member and as President of the Student Council, Cam has shown an ability to think constructively, and to put sound plans into successful operation that bids fair to make him a success in the practice of the law.

HARRY JAMES CAMPAIGN

WISCONSIN

Σ A E

Secretary of Senior Law Class.

While Harry was attending the University of Wisconsin the war broke out, and he enlisted in the Navy, receiving a commission as ensign. On his return he entered the Law School and has been breaking hearts in Washington ever since, in conjunction with his studies. He expects to practice in Chicago, but we think that when he leaves he will take a little golden-haired "war-worker" back with him and settle down.

ALFRED CERCEO

NEW JERSEY

In 1894, Alfred, for whose name every member of the faculty has a pronunciation all his own, was born in beautiful Orange, not far from the scenic spot where the Wild West movies are staged. Alfred migrated to Philadelphia, "Sleepy Village," and continuing his way southward, established his next domicile in the Capitol City. He plans to take his LL. B. back to New York town, which is full of pep and Democrats. A Democrat has to talk to himself in Washington these days.

THOMAS Y. CLARK

Φ A Δ

We don't know whether he's a good student or not, but he certainly looks like one. He cannot fall short of a bright and shining mark in the world of law.

CLARENCE M. CREWS

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

In addition to attaining high grades with the minimum effort, Clarence says his "student activities while attending Law School have been: Fighting the battles of Princeton, Dallas, and Fort Worth in the Air Service, running for street cars, acquiring a wife, amusing the baby (in other words, a practical application of his training in "Domestic Relations"), discouraging inventors at the Patent Office, and, last but not least, looking for a house.

PEARL CROSBY

NEW JERSEY

Cherry Tree Staff, 1921; Student Activity Tax Committee; Junior Prom Committee, 1920; Women's Legal Club, 1919-20; Columbian Debating Society.

Pearl is an orphan, over eighteen and still single, but willing to listen to reason. She is the handshaker of the Law School—doesn't belong to any clique. Nothing ruffles the serenity of her monotonous existence but a grammatical error, whether on the part of the student or prof. Pearl attended the Debating Society and other clubs until she undertook a course in Conflict of Laws. Although she has lived on several continents, being chronically dissident, Pearl insists that she has no domicile.

JOSEPH CLIFFORD CURRY

TENNESSEE

Σ X, Φ Δ Φ

Columbian Debating Society.

Cliff hails from the wilds of Chattanooga. But, nevertheless, that does not detract so much from his charming personality that it can be held against him. As is natural with Southerners, Cliff's weakness is ladies, and what pleases him better is more ladies. Aside from his accomplishments socially, he has not overlooked scholastic honors, having taken and passed his bar examination a year before he finished Law School. Judging from this, and his records at school we won't be surprised to see him here in Congress, unless the Nineteenth Amendment is declared a dead letter.

MAURICE DUFFY

WASHINGTON

Α Τ Ω

Duff is the fellow who gets his mugg in twice. He left us in February with an LL. B., and will grab a sheepskin from Columbian College in June. Good luck to you, but it may be said that Child's is a bad place to go when you have a poor alibi.

NEWELL WINDOW ELLISON

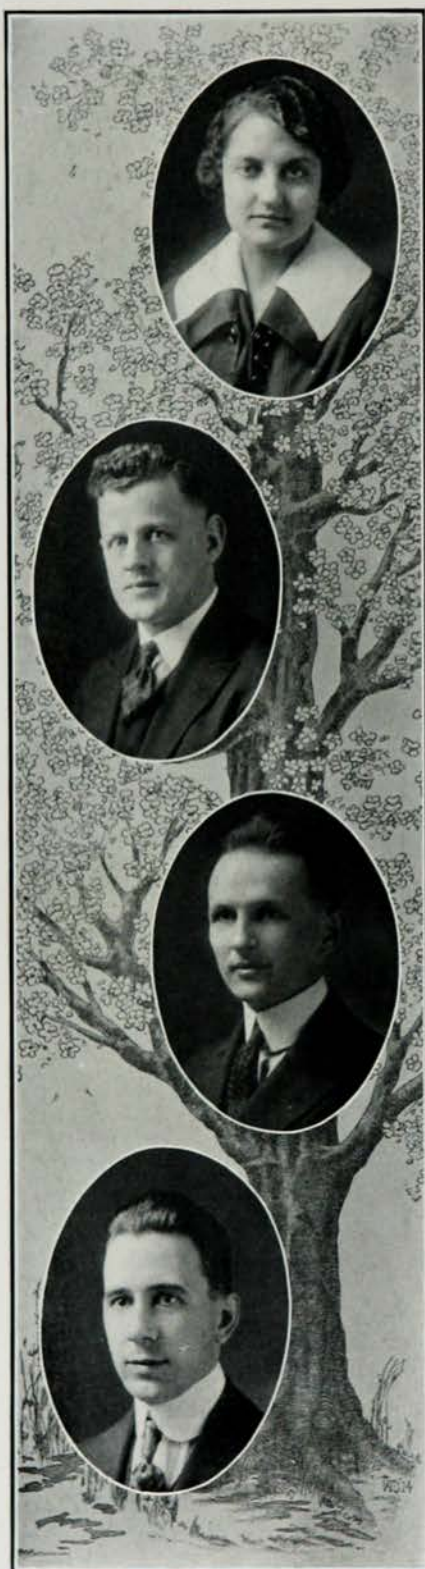

TENNESSEE

Σ Α Ε, Φ Δ Φ

A. B., G. W. U.; Law School Senate, 1921; Interfraternity Association.

Newell at present is active in obtaining subscriptions for a prospective Law Quarterly, but there is a legal question as to whether we can subscribe to something which does not yet exist. However, with this modest young man's interest and ability, the project is bound to materialize. Our best wishes go to both the publication and its propounder.

GLENN ENO

INDIANA

Φ Δ Δ

Law School Senate, 1921; Secretary of Junior Class, 1920; Secretary of Freshman Class, 1919; Women's Legal Club.

Glenn is one of the most popular "Sweet Girl Graduates." She left the farm to help the War Department, and remained here to study law. The "Old Folks at Home" will be proud of Glennie. We know she will pull the male vote out in the Hoosier States in the future as she has done at our class elections here. Her idea of the acme of success is to arrive in Congress, so we expect her back in Washington ere long.

JOSEPH CONRAD FEHR

UTAH

Σ Φ Ε

Junior Prom Committee, 1920.

Joe's service in France did nothing to dampen his ardor and irrepressible good humor. And as for his line—well it should go a long way toward assuring him a clientele in his chosen profession. When he leaves us for the Golden West, he will take with him a wealth of experience and knowledge, both worldly and legal, and the hearts of many a co-ed lawyer.

STANTON FITZGERRELL

ILLINOIS

Φ Σ Κ, Φ Α Δ

A. B., University of Illinois; Masonic Club; Glee Club.

Fitz is one of our singers. But that is not all. He is also a star debater and performed on the intercollegiate team this year, when it met and conquered the Quakers up at Swarthmore. His firm intention is to return to his native state, and there practice his profession. In fact, there's another reason for his desire to leave Washington. His favorite airs at present are "The Girl I Left Behind Me," and our "Little Gray Home in the West."

CHARLES M. FREY

NEBRASKA

A. B., University of Nebraska; President of Masonic Club, 1921.

Charlie was born in 1895, on a farm, and grew up along with the golden rod on the rolling prairies of the Middle West. He was an instructor in the Fourth Infantry at Camp McArthur, Texas, during the late war. He spends his days at the Treasury—for the present, though already admitted to the Bar of this District. The gentleman is quiet and bashful, and says he hasn't any girl.

OLIVE EVALYN GEIGER

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Γ Δ Ρ, Κ Β Π

Columbian Debating Society; Women's Legal Club.

Olive was born in Ohio, and though she hasn't seen the place for a long time, has suddenly developed a spirit of loyalty to the Buckeye State, and is at present talking up an "Ohio Club." She is fond of the Law School and has meandered through, taking her time, and putting in her days at Dad's law office. She will soon be able to relieve him, of course, and assume the burden of the work. Pecan plantations are her specialty. A successful jollier.

HARRY ARTHUR GILLIS

ILLINOIS

Φ Δ Φ

A. B., Monmouth College.

Harry, like all embryonic lawyers, intends to practice corporation law. He has had charge of the poker games at the War Risk while pursuing his studies, but will go to Chicago after graduation to join a law firm there. "Harry, Jr.," arrived at inauguration time, to add to the influx of the new Republicans in Washington. Harry has the kind of a wife that the girls at the Law School admire. She interests herself in her husband's studies and associations there, and we have all enjoyed knowing both.

LEWIS J. GREGG

MICHIGAN

Early in the morning on October 25, 1895, the door-bell rang at the home of the Greggs, in the town of Aurelius, and a fair-haired boy arrived. They named him Lewis; he didn't thrive well at first, so was late in starting his education. He is a quiet, serious-minded chap, but a regular fellow with all. Gregg's present plan is to remain in the Law School another year, so he will undoubtedly appear again in our next issue.

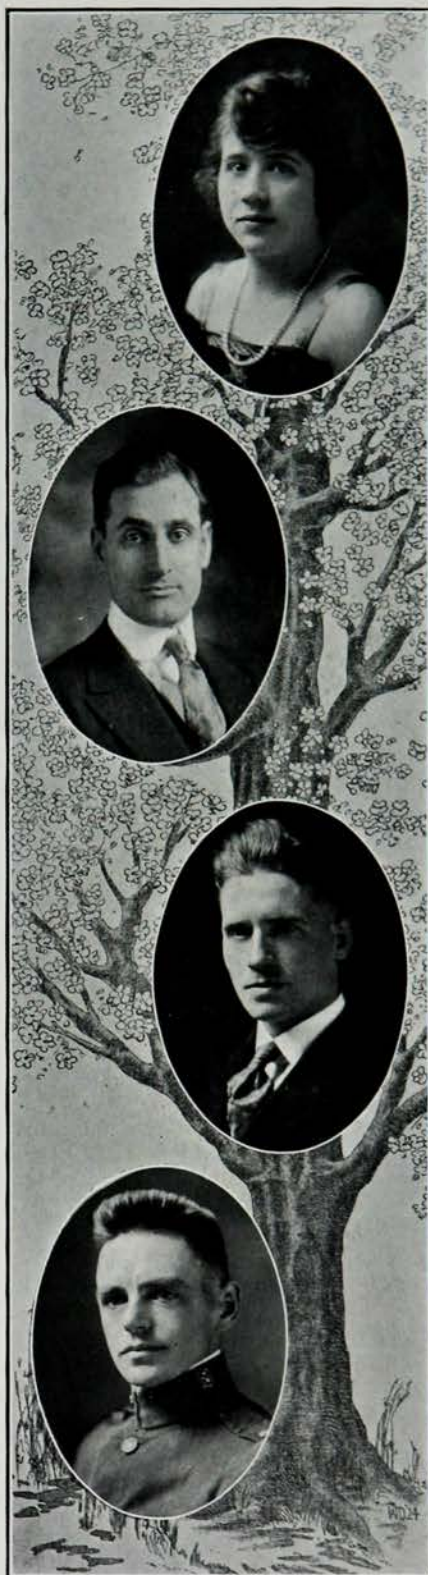

JAMES M. HAMMOND

Although born in Wisconsin, Jim's "domicile of choice" is in Nevada. He spent his college days in California, having attended both Stanford and the University of California. Lieutenant Hammond is still in uniform, and is at present connected in a legal capacity with the Quartermaster General's office. This attorney received his degree of LL. B. in February, but is still with us, taking some additional courses.

BRANTLY C. HARRIS

TEXAS

Δ T Δ, Φ A Δ

B. A., Rice Institute; Interfraternity Association, 1921; Law School Senate, Secretary-Treasurer, 1920; Columbian Debating Society, Vice-President, 1919; President of Freshman Class, 1919; John Barton Payne Prize, 1920.

Do you see the likeness? They call him "Doug" because of his resemblance to the movie actor. "B. C." is just brushing up a little while here as Secretary to Congressman Rufus Hardy. His political tendencies were evident from the start. President of his class the first year, member of the Senate during the second year, and founder of the Harlan Law Club, the idea of which was conceived because of a desire for legal discussion, in addition to his active part in Columbia Debating Society. G. W. U. owes Brantly a debt of gratitude, but we all appreciate him.

JOSEPH H. HAZEN

NEW YORK

After preparing at the Arts and Science Department and being interrupted by a term in the Navy, Josephus began the study of law. His object is economy. He intends to enter business in New York, but the lawyers aren't going to "put anything over" on him. His specialty while here was Real Property—Result. Mr. Schnebly, defeated in argument, became so chagrined that he left for Indiana. During the day Jos sits up at the Prohibition Office and ponders as to whether a fellow suffers double jeopardy who maintains a still and has to pay one fine under the provisions of the Volstead Act, and another one under the previously existing laws for manufacturing liquor without a license.

RALPH E. HEITMULLER

"Bob" attended the District Schools, including the one at 2023 G Street. Just as he decided upon a legal career, he found himself inducted into the S. A. T. Good luck, old pal, whichever it is.

DANIEL ERNEST HIGGINS

MAINE

Our friend Daw, as you will observe, comes all the way from Maine, by heck! He's another one of those gentlemen who amaze us with a phenomenal daily program. Besides coming to Law School every day, Dan teaches English at the Y. M. C. A. in the evening, and seems to find time for romance, too. Never seen alone on a Sunday evening. He attended the University of Maine prior to his sojourn in Washington. Senior member of the Down East law firm of "Higgins & Holt."

EVERETT GUY HOLT

A. B., Colby College; Wandering Greeks.

Everett Guy says he longs to be back home where they have apple pie for breakfast and know how to make real doughnuts—where the beans are baked all night and not anæmic when served! We think he will take his LL. B. in one hand and his suit-case in the other, and hie himself to the Union Station when school closes. Holt is one of those reserved fellows who just stores away knowledge and don't say much. Ouija says his future appears bright and shining.

This tall, handsome, blond young man is exceedingly reserved. In fact, after one of the Law School reporters had spent an entire evening of busy life in his company for the sole (?) purpose of extracting for publication some facts concerning his past, "Herb" left her, none the wiser. Such reticence is really auspicious. "A pleasant evening was had by all," however. The records in the War Department disclose the fact that our modest hero was a "Loot" in the Air Service, having enlisted in November, 1917.

A. B., University of California.

Jim was born in California, but the real estate agents, climate boosters, and home-product enthusiasts have forgiven him. He came east at an early age (as far as Denver), where he attended the University of Colorado for two years. In 1916 Colorado voted local option, so Jim returned to the wine-grape section. When the wineries closed, the atmosphere became too depressing and Jim left for Washington. He says that the conflict of life is nothing beside the Conflict of Laws.

SAMUEL WINSTON LACY
VIRGINIA
Π Κ Α, Φ Α Δ

Sam is a jovial son of the South, who has strenuously resisted the charms of the fair co-eds and is making his escape from the Law School still a bachelor. He is an insurance expert, and we feel safe in predicting that there will be an insurance department somewhere in his law office. Whenever the Prof. asks if there are any questions, Samuel is always accommodating. We all wish him well.

JOHN RALPH LA FLEUR
MAINE
Α Τ Ω, Φ Α Δ

B. S., Colby College; Football, 1920; Baseball, 1920; Wandering Greeks.

John even attended school while in France—the University of Aix. His favorite game is a divorce case, although he is a crack football player, too. He belonged to the football and baseball squads of 1920. As a trial lawyer, he is a most eloquent orator, and his gestures outdo those of Billy Sunday. He has already passed both the District Bar and that of the State of Maine.

VIVIEN OTTO LEE

OKLAHOMA

Although Vivien's home is in Oklahoma, he says he is not an Indian. His law studies at Oklahoma University were interrupted by certain foreign disturbances, and after risking his life trying to adjust them, he took the risk of finishing his course at G. W., while doing some less dangerous "War Risking" in Washington. "Dan," whose friends evidently consider Vivien a misnomer, says he is somewhat accustomed to risks, however. He's married.

ROLAND JULIUS LEHMAN

ILLINOIS

Roland attended the Arts and Science Department until he entered Law School. He is always quiet and courteous, and never known to be "unprepared." Roland is the man we recommend to assist you in unravelling any future unfortunate complications in which you may be precipitated, through indiscretion or otherwise. We all wish for him a crown jewelled with success.

WALTER M. LIVINGSTON

SOUTH DAKOTA

B Θ II, Φ Δ Φ

Wandering Greeks.

Walter persists in wearing a wide and wooly Western hat. Perhaps they are "ale the rage" out in South Dakota, but here is Washington. When Walter is elected to Congress; we are quite confident he will be fully equipped as to headgear, both internal and external. We predict for Western Walter all of the good things which attend the successful practitioner.

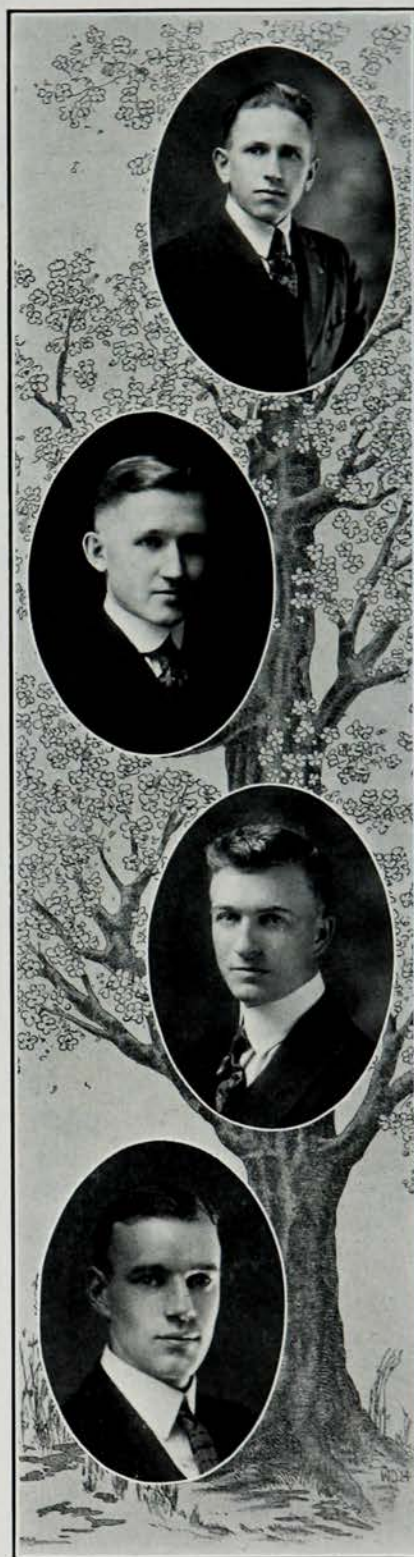

WHITLEY PETERSON McCOY

WEST VIRGINIA

Δ T Δ, Φ Α Δ

A. B., Dartmouth College; Honor Committee, 1920; Vice-President of Freshman Law Class, 1917; John Barton Payne Admiralty Prize, 1920.

"Pete" entered Law School at G. W. U. in 1916, but enlisted in the Navy the following April, served two years at sea, reaching the rank of Lieutenant, and returned safe and sound to resume his studies in the fall of 1918. "Pete" is an all-round honor student and shines particularly in admiralty. Born on the banks of the Potomac, he also plied a canoe on its waters every summer, so who could be in a better position to argue as to whether it is navigable and comes within the meaning of the term "high seas?"

OLLIE ROSCOE MCGUIRE

LOUISIANA

Φ Δ Φ

A. B., Louisiana State University; A. M., G. W. U.; Delta Sigma Rho.

Ollie delights in lengthy orations on the law, and the Prof. hasn't a chance in the world in the competition. We prophecy that his legal briefs will be anything but what their name would imply. Like all embryo lawyers, he plans to specialize in corporation law. He is a sensible and settled married man. Since this photograph was taken, the warm weather arrived and Ollie's mustache has been removed. May his "gift o' gab" make him famous.

EDITH LEVAL MARSHALL

CUBA

Φ Δ Δ

Intercollegiate Debate, 1921; Law School Senate, 1920; Women's Legal Club.

Edith is a Cuban by birth, but refers to the following places indiscriminately as "home": Kentucky, Indiana, Missouri, Illinois, Texas, and D. C. That's because she hasn't studied Conflict of Laws. Query, where is her domicile? This romantic attorney has kept us all working overtime keeping up with latest name, Mrs. Buck, the first; Miss Marshall, the second, and Mrs. Archey, the third.

THOMAS M. MATHER

SOUTH DAKOTA

Σ X, Φ Δ Φ

Tom hails from Watertown, South Dakota, but that is no criterion by which to judge his tastes. While still in his impressionable years he went away to the University of Iowa, one of the finest agricultural schools in the West, to study law, but having spent two odd years overseas, he came back to the States a man of experience and judgment, and forthwith enrolled in the Law School of G. W. U. Tom says little, thinks much, and generally smiles. One of these days we expect to see him acting that way on the bench.

JESSE CLINTON MILLER

NORTH DAKOTA

Φ Δ Φ

"J. C." was born in Minnesota, but the family moved and decided to take him along. Upon finishing High School, Jesse entered an attorney's office, where he studied law for two years. This is the secret of his precocity at class. While awaiting the result of his Bar exam, Miller will continue his present work (?) at the Census Bureau. Here's to you, "Mill."

JAMES RICHARD MORFORD

DELAWARE

Δ Θ Φ

Upon his release from the Navy, wherein he had served two years as ensign in the Air Service, Jim and wifey left Wilmington so that he might study law at G. W. This he did, and now they plan to return so that Jim may "practice" on the Delawareans. In 1916, while attending Dickinson College, he played on the Varsity football team. Morford will leave K Street with the good wishes of all.

JOHN F. LATKO O'LEARY

WISCONSIN

Before coming to G. W. U., Jack attended Badger State College in Milwaukee, and the Emerson Institute of Washington, D. C. He soldiered with the Regular Army on the Mexican Border. During the World War he was in the Diplomatic Service. Incidentally, friend Jack has a big son. He (the father, not the son) is now practicing law in this city, and with his pleasing personality, will not be long in building up a clientele, sufficiently extensive to keep him out of mischief.

FRED NASH OLIVER

TEXAS

Φ Δ Φ

A. B., G. W. U.; President Law School Senate, 1920.

"The Major" is our Law School hero, beloved by both faculty and students. He fought the battle of Paris and others, too. Fred has studied at Harvard and Yale and other places, but says there is none like G. W. U. Attorney Oliver received his A. B. from this university in 1920, and his LL. B. in February of this year. By this time he is hard at work in the profession down in Texas, we presume.

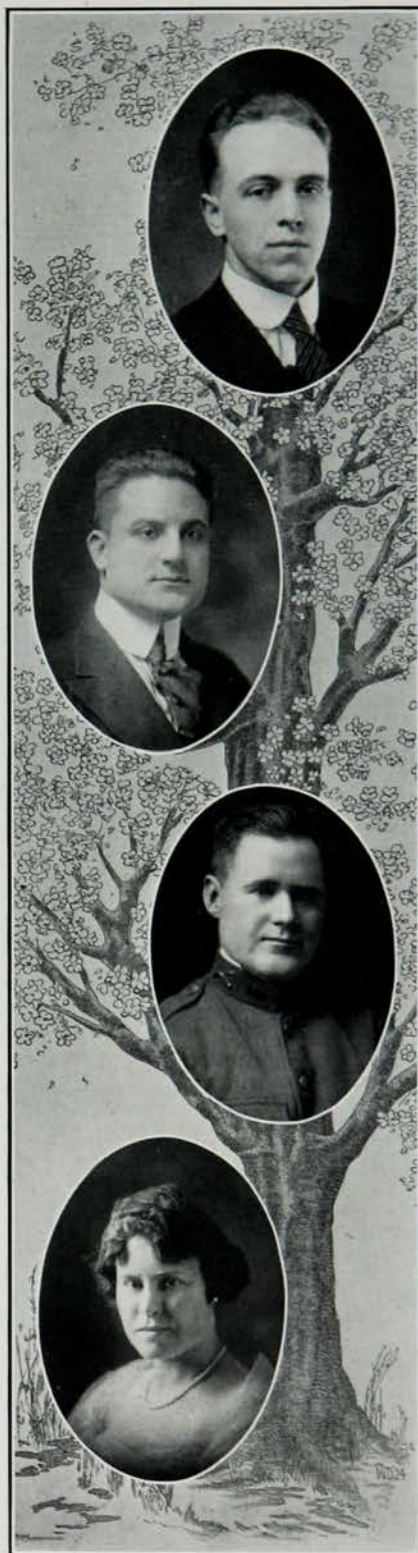

FRANCIS ELIZABETH PARK

NEW YORK

Φ Δ Δ

Ph. B., Syracuse University; Delta Sigma Rho; Sphinx Honor Society; Women's Legal Intersorority Association, President, 1921; Intercollegiate Debate, 1920; Columbian Debating Society, Secretary, 1920; Treasurer of Freshman Class, 1919.

Here's our faithful Librarian, to whom we all owe a debt of gratitude. Francis has been an active club woman while at school and seems to have found time for a little study, too. She participated in the inter-collegiate debating last year; in fact, was the only woman on our team. But no debating this year for Francis. She studied Conflict of Laws instead. A champion of woman's rights.

JOHN BARTON PHILLIPS
VIRGINIA

All the way from historic Alexander comes John Barton. He was born there and still commutes. After spending some time (and energy, we hope) at the University of Virginia, he came to G. W. for his sciences. Then he returned to the University of Virginia to commence his study of the law, but we find him safely entrenched with us again in 1919. So it looks as though we won. He is so quiet that most of us didn't know he was here, until lately, but when the day of parting comes, we'll miss him.

CLIFFORD DAVIS PIERCE
TENNESSEE
K A

"Dear Reader"—You are now gazing, admiringly, we know, upon one of Tennessee's staunchest Democrats. "Cliff" says he doesn't give a rap that Tennessee so far forgot her family pride as to go into the G. O. P. That does not change his Jeffersonian views in the slightest. "Squash" has the smile that won't come off and they say a certain little Washington girl's heart has already been "Pierced." At any rate the fellows are collecting old shoes.

HARRY POOL

It's hard to tell whether he likes law or the ladies better, but he is equally successful with both, so all's well.

FREDA RING
DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Women's Legal Club.

Freda is the baby of the Senior Class—not old enough to be permitted to pass the Bar, but surely equipped with sufficient knowledge. She longs for romance, and is particularly susceptible to army uniforms. So at this writing it is difficult to predict whether her future will be sweet domesticity or a public career. In any event, she has our best wishes for success.

SAMUEL JUDSON ROBERTS

Basket-Ball, 1920.

Introducing our friend "Sammie," athlete, gentleman, and scholar. But does he need an introduction? All the girls tell us that he can trip the light fantastic toe to perfection, but we have learned from reliable sources that that is not the only thing that makes him such an attraction among the fairer sex. This does not keep him from studying, however, or possibly he does not need to study. At any rate we have sometimes harbored the hope that we might do as well.

VICTOR J. ROGERS

KANSAS

Wandering Greeks.

Here is a young man who helps take the joy out of our lives by enforcing prohibition all day. He is full of spirits, however, and can be discovered, no matter how large the crowd, by his "Victor record" laugh. Vic attended the University of Kansas before his sojourn in Washington. He plans to "go West, young man" when he decides to start a law office of his own. We know his winning smile will see him safely through.

WILLIAM SAULSBURY

Though friend Saulsbury evidently spent some little time in making up his mind to study law, when he finally decided, he made the grade, and received his LL. B. in February of this year. He had visited his home state last summer, and while there was admitted to the bar. Mr. Saulsbury is already practicing in Wilmington—the first member of the class to hang out a sign—and has the good wishes of all those he left behind.

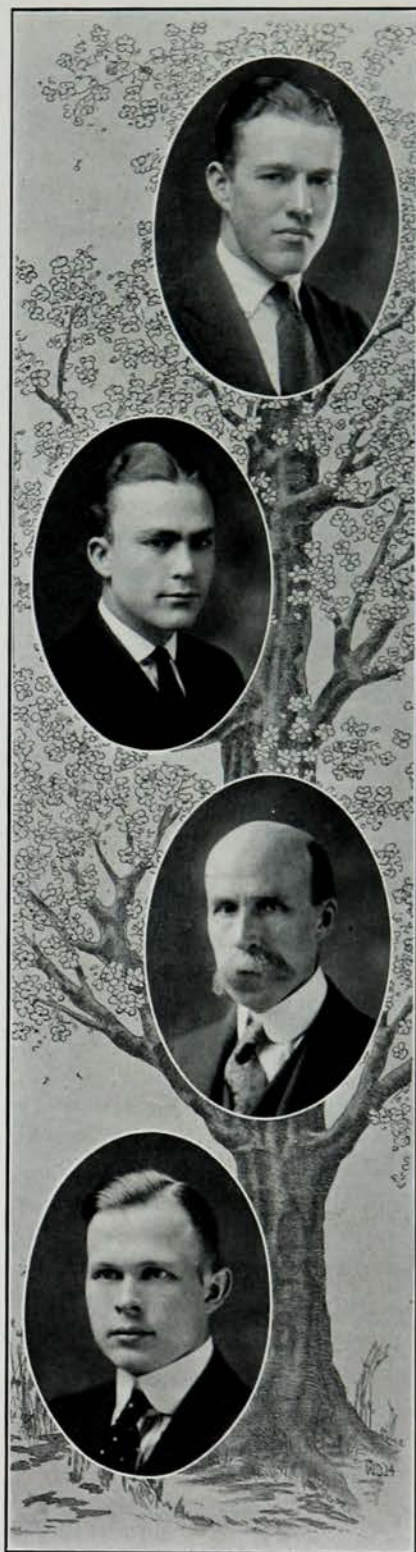

ANTHONY OSWALD SHALLNA

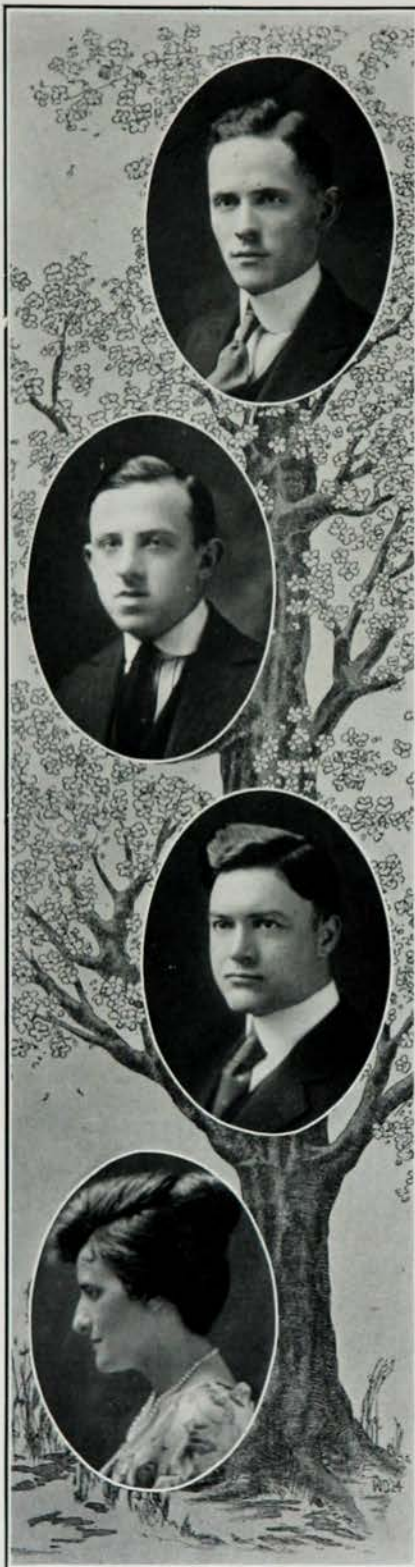

PENNSYLVANIA

Δ T Δ, Γ H Γ

A. B., Cornell University.

Even though born up at Scranton, Anthony preferred the personal touch and came to Washington to study. He put some time in at the Foreign Service School, but when offered a vice-consulship in the Baltic provinces, he said, "This is my own, my native land," and turned his thoughts toward the law. Our St. Anthony has been also a business man and a soldier. Look the picture over carefully, girls. He is still single.

HAROLD C. SMITH

TEXAS

"Red" first entered G. W. U. in 1912, and since that time seems to have oscillated between here and Texas with unexplained lapses in his law studies. We congratulate him on getting there at last. He leaves with the heartiest good wishes of his fellow students.

HARRY E. SOKOLOV

MARYLAND

Φ A

Class Treasurer, 1920-21.

Harry represents the chief musical talent of the Law School. He is leader of the G. W. U. orchestra, and certainly can make a piano walk. Some jazz artist! This Paderewski came over from Baltimore to attend High School and graduated from both "Business" and "Central." His musical ability is so remarkable, that we wonder whether law will become merely his avocation.

HENRY ULEN STONE

MISSOURI

Φ A Δ

"Stonie" was ushered into this mundane sphere at a place called "ole Kentuck" on a bright "September Morn" in 1894. At the age of three, he acquired a new domicile in Missouri, in spite of authorities to the contrary. (Using that technical term brings to ye, Ed., fond memories of peaceful days in the Conflict of Laws class.) Henry's legal education was rudely interrupted by the late war. He served overseas for two years. The Class Historian doesn't wish to be accused of partiality, but Henry really is the handsomest man in the Law School.

ETTA LOUISE TAGGART

Etta Louise has shown the G. W. U. students from the 48 States and other places, where the South got its reputation for hospitality. She has been our unrivaled social leader—always glad to open the doors of her home for the entertainment of the "Hall Room" boys and girls and make them forget their homesickness. Etta has broken all precedents by holding the vice-presidency of her class during the entire course.

Gene came here from the University of Illinois in 1915, and now he is getting his second degree from George Washington. His genial disposition has won him a host of friends, and those who have opposed him have a sincere respect for his ability and skill. On his graduation the University will lose one of its hardest and most diligent workers, and his absence from the councils of those who do things will mean the loss of one with keen insight, sound judgment, and the courage of his convictions.

We have with us tonight, ladies and gentlemen, the legal shark of G. W. U. The "A" Man. John David is the most tenacious student the Law School has ever known, according to all the evidence which can be brought to light. When a prize contest is announced, there is never any suspense. We all know the prize is gone before it is offered. He is married, too, but evidently wife is trained not to interrupt his deep thought and study.

We have here, ladies and gentlemen, the acme of perfect balance. Whether daintily tripping the light fantastic on Sixteenth Street or eagerly sipping at the fount of learning on K Street, "J. Success will surely crown him (unless a client gets there first).

LESLIE BERNARD YOUNG

NEW YORK

A. B., Cornell University; President of Interfraternity Association, 1920-21.

Mr. Young is a most conventional and dignified young man. He is an exponent of Cornell, and has well lived up to that reputation. As President of the Interfraternity Association, he has supported everything, whether traditional or novel.

SAMUEL THEODORE HOLMGREN

LL. B., G. W. U.

Sam is, perhaps, better known as "Judge" or "His Honor." He issued from the army with bars on his shoulder and took such a dislike to them that he has taken a position with his "Uncle Sam" to help him enforce laws preventing them. Last year he received his LL. B. and this year he has taken his Master's. Sam professes not to love the ladies, but when one sees him get into action at a dance it is hard to believe the attribute.

CLIFFORD J. MACMILLAN

Ω K Φ, Φ Δ Φ

LL. B., University of Southern California.

"Mac" is a full-fledged lawyer. He was admitted to the Bar of his home state a couple of years ago, and traveled across the continent to take his LL. M. from George Washington. In the meantime, he has taken advantage of his presence here, and has passed the D. C. Bar and became admitted to practice before the U. S. Supreme Court. We forgot to say at the start that Clifford was born in Illinois.

CLIFFORD WALLACE MASON
NEW YORK

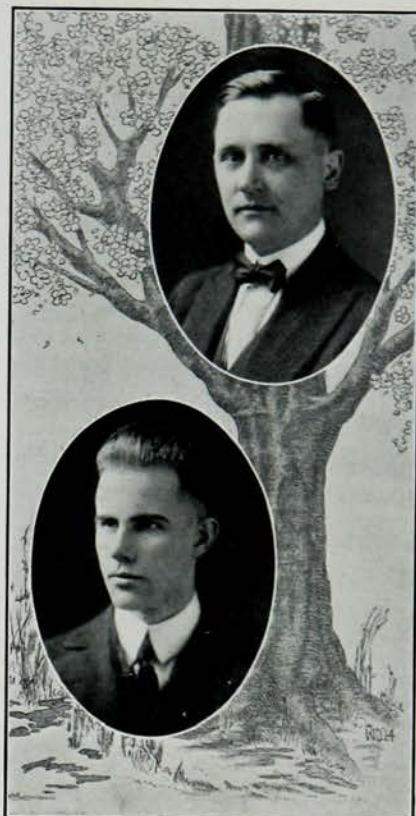

LL. B., Syracuse University.

Although still a very young man, Mason was admitted to the Bar in Ohio in 1907, and is also a member of the District Bar and that of the United States Supreme Court. He has taken some post-graduate work with us, and receives his LL. M. this year. He drew a married lady for a moot court partner, but being married himself, he knew his cards and allowed her to win all their arguments. He says that one has strange feelings when seated in a classroom, under the keen eye of the Prof., after being away from a school for thirteen years.

JOHN WILLIAM TOWNSEND
TENNESSEE

LL. B., G. W. U.; Senior Marshal, 1920; Pyramid Honor Society, President, 1921; Interfraternity Association, 1919-20; Secretary, 1920; Chairman of Interfraternity Prom, 1920; Hatchet Staff, 1919-20; Secretary of Columbian-G. W. U. Law School Association.

Some idea of John's activities may be gained from the above list, but one must know him to fully appreciate their extent. He is not only always "busy," but is consistently accomplishing things. This year, as Secretary of the Law School and as a candidate for the degree of Master of Laws, he was afforded a double range of endeavor—advancement of the University, and advancement in it.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Board of Managers of Student Activities

THE Board of Managers of Student Activities was created by the trustees of the University in May, 1920, to supersede the Faculty Committee on Student Activities. The purpose of the Board is to encourage, direct, control, and account for student activities. It supervises all student finances, having the power to allot the funds of the voluntary tax. It also has the power to confirm, revise, or revoke any action of the Student Council.

The Board is composed of the Director of Student Activities, the Chairman; three members of the faculty, appointed by the President of the University; two alumni members, appointed by the George Washington University Alumni Association, and two students, chosen by the Student Council. All members hold office for one year. Meetings are held once a month at the call of the Chairman.

The work of the Board for the past year has been very successful. Through it, the University was represented by a football team, as well as basket-ball, track, baseball, tennis, rifle, and swimming teams, which is a long stride toward placing our institution where it rightfully belongs. The inauguration of the Board of Managers of Student Activities has been a successful undertaking and it is likely to be continued as an effective organization for the making of a greater George Washington University.

The Student Council

THE Student Council was instituted in the University in June, 1916, for the purpose of fostering and controlling the athletic, social, and literary activities. It has the supervision of the expenditure of funds for the various activities, and the power to appoint all managers and assistant managers of the various branches of athletics, as well as the editors and business managers of the University publications. It has jurisdiction over all Freshman activities until that class is able to manage its own affairs. The power to appoint two representatives to the Board of Managers of Student Activities is also vested in this organization.

During the past year the Student Council carried on a successful voluntary student tax campaign, and the revenue derived therefrom rendered possible the placing of a team on the gridiron, as well as the enhancement of all other University activities.

The members of the Council are elected by popular vote in the various colleges of the University. Each college is entitled to a certain number of representatives, the total from each not exceeding three. For the past year Columbian College and the Law School had three representatives; the Medical and Engineering Colleges had two; while the Teachers', Pharmacy, and Graduate Schools were each represented by one. In addition there are five members at large who are appointed by the Board of Managers on Student Activities, and ex-officio members consisting of editors and business managers of the University publications and managers of athletic teams. The ex-officio members have all powers of active members except that of voting.

The officers of the Student Council are President, Vice-President, and Secretary-Treasurer, who are elected from the active members by vote of the body.

The past year in the history of the Student Council has been a gratifying one, but its aims for next year are for a greater George Washington University in the line of activities.

The Football Season of 1920

RUSSELL I. WHYTE
Manager

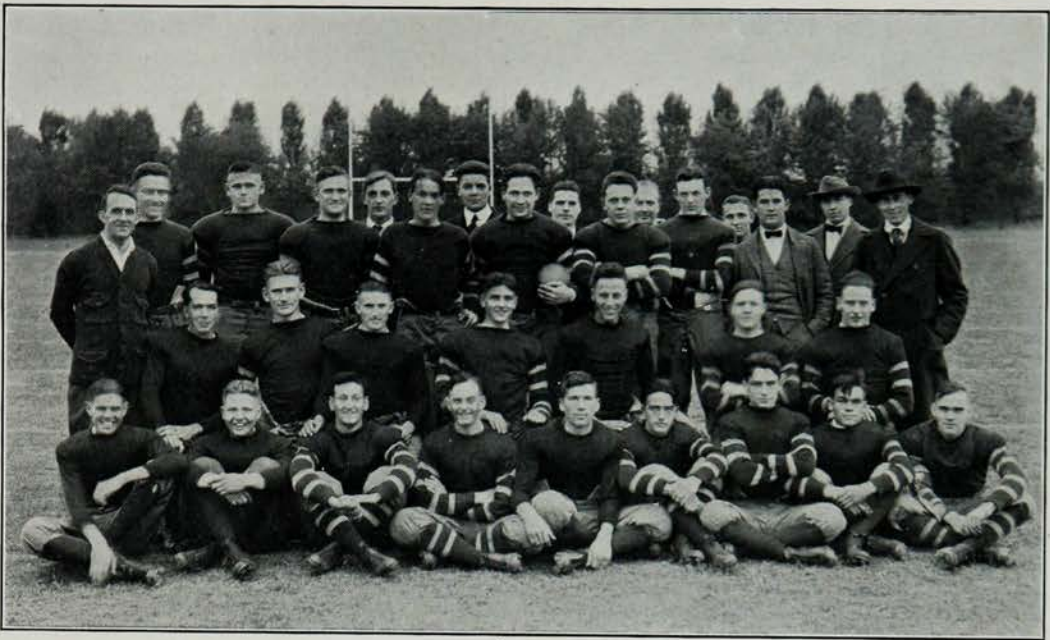

The opening of the football season of 1920 found G. W. U. on the gridiron for the first time since 1916. Great were the difficulties which confronted the University in the revival of the sport, football had been unknown to her for four years, none of her former football stars remained in the University, she possessed neither gridiron nor equipment, the College Spirit so essential to success was found wanting, and even the memory of her glorious football victories of the past had faded. To our Coach, Bryan Morse, and his assistants, and the Manager, Russell Whyte, much credit is due. They developed, under the numerous handicaps, a team which made an excellent showing with the most pretentious schedule ever listed by a South Atlantic squad. Although G. W. received the little end of the score in the majority of games, all who appreciate the circumstances feel that the season was a success. Several stars were developed, the old fighting football Pep was revived, and the University looks forward to great victories in the future.

Western Maryland furnished the opening game at Potomac Park, October 12th. The visitors scored with a forward pass in the first few minutes, but lost their lead soon after, when John Loehler recovered a punt blocked behind their goal line, making a tie score of 7 to 7, which neither team succeeded in breaking during the remainder of the game.

On the following Saturday, Delaware College, with one of the strongest teams she has ever had, succeeded in winning by a score of 14 to 7. The game was hard fought, evenly matched throughout, the visitors doubling the score by a long pass during the last few minutes of the fourth quarter. Springston proved an individual star by long off-tackle runs, which kept the ball in the visitors' territory most of the game.

On October 16th, the Buff and Blue Eleven journeyed to Morgantown, and were defeated by West Virginia by a score of 81 to 0. Although outweighed twenty pounds to the man, the Squad put up a plucky fight against a team conceded as one of the strongest in the East, and at one time advanced dangerously near the goal in four successive first downs.

G. W. U. won its only victory of the season at American League Park, October 23th, when it defeated Villanova by a score of 13 to 7. Villanova brought one of Pennsylvania's strongest teams, and expected to repeat the performance of West Virginia the week before. The victory was due to Springston's running, Kay's plunging, Loehler's punting, and Hawley's headwork. Hawley scored the winning points by recovering the ball behind the visitors' goal line.

Standing (left to right): Morse, Terrell, J. Loehler, P. Loehler, Preece, Vidmer, Sandys, Hawley, Manson, Walter, Stayton, Chesney, Springston, James, Clark, Whyte. Kneeling: Taylor, Gronna, Butler, McAlister, Garnett, Dewey, Johnson. Sitting: Brown, Hagan, Nilsson, Mount, Moore, Richmond, Dickey, McNeill, Skinker.

G. W. lost to Bethany College, at American League Park, on October 30th, by a score of 27 to 3. Bethany played one of the fastest games ever witnessed on a Washington gridiron, and G. W. went down fighting. G. W. was not at its best; injuries to Kay, Springston, and McAlister weakened the backfield, and John Loehler was knocked out early in the game after a brilliant 35-yard dash.

West Virginia Wesleyan defeated G. W. at Buchannon, West Virginia, November 6th, by a score of 101 to 7. Greatly weakened by not having regular backfield men and tired by a 13-hour ride, none of the G. W. men were physically or mentally fit to cope with the sturdy West Virginians. John Loehler scored by a spectacular sprint of 53 yards.

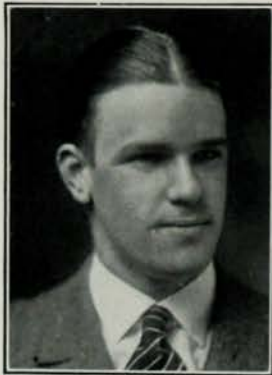

Fordham won from G. W. at New York on November 13th, by a score of 40 to 0. The home team was favored with all the breaks of the game and received advantages by poor officiating. The G. W. Squad, travel worn and disheartened, played a good game, and again went down fighting.

On Thanksgiving Day, Catholic University won from the Buff and Blue by a score of 13 to 0. Early in the game C. U. made a touchdown, but failed to kick goal. During the next two quarters an evenly-matched struggle was staged in mid-field. Near the end of the fourth G. W., by a tremendous drive through C. U.'s line, placed the ball on the 15-yard line, and at a moment when victory seemed certain, Denault, of C. U., intercepted a forward pass, and by a brilliant 95-yard sprint turned certain victory into defeat.

SPRINGSTON WITH THE BALL. VILLANOVA VS. G. W. U.

JOHN LOEHLER—Height, 6 ft., 2½ in.; weight, 175 lbs.

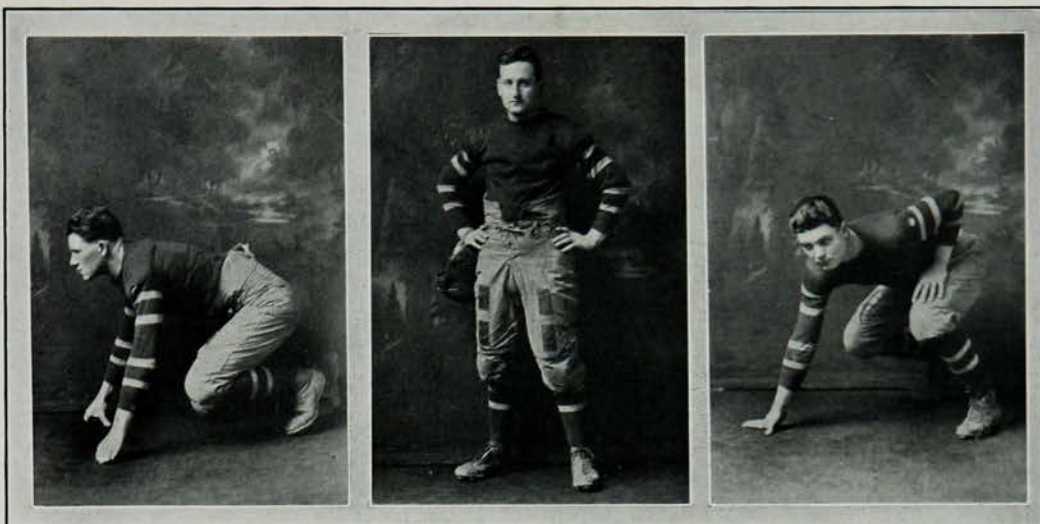

When it comes to punting and passing John is right there, although regularly playing at right end he was often called into the backfield to make long successful forward passes, and when the ball approached dangerously near the enemy goal, his toe would send it far back into their territory. He is also skillful in receiving and intercepting passes and making long spectacular gains. He is a Freshman, so will be a valuable man in future years.

RUSSELL N. McALISTER—Height, 5 ft., 9 in.; weight, 152 lbs.

"Mac" played a wonderful game at quarter-back. He had a habit of passing the ball skillfully to the right man at the right time, much to the bewilderment of opposing squads, and often carried the ball for long gains through the enemy's center. He is a native of Washington, and played several years with the crack squad at St. Albans School. He will be with us again next season.

GILBERT WALTERS—Height, 5 ft., 11½ in.; weight, 192 lbs.

"Gil" won his letter at the position of left guard. Spilling all who came near him and letting few pass his side of the line, he was ever a menace to the enemy's offensive plays. When on the offensive he practiced hitting the other men first, and then going through them, making a hole large enough for the entire backfield to pass. "Gil" is a Freshman in Engineering, and will help put G. W. at the front in football.

CLIFTON WHYTE—Height, 6 ft.; weight, 175 lbs.

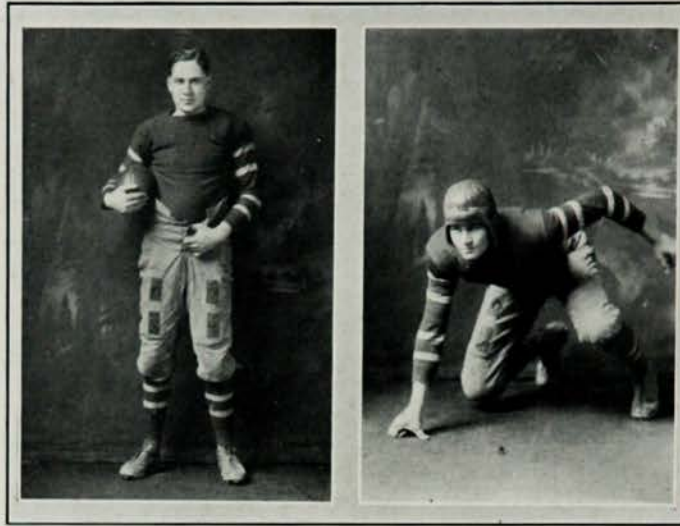

"Clif" played his first real football game with G. W. this year, and he played it like an experienced football star. Holding the position of left tackle, he proved a hard fighter, never failed to get his man, and could always be depended on to clear the way for a drive through his side of the line. He was also successful in receiving and intercepting forward passes. He will be one of our best men next season.

KNUT NILSSON—Height, 5 ft., 8 in.; weight, 158 lbs.

Knut held his ground at right guard like a stone wall, and the backfield felt secure from any attack from that point when he was in the line. He was ever successful in breaking a path through the opponents' position for line plunges, and always came out on top. When not at guard he was usually found in Loehler's place at center, where he played splendidly.

EDWARD SANDYS—Height, 6 ft., 2 in.; weight, 190 lbs.

"Eddie" Sandys promises to be a great help to his parents when he grows up. Being only eighteen years of age and having already reached the six-foot-two stage and weighs a hundred and ninety pounds, he is sure to be a great help to the eleven next fall. The past season was the first experience he has had in college football, and he very creditably held down the position of "Varsity" right tackle, and was one of the few men to play in every quarter of all the scheduled games.

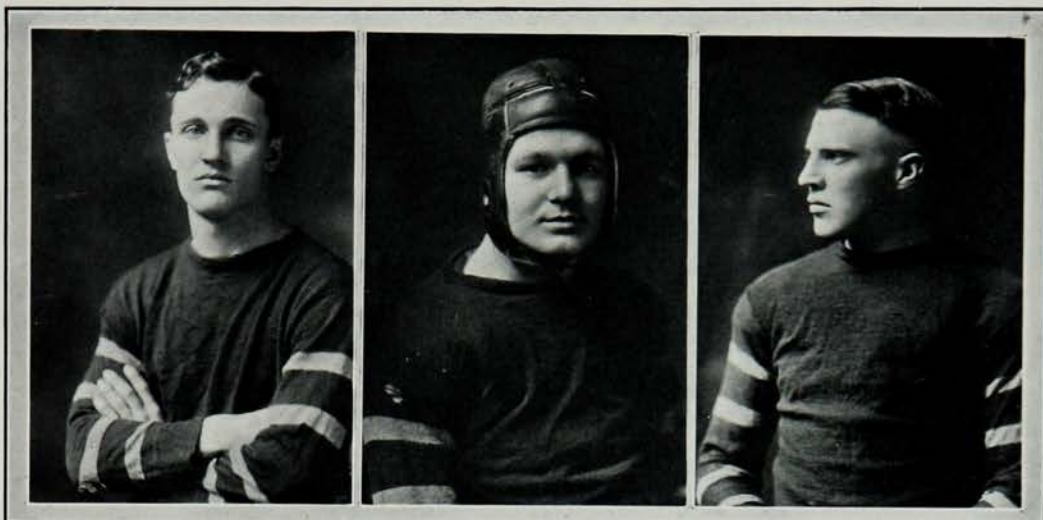

HARRY R. HAWLEY, Captain and Captain-elect—Height, 5 ft. 11½ in.; weight, 181 lbs.

Harry successfully held down the position of right tackle. As Captain this season he demonstrated his skill as a leader, and was unanimously elected to pilot the Buff and Blue again next year. He was ever alert and often gained advantage for the team by a bit of brilliant headwork. He hails from Idaho, and formerly held a position on the squad at the University of Idaho.

PAUL LOEHLER—Height, 5 ft., 11½ in.; weight, 168 lbs.

Paul played a great game at center. He handled the ball skilfully, and his judgment and carefulness in passing it made fumbles almost unknown to the G. W. squad. He never failed to clear the way for center rushes, and always got his man in defensive plays. Paul is a Junior, and will be found hard at work on the team next season.

G. BAILEY SPRINGSTON—Height, 5 ft., 8 in.; weight, 155 lbs.

The opponents soon learned to fear "Bail," for when he succeeded in getting away with the ball none could catch him. He played at different places in the backfield, and, with his exceptional speed, he starred in long broken field runs, which often carried the ball many yards toward the goal line. By his graduation this June, G. W. loses a valuable athlete.

JOHN R. DAILY—Height, 5 ft., 10 in.; weight, 172 lbs.

By hard and skilful playing at full-back, Jack did his part in holding the opponents' scores and placing the ball over the G. W. goal line. He proved himself a fighter and a hard worker, and was always in on the "smash"; he stopped all who came his way and made brilliant advances through the line. He will be on the squad again next year, and will win new laurels for himself and the University.

HARROLD T. KAY—Height, 5 ft., 9 in.; weight, 152 lbs.

"Bish" starred at the position of half-back. By his vigorous line plunges he scattered the opponents before him and never failed to gain several yards, often placing the ball on the goal line. He gets his LL. B. this June, and, much to the delight of C. U., will not be with us in 1921. He comes from Utah and played with the University of that State, rating "All Rocky Mountain Half-back" in 1917.

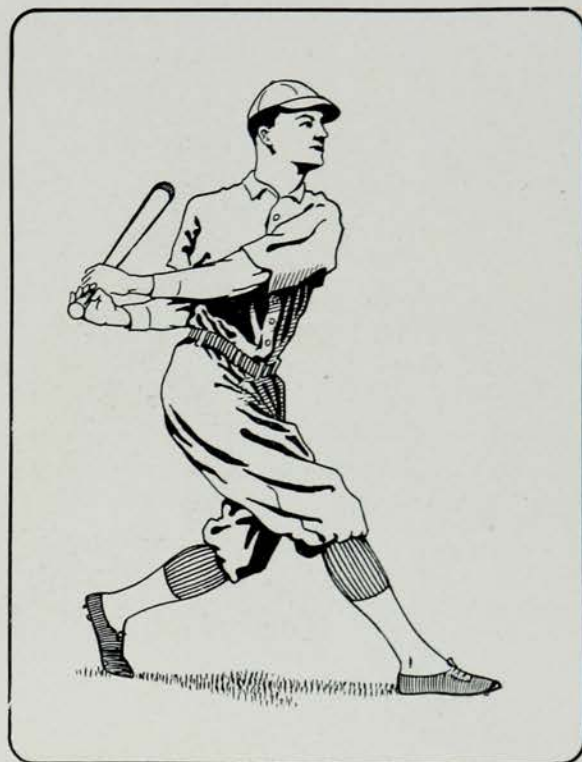

"Reds" McCaslin

We're all agreed that "Reds" is some cheer leader. He has all the pep, ginger, and enthusiasm that one needs, with about fifty per cent. more thrown in for good measure. A good voice, a ready wit, a genial smile, combined with a disposition you read about in story books; and red hair—that's "Reds" all over.

But, oh, boy, you oughta see him in action, jumping up several feet in the air like a broncho and letting out a yell like a Comanche Injun. One solid mass of throbbing, pulsating, gyrating, humanity—a ball of red fire, you would think!

Any one can see that he fights every bit as hard as the team, and if the team doesn't win, it isn't "Reds'" fault.

Baseball

As the CHERRY TREE goes to press, the Baseball fans are organizing a team for the coming season. As yet very little has been done, but practice will start in a few days. Almost all of last year's men will be on the diamond again this spring and many other experienced baseball stars in the University have signified their interest and are expected to report for practice.

Eleven games have already been arranged by Manager Ed Hanson, and there is every indication that several other games will be added to the present schedule in the near future.

The schedule as it now stands is as follows:

March 25—Cardinal A. C., at Alexandria, Va.
 April 6—St. John's College, at Home.
 April 9—Gallaudet, at Kendall Green.
 April 14—William and Mary, at Home.
 April 25—Trinity College, at Home.
 April 27—St. John's College, at Annapolis, Md.
 April 28—Villanova College, pending.
 May 4—Gallaudet College, at Home.
 May 6—Mt. St. Mary's College, at Emmitsburg, Md.
 May 7—Villanova, pending.
 May 11—Johns Hopkins University, at Baltimore.

TEX NALL, Manager

More than thirty-five promising men answered the call of the first basket-ball meeting, December 13; the high calibre of these men, including several letter men of last season, assured the successful season from the start.

After hard and constant practice under Coach Morse, the team commenced on the excellent schedule which had been arranged by Manager Nall. On January 7th, G. W. U. won the opening game from the William and Mary tossers by a score of 40 to 32, and on January 10th, downed the strong Camp Humphrey team to the tune of 32 to 20. The Buff and Blue lost its first game to Catholic University on January 21st, by a close score of 20 to 17. On January 15th, the team was defeated by the unbeaten Delaware College five by a score of 35 to 20, and on January 18th, lost in a close, hard-fought game with Georgetown by 26 to 19. The Varsity won a decisive victory from Gallaudet on January 21st by a score of 32 to 20, and was defeated in a well-contested game with Catholic University on January 24th by a score of 17 to 12. On January 28th, G. W. lost to Johns Hopkins by a close margin of 32 to 29, and on February 4th, easily won from Roanoke College with the big end of a 31 to 18 result. In a fast and exciting game played February 5th, G. W. was defeated by the strong University of Virginia team, 30 to 23, and on February 11th, lost to Gallaudet by a very close score of 34 to 33. Virginia Polytechnic, on February 19th, won by a score of 30 to 26, and on February 19th, Georgetown won a second victory in a hard-fought game, 25 to 18. In the final game, February 22d, the champion Navy quint was held to a score of 43 to 9.

Charles Boteler, captain and guard; John Dailey, captain-elect and guard; John Loehler, center; Bailey Springston, forward; Clarence Eskew, forward; C. C. Spears, forward, and Arthur Nall, manager, received the University letter. Several other men, including Hatcher, Chesney, and Brachlow, played excellently and merited Honorable Mention.

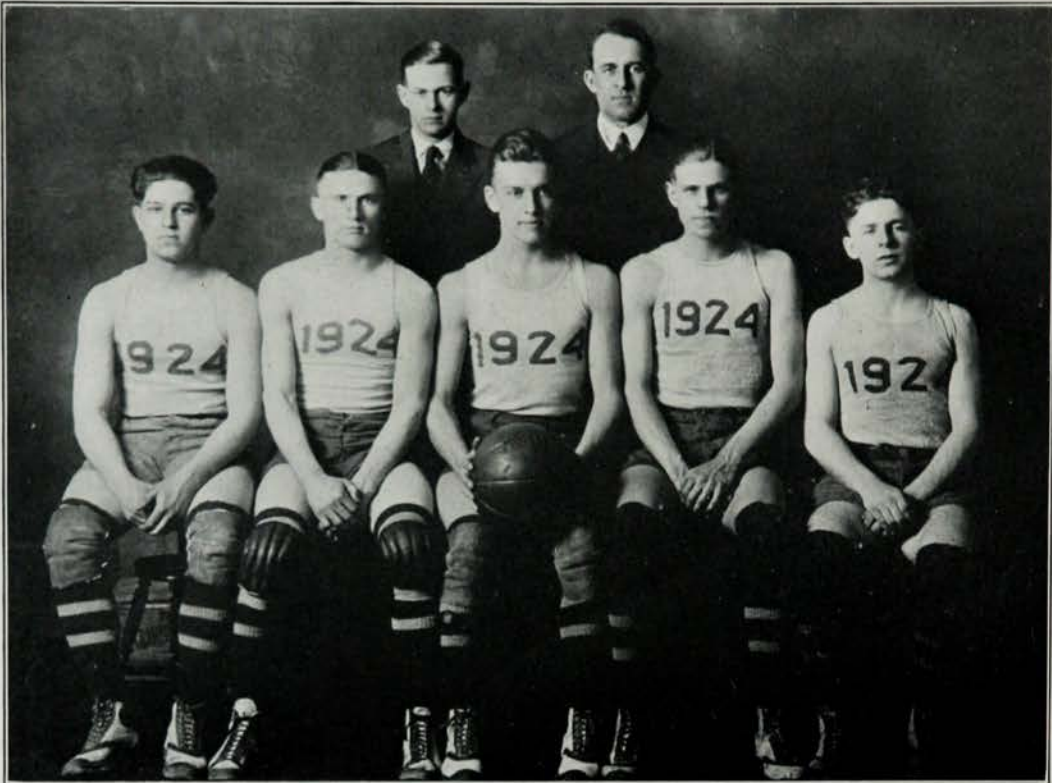

With many of the letter men back again, next year promises to be one of the most successful seasons in the history of George Washington University.

Freshman Basket-Ball

The G. W. Freshman basket-ball five deserves special mention this year. The Frosh came out for basket-ball in dead earnest, determined to make a record for themselves and set a pace for future Freshmen. They accomplished their purpose, playing a long list of games with the most worthy competition available, including games with Gallaudet Reserves, Central High School, Army and Navy Prep, Western High School, and Catholic University Freshmen.

Butler, Birmingham, Colburn, Held, Goldstein, Wood, Newbey, Brown, Pond, and Bowman demonstrated exceptional ability in handling the ball for the Freshmen, and many of these names will, no doubt, be in the list of letter men next year.

Girls' Basket-Ball

THE 1920-1921 SEASON

The Girls' Basket-Ball season opened in October with the largest plan for its activities which had ever been made. Manager Ruth Reeves had spent much time beforehand, and when school opened had everything ready to be carried out. Money was procured from the Student Activities fund to be used for paying a coach and renting a gym. Practices have been held on two night a week and when Martha McGrew offered her services as Assistant Coach, we decided to rent Epiphany Gym, and have practices two afternoons a week.

While the Varsity has worked with untiring effort toward the highest aims and under the greatest difficulties, a large part of the credit must go to the girls of the second teams, who have been so faithful in coming out to practice. It is the hard work which they have given the Varsity that has helped to make it what it is.

Track

GEORGE NIELSON, Manager

When spring came with its warm days the lure of the track brought forth several of last year's best men, together with some green material, and Coach Morse began training for what promises to be a very successful season for George Washington University.

The first competition of the season was furnished by an indoor meet at the Catholic University gym at Brookland, March the third. G. W., although handicapped by lack of practice, won the relay, Manson and Altrop winning $2\frac{1}{2}$ points in the S. A. A. events.

The team is scheduled to enter several unusually strong meets in the near future, and is now undergoing stiff practice in order to give a good account of itself.

On April the sixteenth there will be a tryout at Potomac Park, and the showing that the men make then will demonstrate their real ability.

On April the twenty-third a triangular meet will be held between George Washington University, Maryland University, and Catholic University. This meet will furnish some worthy competition, but G. W. U. expects to make a clean sweep of the greater number of the events.

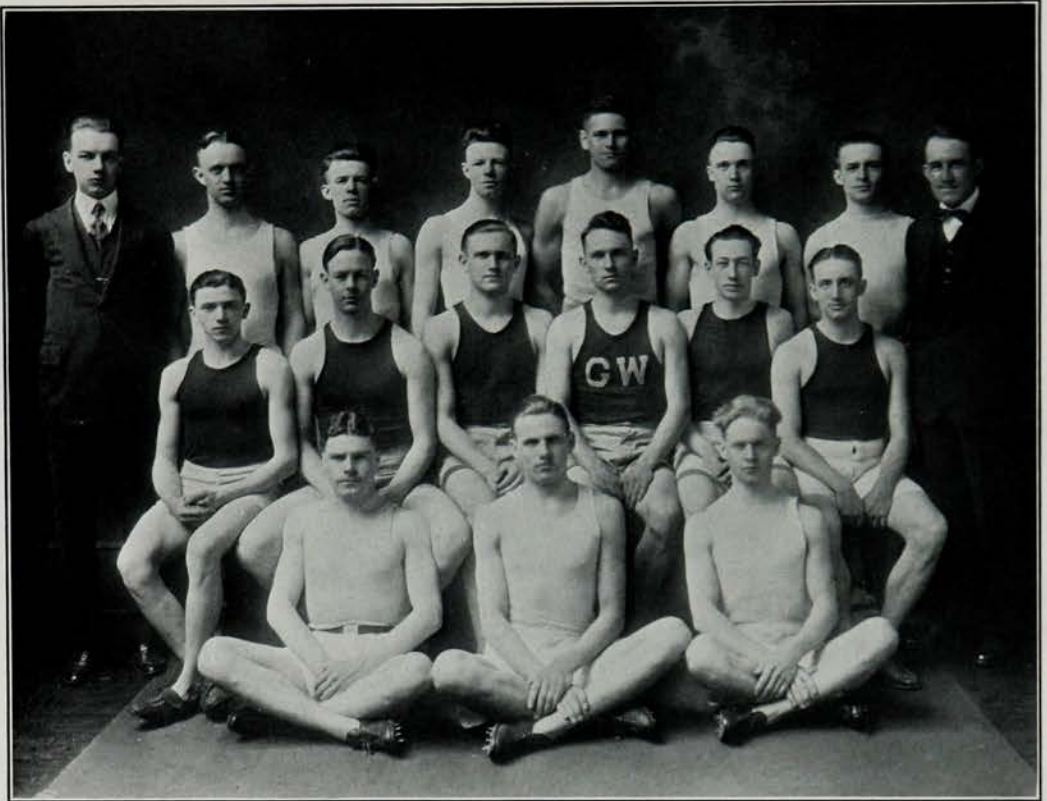

On April the twenty-ninth and thirtieth the squad will enter the Penn Relay Carnival at Philadelphia, which will be one of the greatest Inter-collegiate meets ever held there. Teams from France, Cuba, Canada, and over one hundred American colleges will participate.

The next meet will be with Gallaudet on May the seventh. Previous performances with that institution indicate that they will be easy for G. W. U.

The final entry at G. W. U. will be in the South Atlantic Championship meet, which will be held at Georgetown on May the fourteenth and fifteenth. Thirteen colleges will be represented in the meet, and G. W. U. will undoubtedly place winners in many of the most important events.

The Season

RALPH ATEN, Manager

As the CHERRY TREE goes to press the tennis enthusiasts are just beginning to prepare for the coming season. At an organization meeting held March 21 for 1920 letter-men, Aten, Ladd, Ballinger, and Sommerkamp responded, together with Underwood and Lloyd of last year and some new men, including Newby, Nichols, Richardson, and Glover. With such excellent material a winning team is assured and success is inevitable.

Manager Ralph Aten has scheduled a list of games with the best competition available. Captain John G. Ladd is now moulding his team into shape for the opening game, and everything points toward an interesting and successful season.

Cornell will furnish the first game on the home courts on April 9th. On April 20th, the team will journey to Lexington and meet Virginia Military Institute and Washington and Lee, returning home to meet Drexel Institute, April 23. The next match will be with Johns Hopkins at Baltimore on April 29th, and on May 4th, 6th, 7th, 10th, and 13th they will play Catholic University, Washington and Lee, Delaware College, Georgetown, and V. M. I., respectively, on the home courts; and on May 19th, University of Maryland at College Park, closing the season with a second match with Catholic University on May 20th. Arrangements are also being made for a number of other important matches as well as tryouts with local clubs.

The Girls' Tennis Team for this year promises to be one of the strongest that G. W. U. has yet seen. It is composed of the four girls who stood highest in the tournament of last year. The Columbian women have offered a silver loving cup to the girl who is the winner in the spring tournament. The champion's name is engraved upon it, and it remains her trophy until the next tournament. The manager is arranging a series of interdepartmental games to arouse interest preceding the tournament. This year the Law School and the Department of Arts and Sciences are to play for the Columbian Women's Cup. Besides these matches a worth-while schedule of matches with other schools is being arranged.

Swimming

HORACE YOUNG, Manager

George Washington University surprised the college sporting world this year by adding a swimming team to its numerous other athletic activities.

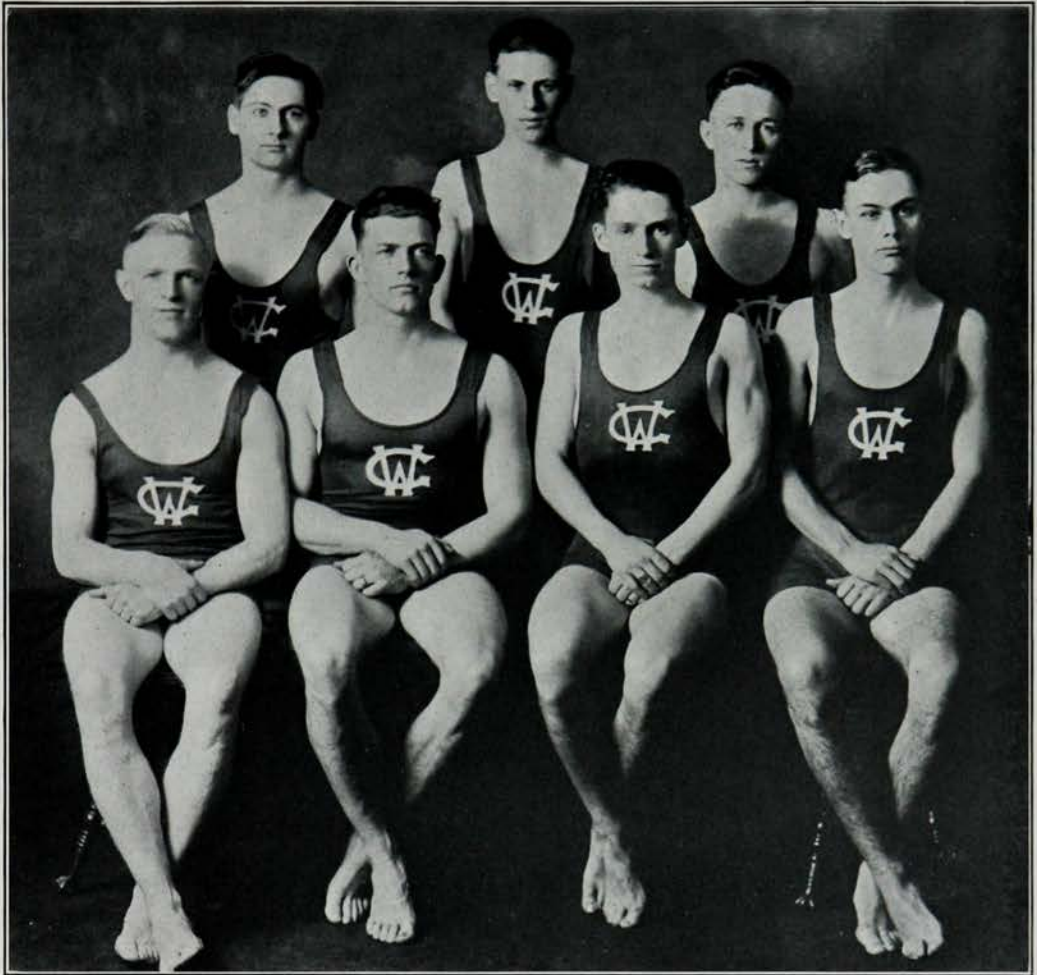

The birth of this new sport in G. W. U. is largely due to the concentrated efforts of Manager Young and the other members of the team. Considerable credit is due them for the success they have already achieved.

On March 5th the G. W. swimmers won the first match of the season from Washington and Lee at Lexington, Va. The final result was 52 to 19, the Buff and Blue having captured first and second place in all the events except two. Captain Dickey made the highest individual score by making 13 points for his team. The relay was won by Koblegard, MacEwen, Dahlquist, and Dickey. Dickey won first and Dahlquist second in the 50-yard Dash; Harvey first, Martland second in the Breast Stroke; Dickey first, Koblegard second in the 80-yard Back Stroke; MacEwen first, Stokes second in the 220-yard Dash; MacEwen third in the Fancy Diving, and Stokes second in the Plunge.

The Buff and Blue won a return match from Washington and Lee on March 25th, repeating the performance of the week before, with the same final result of 52 to 19, and taking first honors in every event except two, and all second places with one exception. Koblegard, MacEwen, Dahlquist, and Dickey won the Relay; Dahlquist won first, Koblegard second in the 50-yard Dash; Dahlquist first, Dickey second in the 100-yard Dash; Martland first, Harvey second in the Breast Stroke; Dickey first, Koblegard second in the 80-yard Back Stroke; Cary third in the Fancy Diving and third in the Plunge; MacEwen first and Stokes second in the 220-yard Dash. Dahlquist won individual scoring honors by making 15 points, and Dickey again won 13 points.

The Thirteenth Annual South Atlantic Championship Meet was held in Baltimore, March 19th. Many experienced teams participated, and G. W. U. again demonstrated its ability to win by capturing second place. Captain Dickey won first in the 80-yard Back Stroke, and Dahlquist won third in the 50-yard Dash.

Swimming

A Girls' Swimming Team at G. W. U. is something new, and with Miss Ada Moody as manager and coach, we can expect big things. The season opened with practice twice a week at the Y. W. C. A.; the team was selected from those girls who successfully passed the speed and endurance tests. All of the girls had made a record for themselves in swimming while in high school, so we have great hopes for the meets which have been arranged. The one meet which has been held justifies our expectations, for against a team of eighteen, five of our girls made a score of twenty-eight to thirty-six. Several out-of-town meets are being contemplated, and so we are looking forward to a successful season.

The Senior Marshals

THE institution of Senior Marshals was inaugurated in 1913 by Admiral Charles Herbert Stockton, then President of the University, to encourage undergraduates to take a more interested and active part in student activities, and to serve as a reward for such. It is esteemed the highest honor one could receive at college, consequently the privilege of being one has steadily grown.

The nominations are made by the Student Council and are presented to the Senior classes for popular vote before the end of the first semester. Each Senior has the privilege of voting for three, whereas the three receiving the highest number of votes are declared elected.

They lead the Academic Procession and act as an escort to the President on all occasions on which the Senior classes appear in cap and gown.

Senior Marshal

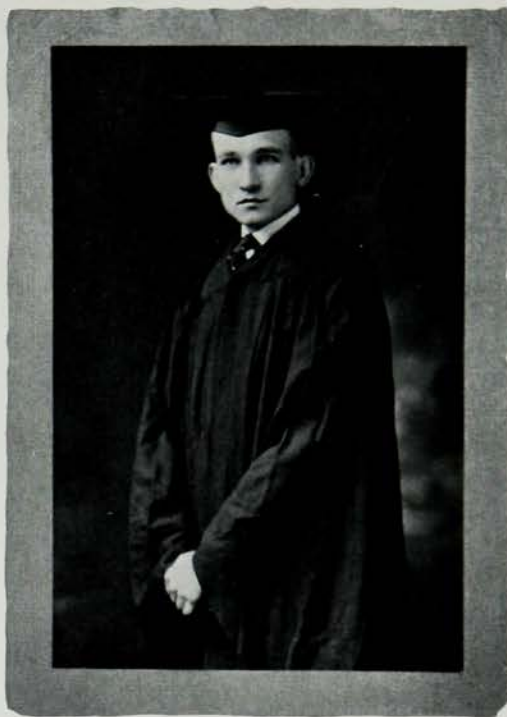

Harry is a staunch Alabamian, although he tells us that he has many relatives in Maryland, where he was born. He received his early education at Tome Institute, Port Deposit, Md., and later attended the McKinley Manual Training School, from which he was graduated.

In the fall of 1915, upon entering George Washington University, he became a pledge of Sigma-Nu Fraternity, and was initiated shortly afterwards. From his Freshman year he has shown a keen interest in college activities, being a member of the Chemical Society and co-editor of the Enosinian News. He was also a participant in the Enosinian-Columbian Debate, which, at that time, was an annual event of the University.

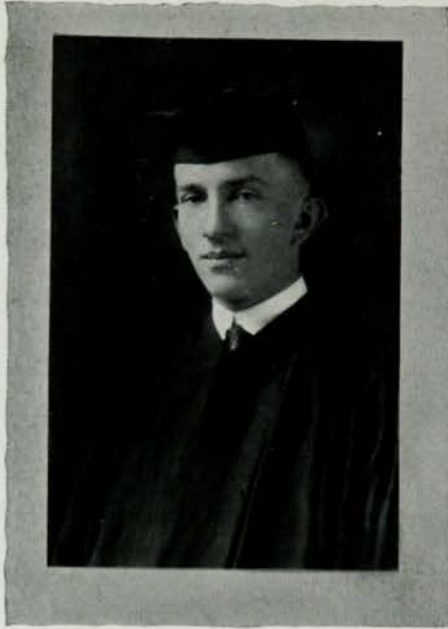

At the close of college, when the call came for the protection of the Mexican Border, he responded at once. Troop A of the District Cavalry, composed entirely of college men, was the one in which he served for ten months, patrolling the Border while General Pershing made his punitive expedition into Mexico. He remained in the service throughout the World War, serving in both the Cavalry and the Artillery.

In the fall of 1919, after an absence of three years, he reentered George Washington, and immediately became one of the most active men in the University. At the organization of the Junior Class he was elected Vice-President, and was placed in charge of the class Christmas Party. As conceivor of Junior Week, which was unknown to the University, and as Chairman of the Junior Prom Committee, he earned great credit for his untiring efforts. During his Junior year he served as Associate Editor of the 1920 CHERRY TREE. When elected to the Student Council from Columbian College, he received the greatest number of popular votes. As a reward for his labors he was pledged to the Pyramid Honor Society, and was initiated at the end of the college year.

At the beginning of his Senior year he put over the Student Activity Tax, securing the greatest number of signers in all former years. Being Chairman of the Social Committee of the Student Council, the success of the Football Hop is due solely to him. For his efforts he was elected to the post of Senior Marshal, again receiving the largest number of votes from his classmates. In this capacity he had the honor of leading the Centennial Convocation on Washington's Birthday. As Editor-in-Chief of the 1921 CHERRY TREE, this volume speaks for itself, and is evidence of what one real booster can do to make a bigger and better G. W. U.

HARRY WRIGHT NEWMAN

EDWARD J. HANSON

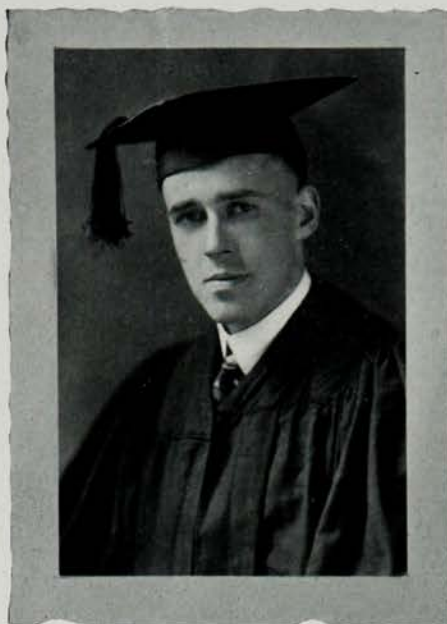

Senior Marshal

Ed's election to the position of Senior Marshal is only one of a long line of his triumphs at the polls, both as a candidate and as a campaign manager.

Little would one have thought some twenty-two odd years ago, when Ed heaved his first squawk in Wilmington, North Carolina, that such an unlovely infant would ever develop into the all-round gentleman that he has come to be. Possibly all this may be accounted for by his education, which has been varied in the extreme. Ed attended the Wilmington High School, Mercersburg Academy, North Carolina State College, and Eastman College before coming to George Washington University in 1917. His stay with us, however, has been interrupted only by service to his country during the war with Germany.

While a student at George Washington University, Ed has demonstrated conclusively his ability as a student and a man of affairs, and his character as a polished gentleman; witness whereof the following are cited: he has been a candidate for degrees in both the Law School and the Department of Arts and Sciences at the same time; he is a Sigma-Chi, and a member of the following student organizations—Pyramid, Phi Delta Phi, Student Council, 1919-20 and 1920-21; Columbian Debating Society, and the Masonic Club. He has held the following offices: Manager, Law School baseball team, 1919; Assistant Manager, Varsity baseball, 1920; Manager, Varsity baseball, 1921, and Chairman of the Athletic Committee of the Student Council during both his terms as a member of that body, and it is an interesting commentary to note that during his incumbency in that office football has been resumed, and the athletic program of George Washington has been enlarged beyond precedent in this University, in that an Athletic Director has been made a member of the faculty for the sole purpose of supervising and encouraging athletics in the University.

Ed's work for student activities in the University should not be soon forgotten, and his pleasing manner and smiling countenance will long be remembered by those who have had the privilege of knowing him during his career at George Washington University.

RUSSELL I. WHYTE

Senior Marshal

Long years ago, so long that he will not let us mention it, Russell Irving Whyte made his presence known in Washington by a series of hearty cries, supposed to show his dissatisfaction with the world in general. His early years were uneventful, and in 1912 he passed from Cooke Grammar School to Western High School, where he took an active part in school activities.

From there he entered George Washington University, taking the Engineering Night Classes. During his Freshman year he filled the office of Class Treasurer so successfully, that, in his Sophomore year, he was elected President. He also held down the duties of Fraternity Editor of THE CHERRY TREE, Reporter for the Hatchet, and member of the Interfraternity Association and of the Student Council.

In the summer of 1918, Russ entered the Naval Aviation and helped fight the war in the Boston Sector. He resumed classes at G. W. at the signing of the Armistice, and continued his work on the Hatchet Staff and Interfraternity Association.

In his Junior year he was Associate Editor of the "Cherries" on THE CHERRY TREE Staff and reporter for the Hatchet. He also became a member of the Players.

At this time, better late than never, Russ realized that he was not cut out to be an engineer, so shifted to an A. B. course. He worked hard at Summer School and entered Columbian College in the fall as a day student, much to the delight of his numerous friends (and they are numerous, both male and female). He captured the offices of Class Treasurer and Treasurer of the Players. As Manager of the first Football Team since 1916, Russ proved most efficient and active. He was a member of the G. W. Club, and managed the Frosh-Soph Tug-of-War. Because he so successfully fulfilled every office he had held, he was elected to Pyramid, the Men's Honor Society, and also a Senior Marshal, the two highest honors that can come to a man at G. W.

The personality of Russ accounts for much of his success. He is in every sense of the word a gentleman. He is like wine, he must be known to be appreciated.

Pyramid

THE Pyramid is a Senior Honorary Society limited to ten members who have maintained excellent scholarship and distinguished themselves in the advancement of student activities throughout their three years. Elections are biennial, being held in the fall and spring; candidates are selected at the end of their Junior year, or in their Senior. There is but one higher honor for a student, that of Senior Marshal.

Sphinx

Sphinx was founded in 1912 for the purpose of promoting high scholarship and interest in student affairs among the women of the University. Its membership is limited to seven, and only those women are eligible to election who have a scholarship average, which is twenty above passing, and who take an unusual interest in college activities.

The Enosinian Society

THE Enosinian Society is the oldest organized student activity of the George Washington University. It was founded in the year 1821, the year in which the Columbian College was chartered. The organizers of the Society had as their motives a desire to improve themselves in "knowledge, eloquence, and every accomplishment" by which they might be the better fitted for any station in subsequent life.

No organization of the University has such a wealth of tradition or such a notable roster of members as the Enosinian. This list included four Presidents of the United States, and many other men of prominence, including Daniel Webster, John C. Calhoun, and Henry Clay. The literary eminence of the Society is evidenced by the membership of N. Parker Willis, Washington Irving, and William Cullen Bryant. General Lafayette and son, upon their return to this country, were received by the Society and voted into honorary membership.

The Enosinian Society possesses a library of several hundred volumes, which are now included in the library of the University. The records of the Society furnish interesting and accurate data regarding the rules and regulations of the old Columbian College.

The sessions of the organization have been discontinued several times during the hundred years since its founding. The late World War, among its other evils, was responsible for the last interruption. The Enosinian was revived in the fall of 1920 by the Literary Society, which was organized for similar purposes in 1919.

The range of the Enosinian activities is wide, accentuating tendencies toward literary production and the debate. It is the intention of the reorganizers of the Society to use for the advantage of Columbian College the honorable tradition which is the heritage of the Enosinian, and to raise that body to the place of high distinction it once enjoyed.

Davis Prize Speaking

 HE Davis Prizes were founded in Columbian College by Hon. Isaac Davis, of Massachusetts in 1847. The original endowment was five hundred dollars, "proceeds of which will afford three premiums, in cash or gold medals, of the value of five dollars, of ten dollars, and of fifteen dollars, annually—these premiums or prizes to be distributed annually to such members of the Senior Class as shall have made the greatest progress in elocution since their connection with the College."

These orations are first read separately by each member of the Committee of Award, and are marked for quality of composition. They are afterward marked by each member of the Committee for effectiveness in delivery. Composition and delivery are given equal weight in the award. After the contest the committee in conference determines upon the award of the prizes, and this award is announced at the close of the exercises.

SOCIETY

Football Hop

The first big dance of this year was the Football Hop on Friday evening, November the nineteenth, given by the Student Council in honor of the football men. About one hundred couples danced to the latest jazz in the Crystal Room of the Ebbitt Hotel. The programs were unique, being buff footballs with blue cords. It was an attractive affair and was a success financially and socially.

ARCHITECTURAL CLUB DANCE

The Architectural Club began its social year with a dance at the Sigma Phi Epsilon House on November the eleventh. The programs were out of the ordinary, being blue prints. The President, Bill Harris was in charge, whereas the dance was well attended and thoroughly enjoyed by every one.

ENGINEERING SOCIETY DANCE

The Engineers held their annual dance at the Cairo. A particular source of enjoyment was the "full moon" illumination, which displayed the fact that the practical engineers also possess a tinge of romanticism. A large crowd was in attendance and it was pronounced a very successful affair.

Junior Week

Junior Week originated last year when some real live Juniors put some spirit into their class and brought it forth as an annual custom of the University. One week during the school year is devoted to social events under the guidance of the Junior Class. It is usually the week after mid-year exams and a real celebration when lessons and cares are of minor importance. Receptions, proms, teas, plays, and general merry-makings predominate and little regard given to the more serious phases of school life. It has become the one big week of the year, and is assured of being a permanent factor of school life in George Washington University.

JUNIOR RECEPTION

The Juniors' first shindig of the week was a reception at the Raleigh on Monday afternoon, when Dutch Whaley's Jazz Orchestra and Vaudeville Troupe furnished the University with both dance and amusement. In the room adjoining the ballroom punch was served (after July, the first kind) to the satisfaction of only a few. The affair was in charge of Howard H. Espey, assisted by a staff of sixteen.

When the first strains of Meyer Davis' music began to float over the light-bedazzled floor of Rauscher's on the evening of February twenty-fourth, every one knew that the 1921 Junior Prom was a knockout. The Grand March was led by Miss Helen Pease, of Macon, Georgia, and Bob Pulliam, President of the Class from Columbian College. As the couples swung into the dancing the many colored lights, the Southern smilax in decoration, and boxes presented a brilliant spectacle rivalled only by the beautiful "femmes" and lavish gowns. The fraternity boxes were decorated in their respective colors and coats of arms, whereas the class boxes were most beautiful and "salons de lounges" predominated.

The programs were drab-colored kid card cases with a gold insignia of George Washington University on the outside. The three fillers contained the names of the Junior Class officers of all departments of the University and the order of dances.

The dance was a huge success in all ways and much credit is due those having it in charge. The Junior Prom was instituted last year and has become the leading social event of the college year. The interest and success of this year has assured its future permanency.

Junior Play

Junior Week was brought to a successful close when Clyde Fitch's comedy, "The Truth," was presented in the Central High School auditorium on Monday evening, February the twenty-eighth. The cast was well chosen and presented the play to an appreciative audience.

Inter-Fraternity Prom

Greek met Greek on the night of March the eighteenth at Rauscher's in spirit and harmony that made the Interfraternity Prom characteristic in tone and appearance, a thing apart from other social functions of the year. This event affords an opportunity for closer bonds of friendship among the various fraternities of the University and brings to a fitting climax the various activities in which they were competitors.

This was the first large social event this year to which the Deans and their wives were invited, while their presence added dignity and charm to the occasion.

Spring Hop

The Student Council is planning an informal Hop to be given during the first part of May for the benefit of student activities. It is to be given at the Ebbitt and promises to be as delightful as the Football Hop of last November.

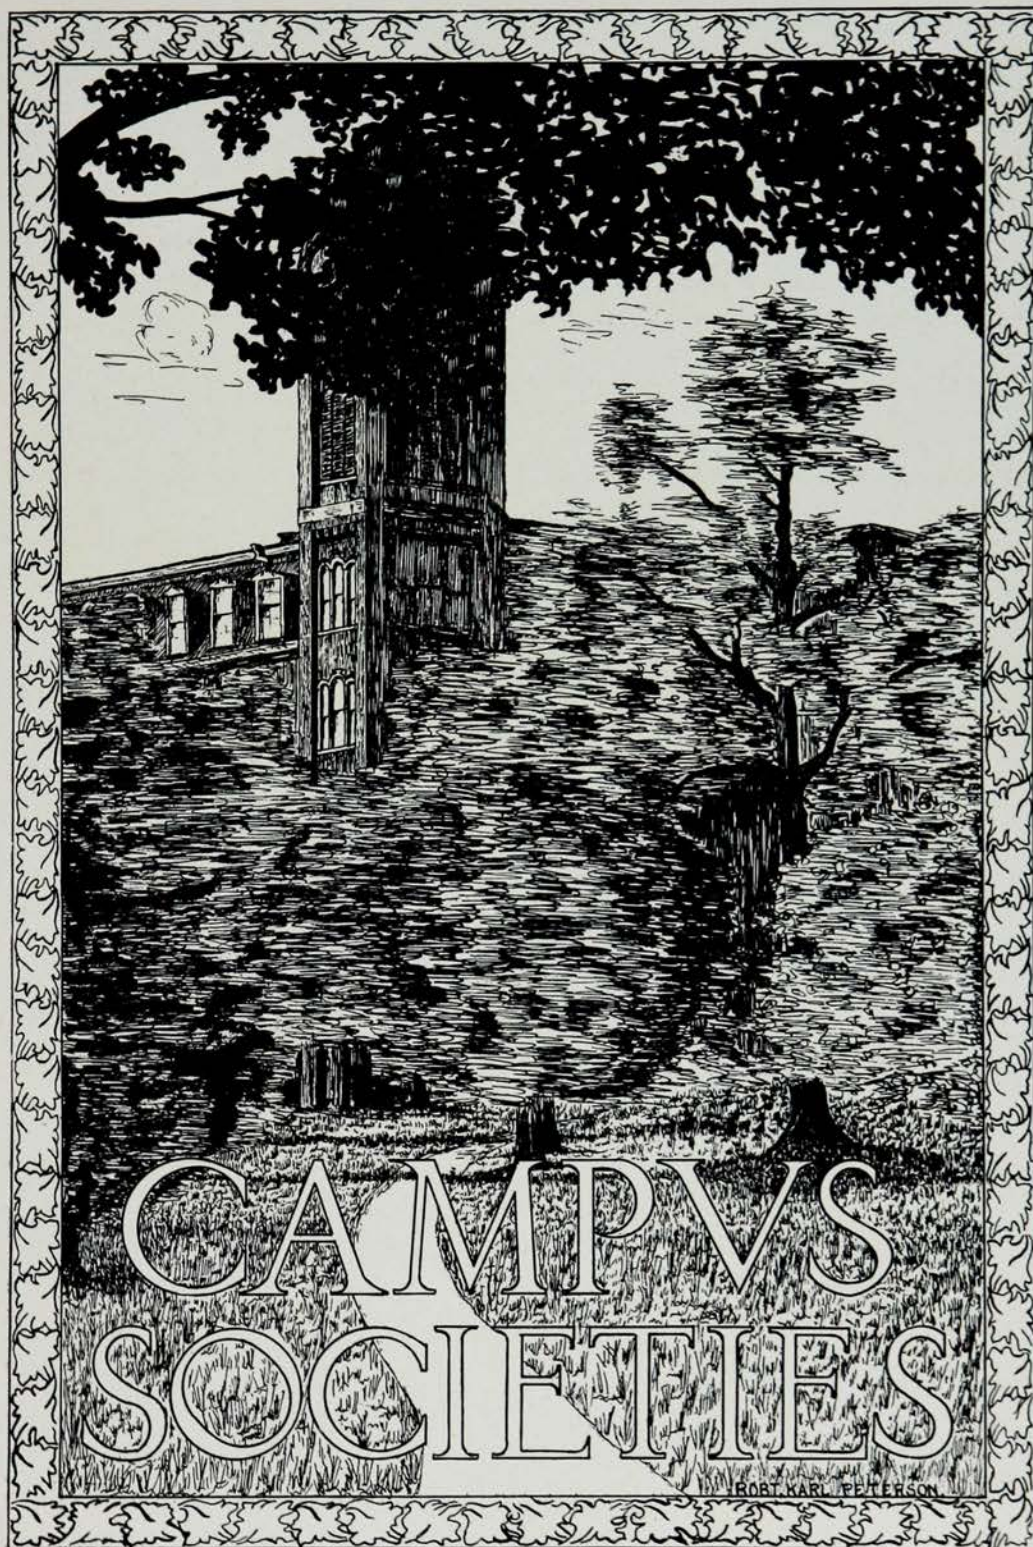

FROSH BAL-MASQUE

Living up to their reputation that they established way back in October with shanghaiing, water-bags, and ice-cream swiping, the Frosh this year are going to pull something unique; that is, a Bal-Masque. This event is coming off the latter part of April, and is assured of the success that has characterized their various informal impromptus during the year.

The Senior Ball

Realizing that they will dance for the last time as students of the Class of 1921, the members of the Senior Classes are preparing to make their social function a fitting climax to their college career that has been crowded with scholastic worries, with campus and social activities, and in some cases, with the horrors and joys of war.

The dance will, no doubt, be given in the early part of June, after the finals, so that the Seniors can forget about their exams and look forward to a pleasant evening and a prosperous future.

El Circulo Espanol

EL Círculo Español es la sociedad más joven de la Universidad; sólo cuenta tres meses de existencia. Instituyóse a principios del pasado enero, silenciosamente, sin gran pompa y ruido, con un grupo exiguo de estudiantes de las clases de castellano, pero su desarrollo intenso y rápido ha exployado a las más optimistas expectativas, y hoy ocupa un ostensible lugar entre las primeras instituciones de este plantel universitario. Pocas sociedades hanse visto favorecidas por un éxito tan espontáneo y maravilloso, y el motivo estriba, sin duda alguna, en que pocas, coma ella, aúnan de una manera propia, exquisita y esmerada, la realización de su fin remoto a las exigencias naturales del medio ambiente el la cual ha de realizarse ese fin. Aunque la sociedad es, por lo tanto, de un carácter didáctico, pues que tiende a divulgar los conocimientos del idioma castellano y a estrechar más aún la afiliación espiritual de ambas Américas, no se concreta, sin embargo, a los actos circunspectos que los ideales de tan alta transcendencia presuponen. El beneficio practico sería incierto si no se atendiese además a las distintas genialidades e inclinaciones de aquellas personas que han de formar el alma de la sociedad, y todo asociación que se forme entre los estudiantes tendrá por fuerza que lucir la idiosincracia peculiar de una estudiantina, con la alegría y jovialidad proverbiales; de manera que los iniciadores de esta sociedad, partiendo de ese principio razonable, han constituido no un centro de instrucción riguroso y severo, solemnizado únicamente por la majestuosidad astringente de un discurso o conferencia escolastica, sino mas bien un centro de instrucción y recreo, ameno y agradable, donde también se baile, se coma, se ría y se dé libre expansión a la franca y jovial alegría de la juventud, de suerte que quede asi velada por los atractivos y deleites de la sociabilidad, la austeridad displicente y fatigosa de las formalidades didascálicas.

This club, organized March 1, 1921, under the name of the Ohio Club of George Washington University Law School, is distinguished by the fact that it is the first of its kind to be organized in the history of the University. Its purpose is two-fold: first, to place the school before the public eye of Ohio, and second, to acquaint its members with the law and practice of their home state. Although in its infancy, considerable progress has been made, and the club gives every evidence of achieving great results.

The Interfraternity Association

HE year 1920-1921 may well be called one of the most successful ever enjoyed by the Interfraternity Association since its founding at George Washington. Established with the idea of fostering friendship and coöperation among the fraternities, it may be said that the Association has achieved that object and has been a factor towards promoting school spirit in the University. Meetings were held twice a month at the various fraternity houses throughout the school year, and many subjects relating to the welfare of the fraternities and the University were taken up.

With the hearty coöperation of the various chapters many successful smokers were held throughout the year. The annual Interfraternity Prom was held at Rauscher's on March 18th. Realizing that athletic competition among the fraternities is one of the best ways of promoting a friendly spirit, the Association conducted bowling and basket-ball tournaments for which suitable trophies were awarded to the winning fraternities. In short, the Association, in the past year, has taken several decided steps toward a greater G. W. U.

EGOTISM is a prerequisite, prerogative, and an inalienable and indefeasible right of the Varsity man. Flattery encourages Egotism. It is my contention that the aforesaid and above-mentioned characteristic is not catalogued among the essentials of a Successful Life. Therefore, in the ensuing pages I have steadfastly essayed, shunning abortive adulation and blandishments, to stem the seething tide, to dam the ebb and flow of Self-Conceit which is imminently present, pointing to impending doom the undermining of the community character.

Don't worry! This Highbrow Stuff isn't catching. I just had to get rid of the attack which I felt coming on, for it couldn't get into the book proper.

The Knocks that follow are distributed as impartially and unbiasedly as it is possible for me to disseminate them. First come, first served. This section is full of things which occurred to me as I lovingly and tenderly contemplated as an Alma Mater, the fraternity system of G. W. U. If you don't like your Knocks, pass 'em on—they are guaranteed to fit any Greek-letter man or woman fulfilling the strict requirements of

CONFIDENTIAL ADVICE TO FRESHMAN GIRLS

ΠΒΦ

To reach the University you must take the "26th and G St." accommodation (if we may be allowed to call it that) and get off at 21st Street. You will not be met by any one—a girl who is foolish enough to risk such a trip is not worthy of being rushed even by Chi-Omega or Phi-Sigma. But if you happen to get out of a taxi or a car that may be Pa's, you will be met by various dignitaries and confidence ladies from Pi-Phi and Phi-Mu, and other menaces to public health, but be crafty.

At first you will look long and earnestly at the buildings and then for the campus, and, after futile search, you will compliment the University on its clever camouflage. There you stand bewildered—what you know could be written on the back of a two-cent stamp and there would still be room for half your class roll, which roll is considerably larger than your bank roll. Next you will pat yourself on the back and offer self-congratulatory remarks as to your stamina in sticking around so far from "Huyler's."

XΩ

Next you will observe various students loafing here and there, mostly frat men caught in the nets of the vamping co-eds. Right here you will note distinctive styles of headdress, odd-looking creations, whose significance you do not at first fathom. However, it will not be long before you are advised, in a gently reproving tone, that they are insignia of the campus fraternities—No, how stupid of you, not men's fraternities, but what used to be known as sororities.

ΦΜ

Now, never think of buying a meal the first two or three days, as the "sisters" are most willing that you sample their menus. Before you choose your Monday supper resort give Theta Lambda Sigma a chance—they are a feedy bunch and have a fine supply of hams. Phi-Mu keeps the best eggs of the soft-boiled variety, but when it comes to the hard or pickled type, the Coalition has them all stopped. If you are fond of prunes try Chi-Omega—they have a fine lot. For lobsters and shrimps, Sigma-Kappa will be glad to see you. If you can wait until Sunday and are fond of tea, call on Olive and meet "her" sorority, i. e., Gamma Delta Rho.

Now, that you have a fairly good line on the menu, the next thing to look into is some inside dope on the housing question. Catering to the fair-enough type, not quite up to the fair, you must look up the Pi Beta Phi roost—they have a rare collection of birds.

ΣΚ

Not all the fraternity rooms are fully equipped. Sigma-Kappa has the most wicker furniture in captivity; Gamma-Delta distracts your attention from the dearth of furniture by showing you their elevator, while Theta Lambda Sigma runs them a close second, being the proud possessor of a dumb-waiter. Phi-Mu has plenty of air space.

Now, having all the most important details fairly settled in your mind, you may want to register in the college, but when it comes to advice on the subject you are out of luck—absolutely! No one has entered the institution yet without losing five or six perfectly good years from the posterior end of her existence. Nothing can help you. Don't ask any questions, because no one knows the answers, and never follow any advice—advice has ruined many a helpless co-ed.

If you are finally admitted to the college, there are several pastimes in which you can spend your few days' sojourn. You can eat at the Rabbit Hole, write to the Only Man on stationery borrowed from your many she-fraternity friends, go to the church on the corner, cut class, and try vamping the faculty. Then start off with a jubilant, "Well, here goes for an education."

Class attendance is supposed to start at once, but you should long ago have learned the meaning of the word "supposed." Be careful in selecting your classes. Never get into the same section with a Sigma-Kappa—they are always running away with the blue ribbons long before any one finds out the name of the text-book. Never take Chemistry 20 unless there are some Phi-Sigas in the class—they are trying to give the Sigma-Kappas a run for their money, and are not stopping at anything.

It is always advisable to alter your religion accordingly as the one most common to your instructors, even though it be anthropomorphism.

You may have pecuniary difficulties—every one does. Start taking notes in class. In this way you can help the co-ed class-cutters to get by when they inadvertently attend one day, and, incidentally, you may be able to get five or ten cents a copy for your notes. Some of the Chi-O's would pay anything to be relieved of class attendance.

Don't join everything! You may have a little trouble at first in keeping away from the Phi-Mu's and Gamma-Delts. The Spanish Club, Girls' Glee Club, and Theta Lambda Sigma are all worthy. If you want to increase your circle of friends, join Sigma-Kappa, or be a society butterfly or vamp, join Pi-Phi. Pledge yourself to Chi-O, if you want to make yourself heard, and at the same time join the W. U. C. It doesn't cost anything, and you will be able to call yourself a member. That is the chief advantage. Then when you tell the folks at home about it, you can cough in a casual sort of way and remark that Martha McGrew, a very well-known alumna, is also a member. Take your time and don't be in a hurry to pledge yourself to any fraternity, for it is never too late for Coalition or Phi-Sigma. If you have any dates with Pi-Phi be sure to provide

All First-Class Love Affairs Start in the Library

Use the Library—you will soon learn, when you become acquainted with the ways of G. W., that all first-rate love affairs started with whispered conversation and side-long glances in said Library. In choosing your course try to make yourself feel that you are preparing for some definite end. You may sometime choose the wrong one—anyway, you can fall back on Kockie's Commerce Course at any time. Get a liberal education and something is sure to turn up for you, but always remember that it's a much easier job sticking in any school than plugging away as a stenog out in the cold world, or trying to put the baby to sleep with "Japanese Sandman." Play safe! While your fond parents and your friends are arguing what you are to become, just simply go on with your education, but at least don't become engaged.

There are some people who should never go to college; those who do not care for books—Boccaccio and Balzac excluded—those who have no ambition; the girl who hums "Tired of Me" while you try in vain to smash out some trig; those whose aim in life is to keep the fellow broke; the heart-breaker; the girl who keeps you from attending class while she tells you the latest scandal; and the physically infirm—the girl whose heart is so weak that she can't go in for athletics, but who never misses a dance or a game of hearts.

A lot of the men around the Arts and Science Building should be back on the farm—at least their manners make them unfit for a co-ed college—and some of the latest additions or editions left mamma's apron strings too soon.

Remember, a Freshman girl is only a Freshman, unless she is a Phi-Mu pledge—then she is a victim. But after a few days you will become accustomed to the college, long before the college returns the compliment. Each year the crop of Freshmen is blighted worse than before. The quantity increases, but the quality degenerates.

Don't smoke unless you can do so gracefully—even then you'll have to emphasize the fact that Great-Aunt Eugenia was French, or that you've lived abroad (Cleveland Park) practically all your life, in order to get by with it around the other co-eds.

Don't Smoke Unless You Can Do So Gracefully

cave-man. If you contemplate raising a large family you'll have to go in for debating and win a Delta Sigma Rho key—it is one of the greatest baby-charmers known. A Chi-O horseshoe might bring you luck.

Some Freshmen get wise to the ways of the goodly school in a remarkably short time. They learn that if you translate Spanish or run errands of the sisters you will be automatically excused from scrubbing floors; that you can obtain an absolute release from window-washing or lunch cooking for the small sum of half a pound of Martha Washington a week; that you must keep your mouth shut while in the presence of your fraternity sisters-to-be. When you find out that they as well as you can err and yet have sense enough to keep this discovery to yourself, your education is practically complete. All that remains is for you to learn how to make the straps of your new evening frock fulfill their duty as hold-ups and be able to smile cheerfully and remark "How well you dance" when some great clumsy lout of a man walks completely around the ballroom floor on the toes of your too-new, too-tight silver slippers.

Now, about going to classes: there has been a growing tendency for the religious work of the students—Sigma-Kappa excluded—to interfere with the scholastic work of the institution. A prayer-meeting may keep you away from your studies all afternoon before you get his fraternity pin fastened securely in the folds of your dress just over your heart, but be sure to attend class the next day, Monday not included. Now, according to the ideas of your home town community, studies are the most important things in college. Of course no one at home knows. They merely assume this to be true, and the assumption is

Get over the notion that you are supposed to study. Do your work during the summer months; St. Marks and Wardman are dead joints then, and, therefore, it isn't a crime to waste a few hours studying the chaste chapters of Ibanez, Boccaccio, Balzac, or Dumas.

By all means go out for basket-ball if you want to make Chi-Omega; if you don't look good to them, Gamma Delta Rho will give you the once over.

A Pi-Phi arrow or a Gamma Delta Rho shield would be a nice thing to have if you want to enter the missionary field or if you anticipate marrying a based on imagination and—oh, well, you know what imagination does. Why, any one should study Psychology when there are so many interesting and delicate things to learn about "Beautiful Clothes." "How not to wear them" is a question much more difficult to answer than the proverbial and somewhat relevant "How do they do it?"

Now of course you will want to join something, but never fear or even hasten—there are plenty of pins to go around. Some have jewels, some hand-carving, and others are even gold-plated, but all of them rate the same. You will have to sew curtains, whitewash walls, wash windows, cook lunch, and be troubled with bills for pins, dues, etc., as soon as you accept any of them. 2022 and 2024 are always ready to greet you with open arms. Beginning on the third floor you will find a knitting-bee, or a gossip-fest in every room—anything from a pound of fudge to a sure thing on the exam questions will admit one to all activities with full privileges. If you enter here, tote a smile and be happy, and, above all, be a pride to your family, or at least to your chosen fraternity.

After a Pan-Hell Meeting

Now, after all this advice and you don't feel inclined to join a fraternity after entertaining one or two of them with a dance or party, or by giving a farewell party to one of its members, don't feel discouraged. You can come back next year and start a new one, providing there are enough combinations left in the Greek alphabet.

And with these gentle KNOCKS, I leave you to live and learn.

Sigma-Chi

It is perfectly natural that the goodly Sigs be classed as the leading politicians of the college, being a hereditary instinct with them ever since that ruff bunch had a fight over a literary society election and decided to cut loose from $\Delta K E$ and organize a club of their own, just for spite. This was the third big mistake made at Miami, $B \Theta \Pi$ and $\Phi \Delta \Theta$ being the other two. The big idea was to have one real frat at Miami, to show the Betas that anybody could be a frater. Just to be like the other boarding clubs they adopted a ritual. The other clubs got sore and swiped it, before ΣX was out of swaddling clothes. ΣX 's comeback was the creation of a new ritual, and the pledging of a bunch of athletes to defend it against all comers. Today the membership of ΣX is made up of politicians and athletes, in close harmony with the spirit in which it was founded.

The badge of the lodge is a chubby, crippled-looking cross of white enamel. This signifies the cross every ΣX has to bear, by being a Sig. The short arms are connected with chains, used because they are ornamental, and so symbolic of ΣX bonds. On the upper arm of the cross are two crossed keys, which serve as official notice that the Sigs have something besides coal in their cellar. On the right arm is an auditor's sheet, in the form of a scroll, showing that ΣX does its own accounting. On the left arm is an eagle's head, expressing love, sincerity, and gentleness. Below is ΣX shaking hands with himself—no one else ever does. Beneath the grip is a star for each of the founders, who, luckily, know not what a terrible thing spite is.

Inasmuch as the Sigs have just bought a new house, we thought it advisable not to disgrace them by publishing a picture of their present quarters. However, one will find the future home of some of its leading politicians.

Kappa-Sigma

The Kappa-Sigma fraternity was founded by Mercury, Solomon, Cæsar, Columbus, and Napoleon. The members admit it. Ancient historians, believing that secret societies should be kept dark, make no mention of the date, so we don't know when, or why, it happened, but it must have been in the Dark Ages.

The fraternity policy of expansion was a direct result of Cæsar's influence. In the last lap, after a long, active struggle, the S. A. E.'s stole a march on Kappa-Sig, so the fraternity now holds second place in the number of chapters. The messenger of the Gods, Brother Mercury, originator of the frat, started the first publication, which was named after his snaky staff, "The Caduceus." Brother Columbus founded the first charge in America.

The badge is a wonderful display which could well serve as an ad for a jewelry store. However, several inscriptions on it enable one to distinguish it from a brooch. Close analysis will disclose to the observer a crescent, with horns turned downward, holding suspended a five-pointed star (a point gained for each of the illustrious founders), the letters Κ Σ surrounded by cheap stones, being imposed within the star. The inverted crescent forms an arch of welcome which is not counteracted by the awful skull and crossbones which appear thereon. At one side of the deathly mask is a pair of crossed keys, suggested by Nap, who always had the key to the situation, and on the other side is a pair of crossed swords, the emblem of Cæsar. Nowhere is Solomon's influence shown.

Scattered at random over the convex surface of the pin are cheap stones of various sizes and colors. You will note from the above picture that one of their athletes is outdoors training.

Kappa-Alpha

Kappa-Alpha was established in a barroom at Lexington, Va., near Washington and Lee University, with the idea of creating an organization to foster and maintain the ideals of the South. The day of founding has been mourned ever since as the saddest day of the frat. One of the first things the young club did was to take on "foreign chapters," and forthwith they set out and took in a lot of foreigners.

In accordance with the ideals and customs of the honorable frat, Alpha-Nu maintains a sister club much to the envy of all the other fraters.

The club pin is a gold shield, surmounted by a smaller shield, in the center of which is a circle of black enamel, enclosing a white cross (all symbolic of the sad spirit with which the members mourn the founding of the frat), above which are the Greek letters "K A." The badge is often worn jeweled—what do the K A's care for expenses, they have plenty of them.

The K A's care little for studies; they are interested in several other things, i. e., girls, Girls, and GIRLS.

Theta Delta Chi

Theta Delta Chi is an honorary intellectual boarding-club founded by four Phi Beta Kappas and two ordinary men. The frat used to be strong for scholarship. In order to become a $\Theta \Delta X$ one had to be born with a slide rule in his hand, and supernatural intellectual powers in the head. Before the age of 12 he must have had at least ten contributions to Popular Mechanics, World's Work, or Literary Digest to his credit. Also he must be a social hound and an athlete. But of necessity, the first requirement was dropped, or lost sight of. Shades of their founders! If those learned students could but see $X \Delta$ chapter! Yea, verily, they are a noble lot.

The badge is a shield of gold, with a black face (indicating the dark outlook), on which a large headline $\Theta \Delta X$ appears. Less conspicuously decorative are the two ruby-set stars above the advertisement, and the crossed arrows below it, in honor of the club's alliance with the sorority, whose emblem is the arrow. The border of the pin is generally studded with pearls.

Phi Sigma Kappa

Phi Sigma Kappa was founded by Jove and Hector a few years ago, as they stood looking at the tower of Babel. The tower was the home of the secret fraternities of the day, and was an unsteady place, full of discord, tumult, and strife, liable at any time to fall because of anti-frat legislation. The big boys got a grand idea and founded "The Three T's," which was not a secret Greek-letter society, but just a big non-secret boarding-house. Anybody could belong, anybody could attend their meetings (provided he knew the password). It was a boarding-club of the people, by the people, and for the people, in which all men were created with the same mental vacuum.

The rushees are surrounded and conducted to the examination room, where they are compelled to show how they can get by. An increasing number succeeds in doing so each year, because they don't know what it's going to get them in for.

The badge is a Σ K with a Φ stuck out in the center. The Φ is set with pearls, because it costs more that way. When you know the combination it is almost possible to make out the Greek letters.

The above picture was taken the day before the book went to press, so some repairing may have been done by the 400 (pledges) since then.

Delta Tau Delta

Delta Tau Delta was founded at Bethany College; the founders, being all lit up with home-brew, were never quite clear in their mind as to the date of founding. It didn't take the Delts long to kill the school, after which the surviving infant chapters mortally wounded their parent by taking away her supporting charter.

The pin is a black, sway-backed square, with the letters D. T. D. (in Greek) boldly stuck out on the front of it in gilt. Below is a pale gold crescent, which forms the mouth of a rather good imitation of a Hallowe'en pumpkin face. The omnipresent fraternity-pin-illuminating-eye above the face gives the pin that "all lit up" expression, so natural and appropriately symbolic of Delta Tau Delta. In each corner is a star, because there was a space that had to be filled.

Delta Tau Delta means Drink, then DRINK—and this is half the ritual. The Delts faithfully live up to this motto, to judge by the New Year's raid on the Frat house. The other half of the sacred ritual consists of vows of fidelity to B. C. Harris and J. Foster.

A new driveway and an addition to the barn in the rear have been built since the picture was taken.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon

Σ A E has no time for history, so we don't know when or where the goodly frat first saw the light.

The requirements for admission to membership are very stringent—some fellows cannot belong. All the Sigs know that they belong to the lodge that is bigger than all the other white frats put together. There was an awful race, but Kappa-Sig came out second when Σ A E double-crossed by putting a chapter in every non-theological institution in the country with an enrollment of three or over.

The badge is diamond-shaped, copied from Φ Γ Δ , Δ K E, Z B T, and other pins. On a groundwork of black enamel is an inscription of Daniel in the lion's den, with a tame cat at his feet. Above the homely picture are the letters Σ A E, in rarest gilt, and below it, on a white ground, the symbols Φ Λ , which don't mean anything, but they help to balance the design of the pin. The mottoes of the club are: "Scholarship and Efficiency" and "Sleep and Eat." The frat leads the scholarship race on the inverse rate, though the K Σ s and Δ T Δ s put up a good fight for first place, and lost only by a narrow margin.

The G. W. chapter was the only branch husky enough to outlive the Civil War, after which the charge mothered three young ones, and went to what looked like an eternal rest, but in 1905 skilled physicians ministered to it, and waked it from the long sleep to renewed energy and vigor.

The Σ A Es are noted for their gentle rushing methods.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

Σ Φ Ε was founded from an organization called "The Saturday Night Club." Lots of guys who wanted to join, in order to get in on the fun, mobbed the frat meetings, but after the chapter instituted a new custom of enlisting theological students to help keep the "Sacred Hearts" in order, there wasn't so much wild struggle to get in.

The boys of the G. W. chapter have the reputation of being the best fireside hangers-on in the University.

The pin is heart-shaped, displaying the letters Σ Φ Ε boldly drawn on the front, in gold, on a background of black enamel. Above the large advertisement is a skull and crossbones. The jeweled eyes of the death-mask are missing because of the increase in price.

Since the above picture was taken, the cheap green paint has peeled off, and the pledges have washed the windows.

Sigma-Nu

Sigma-Nu was founded on New Year's Day at Virginia Military Institute by five boys who had become nervous, restless, and rebellious over the nine o'clock curfew rule of $\Lambda T \Omega$, the only one, therefore, the ruling frat at the college. The fellows wanted to start the New Year right, so they got drunk and held the first Seance Nocturnal, and decided to name the club therefrom.

The emblem of the lodge is gold, with five white crowns (one for each founder) meeting in a circle of black enamel, on which is coiled a snake. The serpent was used because the Sigma-Nu's so often saw snakes that it was thought just as well to put one on the pin. On each crown appears a pair of crossed swords, indicative of the peace-loving nature of the members. The sequence of letters thus formed is $\Sigma N E T T$, standing for a cherished motto, "Some nuts enter this thing."

The chapter at G. W. contains a vast majority of lawyers taken from the farm, but not the farm taken from them, that could successfully plant corn then administer legal aid.

The above picture was taken before some very important alterations were made to the clubhouse, chief of which was an addition to the doghouse.

The evidence which at present is occupying so much of the time and thought of the student body proves the correctness of my allusions of some time ago, relative to the predictions of Bob Pulliam. The affairs of the University are all going wrong, much to the satisfaction of Bob, as it proves that he was right.

Speaking of teas, why, of course, you all remember the tea that Phi-Mu gave at the Sigma-Nu house last fall, in honor of the football men. You know they are always doing something nice like that, always appreciative. There I go, chattering away; what I really wanted to speak about is Phebe. Of course, every one knows her—she has been our chief dramatic star ever since I can remember, which, of course, is a very long time. Well, the tea was over at seven-thirty. And with my very eyes, much to my amazement, I saw Phebe depart precisely at nine o'clock. However, upon investigation, which I lost no time in making, I learned that there was a waiter in the case.

While I'm talking about teas, and Phebe, it may be said that Olive Geiger can pull Bob Morgan's ears—and get away with it—and Horace just grinned and bore it when "Phibbe" rumbled his hair, but he did gasp a bit and feel rather "sat on" when she sat on his lap.

Of course you've all noticed the attention Russ Whyte is paying Jo, and that she's wearing his fraternity pin; but what every one is anxious to know is how he stands with the family. Well, I don't know how true it is, but I've been told that when Mrs. Houston calls Jo on the telephone in the Library, and the young lady in question is not to be found, she immediately calls for Russ—"He'll do, then."

While fraternity pins are in the air—we all wonder, and, to be candid, I've never been able to find out why Katherine Waits never wears her large collection. She started out with a Kappa-Sig, then tackled a Sigma-Nu, but after that I lost track.

Ione, along with Ellen Littlepage, Jean Jussen, Martha Waring, and Martha Dunham, is another collector of fraternity jewelry, but very few of us know it. She declared one time that she had a K A pin, but wouldn't wear it around here—the reason for such a statement each of you must solve in his or her own mind. But this we do know: that she received a very handsome solitaire by mail, shortly before Christmas, but refused to wear it because it didn't come by male.

One of the choicest bits of gossip that reached my ears recently was to the effect that Jeff Hayes has found another wearer for his fraternity pin. And she is such a nice little girl, too, that we all hope she may keep it longer than the previous wearers.

Russ is well liked by the student body. Although his motive for so regularly attending the Players' meetings was impugned; nevertheless, Russ claims that he was impelled by neither masculine, feminine, nor neuter beings—that it was purely a matter of business.

Have you noticed the attention Johnnie Ladd is paying to a certain young lady? And they tell me she is engaged, too. That would make it all the more interesting, it seems to me. They tell me last year he was so bashful that he blushed when he went into the garden and saw Pansy, Rose, and Violet in bed.

I hate to chatter about our Editor, but, really, there has come to me some choice bits of gossip that I can't refrain from inserting, with the hopes that they will "get by" in the rush.

First of all, we do hope that Santa brought him what he wanted—he wrote "Gift Granny" to bring him "silk pajamas, blue or pink." Good Night!

That reminds me. At the Sigma-Nu Christmas dance, Professor Bolwell, after dancing with Winifred, remarked: "Why, Miss DeVoe left all of her complexion on my shoulder." When the remark was repeated to Harry, he indiscreetly replied: "That's nothing, she leaves it on my shirt-front."

And while I'm chattering along about the Editor, I must mention what happened while Harry and Janeiro were practicing their Spanish dance for the Centennial Banquet. Janeiro was trying to find somebody's outstretched arms to fall into, so she asked, excitedly: "Oh, Harry, where are you?"—well you can say all you want to about practicing a dance, but it certainly sounded suspicious.

And while we're on the subject of the Centennial Banquet, I can't help but say that we all saw a great deal of Tex that night. If you don't believe me, just ask some of the co-eds who were sitting in the first row.

The various girl basket-ball games and practices brought forth a great deal of gossip, especially when mothers interceded for their daughters. And we can't help but pity Miss Whitcomb with all of her troubles. Some of the girls insisted upon wearing rolled tops, in accordance with the prevailing mode.

Margaret Brewer was too forward to be the center of attraction until Martha put her on her guard.

We all thought that Ada Duffies was a Presbyterian, but I have ocular proof from a recent game that she is a "Holy Roller."

Hildred, well when I think of her I must smile at what she told Miss Whitcomb. You all know that Hildred is one of the Coalition leaders, and the leader of the girls' cheering section. But to get back to my point, Miss Whitcomb was having a terrible time at practice, so she politely said: "Girls, if you don't keep still when I'm talking, I'll have to give you each some blank looks." Hildred innocently remarked: "Well, looks have never done me any good, Miss Whitcomb."

I can't allow this chatter to go on until I say a few things about Boots, for she has surely surprised me this year. She refused to have her picture for the tennis team taken in action, lest some one see her form. It is rumored that she has accepted the position of proctor at the Sigma-Chi house. She asserted that she is well informed concerning the codes and practices of the fraternity, and the Sigs know all about her—this all came out when she was asked to take part in the proposed vaudeville show.

I wasn't present, but those that were, almost gasped for breath when the Pi-Phi's sent for Pick to come over to the sorority rooms one cold day last December. And did he go? Well, you'd be surprised at the speed he registered between the Library and the spot designated.

Speaking of gentlemen visiting the sorority rooms, I wish I had a picture of Russ and C. W. painting in the Phi-Mu rooms—no, not the girls, only the walls.

Helen is certainly training Walter to toe the mark. Have you all noticed how lively he steps out when she speaks? However, I hope that he won't practice what I saw her do one evening after midnight, at Child's. I was partaking of my usual hot cakes and coffee, when I was horrified to see Helen drink her coffee out of her saucer. I was somewhat relieved when I learned that it was all on a bet.

J. Fuller Spoerri has just passed by, on the campus, with the same nonchalant and debonair manner. He is trying to make an impression, they say, but can we forget the "awful clothes" he wore last year. Red spats wouldn't have surprised me. But this year he has turned from the sublime to the ridiculous—wearing "tux" at afternoon affairs.

Sprained wrists are terrible things—they tell me that John D. Watkins got one while trying to pat himself on the back for the way he had run the Senate elections.

The fact that Lella is engaged, and her wedding will follow close upon her graduation, must make it awfully hard for her to refrain from making dates; she really does her best, which is a difficult job; nevertheless, she can't help but play with a good-looking fellow; now and then she finds him susceptible to her winsome ways.

If the tale is true—while we are discussing engagements—another popular co-ed may appear with a solitaire, if Wallie will only take life seriously, and do something worth while besides dance—but you know him.

Carrying suit-cases is mighty suspicious business these days, but a new light was thrown upon the subject when Marion and Justice departed from the Law School Circus, announcing the fact that they were going to the Washington Hotel. ? ? ?

Two's a company, but three's a crowd, especially when Pearl appeared upon the scene just about the time Jean was finishing his love-making to one of the Law School's vamps. Was Pearl surprised? I say she was—for some unknown reason—perhaps a mere engagement of one evening. She claims Jean; no, not Gene, the politician, but Jean, the orator.

We all know that it is bad business to send substitutes to fill our engagements, but when sorority sisters are concerned, we do hope that they put in a good word for the absentee. However, when Annapolis is the background, and a Southern maiden with all her winsomeness at hand—'way go his thoughts, and heart.

When Lois established her office at the Law School, it was meant to be strictly a place of business, but D. Malcolm and Kitty, as well as other earnest students, found it a most propitious spot for—study.

And speaking of finding things out of place—can you imagine the feelings of a National Park girl when Joe Fehr phoned her, the day after the Mardi Gras dance, and asked if she'd please send to the fraternity house the trousers which he had left.

Speaking of finding articles of the opposite sex among your possessions—well, I pity poor Luis when his boarding-house mistress found a perfect feminine comb in his pocket after arriving at his abode about three A. M.

It is almost time for the CHERRY TREE to go to press, so I must drop my pen, and get this to the Editor. Between you and me, I have waited until the last minute so that the Editor wouldn't censor my writing. If you are hungry for more gossip before the CHERRY TREE comes out next year, just drop down to the Rabbit Hole.

Chi Deuteron chapter of ΔX will entertain at tea, June 12th, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Scott, Jr. Mrs. Scott will be remembered as Olive Prescott, a very socially-inclined young lady of the University set a few years ago.

A recent event in society was the elaborate christening party given by Mrs. Russell I. Whyte for little Mary Josephine Whyte. Eugene Underwood acted as godfather.

The law partnership of Gieger and Morgan has been dissolved and the ex-partners have taken up the less satisfactory but more soluble association of matrimony.

Pi Beta Phi will entertain, June 10th, at a children's party for little Elizabeth Ernest Manson, Catherine Tonge Bowen, Ethel Bradley Preece, and Thelma Reeve Hays.

Dr. Preston Haynes has just finished a successful operation, that of removing Elaine Hedgcock's opposition. The wedding will be an event of the near future.

"At homes" have been announced for this week by Mrs. Lois Campbell Sheriff, Mrs. Lillian Smith Burdick, Mrs. Estelle Siegler Phillips, Mrs. Ruth Heddon Palmer, Mrs. Geraldine Barlow McNitt, Mrs. Martha Dunham Savage, Mrs. Katherine Waite Cox Gronna Duggan Clark, Mrs. Lella Warren Garnett Clark Shea Vidmer Healey, Mrs. Catherine Tonge Bartlett Johnson Hollis Peterson Bowen.

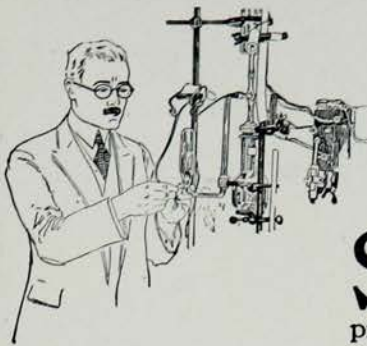

Mrs. Ruth Kunkel Marshall will be at home on the evening of June 9th, in compliment to Mrs. Louise Owens Symmons, a bride of last month.

We beg to announce the re-formation of the law firm of Perlin and Michelson, which was temporarily dissolved by a matrimonial union. The venture having been concluded, the old business relationship has been reestablished.

Mrs. Helen Hadden Parker has just issued a new book, entitled "Teaching Friend Husband Kitchen Economy." This is Mrs. Parker's second book—the first, "How to Manage a Husband by One Who Knows," having been a marked success.

Can You Imagine?

Can you imagine what G. W. would be
 If on the campus we could not see:
 Harold Rhame cutting classes;
 Pick Shea with his lasses;
 Essie Lee with her dashing Romeos;
 Lee Ella with her "roll-top" hose;
 Maxine Girts always painting;
 Winifred Devoe forever fainting;
 Irving Cleveland using words a mile long;
 Jo Houston ready to oblige with song;
 Earl Manson disobeying Soph rule;
 Joe Garnett cutting the fool;
 Olive Prescott giving advice;
 Ned Ellison "talking to de dice";
 Gene Underwood collecting votes;
 Lois McDaris writing notes;
 Dick Vidmer handing out a "line";
 Art Gronna feeling fine;
 A Hatchet reporter with pencil in hand;
 Sam Rogers yelling "to beat the band";
 Bobbie Anderson with a lot of pep;
 Harry Perlin right in step;
 Foster Hagan in his brown suit;
 Doc Nagle acting cute;
 Sir Wobert making love to us all;
 Grin, shinny and dimples—Tex Nall;
 Boots Earnest with decided views;
 Waldo Clark looking for news;
 Helen Hadden with Walter in tow;
 Ed Hanson "in the know";
 Jack Daily being silly;
 The "Axe" office without "little Willie";
 K. Symmonds office-seeking;
 Gossip Cherry Tree-ward leaking;
 A Soph mixer without a rumpus;
 School spirit without a campus.

What Is Research?

SUPPOSE that a stove burns too much coal for the amount of heat that it radiates. The manufacturer hires a man familiar with the principles of combustion and heat radiation to make experiments which will indicate desirable changes in design. The stove selected as the most efficient is the result of research.

Suppose that you want to make a ruby in a factory—not a mere imitation, but a real ruby, indistinguishable by any chemical or physical test from the natural stone. You begin by analyzing rubies chemically and physically. Then you try to make rubies just as nature did, with the same chemicals and under similar conditions. Your rubies are the result of research—research of a different type from that required to improve the stove.

Suppose, as you melted up your chemicals to produce rubies and experimented with high temperatures, you began to wonder how hot the earth must have been millions of years ago when rubies were first crystallized, and what were the forces at play that made this planet what it is. You begin an investigation that leads you far from rubies and causes you to formulate theories to explain how the earth, and, for that matter, how the whole solar system was created. That would be research of a still different type—pioneering into the unknown to satisfy an insatiable curiosity.

Research of all three types is conducted in the Laboratories of the General Electric Company. But it is the third type of research—pioneering into the unknown—that means most, in the long run, even though it is undertaken with no practical benefit in view.

At the present time, for example, the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company are exploring matter with X-rays in order to discover not only how the atoms in different substances are arranged but how the atoms themselves are built up. The more you know about a substance, the more you can do with it. Some day this X-ray work will enable scientists to answer more definitely than they can now the question: Why is iron magnetic? And then the electrical industry will take a great step forward, and more real progress will be made in five years than can be made in a century of experimenting with existing electrical apparatus.

You can add wings and stories to an old house. But to build a new house, you must begin with the foundation.

That we were gonna have a campus.
 That Dean Ferson got mad once.
 That Tex Nall has sworn off the "hula."
 That they could tell which one of the Ayres twins looks the most alike.
 That Gene Cox never drank!
 That Etta Taggart's party didn't have a thing to do with the result of the Senior Law Class election just afterward.
 That Waldo Clark wasn't scared when the Frosh nabbed him.
 That Bee Tait doesn't really enjoy running the Rabbit Hole.
 That Art Gronna was as innocent as he would have us think.
 That Charlie Boteler doesn't like to play basket-ball.
 That Martha McGrew has forgotten Columbian College, now that she's a Law School student.
 That Harold Rhame didn't mind the Krazy Kut the Frosh gave his hair.
 That Harry Newman doesn't like 'em little and light (like Winifred).
 That the Sigma-Chi New Year's dance ran all night on tea!
 That Lella Warren isn't crazy about some Freshman.
 That once a man didn't "fall for" Ruth Holmes.
 That Walter Parker is his own boss.
 That some day the Axe will come out on schedule time.
 That Mr. Schatz once volunteered assistance.
 That Harry Hawley didn't acquire the "third eyebrow" by mistake.
 That Frank Myers doesn't like the girls.
 That "Red" McCaslin isn't the best cheer leader you ever heard.
 That Catherine Tonge isn't a very popular co-ed.
 That Howard Espey makes a rotten Hawaiian dancer.
 That some one made an "A" in Property I.
 That editing the CHERRY TREE was a snap.
 That all the students love Delmour Fuqua.
 That Gene Underwood spent his money recklessly.
 That the Class of 1924 is such a nice quiet class!
 That G. W. has no spirit.
 That Katherine Bryant went to class every day last week.
 That Pulliam got the Junior Class presidency through the feminine vote.
 That Katherine Waits wore the same fraternity pin two consecutive days once.
 That the other fraternities aren't jealous of the Kappa-Alphas with their Sister Club.
 That Brooks Hays was born north of the Mason Dixon line.
 That Dan Borden isn't a jolly, good fellow.
 That the 1921 CHERRY TREE is the best one that ever sprouted.

Young Lady: "What do you think is the fashionable color for a bride?"

Male: "Well, tastes differ, but I prefer a white one."

"Liza, what fo' yo' buy dat udder box of shoe-blackening?"

"You'd better lengthen your skirts, Marie."

"Uh?"

"Gentlemen are apt to mistake you for a little girl and try to take you on their laps."

"Well?"

He (tenderly): "It's a mistake for a man to go through life alone."

She: "Why don't you get your mother to chaperone you?"

Dean Wilbur, who had been telling some small children the story of the discovery of America, ended it with: "And all this happened more than 400 years ago."

One little boy, his eyes wide open with wonder, said, after a moment's thought: "Gee, what a memory you've got."

Russ: "What makes you look so pale to-day, Jo?"

Jo: "Why, the wave in my hair makes me seasick."

My boy, beware the "Baby stare,"

Because if it's a bluff,

She knows too much, and if it's not,

She doesn't know enough.

Daughter: "Oh, father, how grand it is to be alive. The world is just too good for anything. Why isn't every one happy?"

Father: "Who is he this time?"

"Oh," remarked that young lady, innocently, "Weren't you there."

"Pick is an awful ladies' man."

"I believe it. I've seen him with some awful ones."

"Dick loves to dance, doesn't he?"

"Well, from the way he is holding that girl, I should say he dances to love."

It has been said that to fit the local atmosphere the old saying, "Wine, Women, and Song," should be changed to "Tea, Co-eds, and Jazz."

IN setting the type, printing, and binding this book, our object was not to see how quickly and cheaply we could produce the publication, but how well it could be done.

Our whole aim in this, as in all our work, is to give the greatest attention to all the details, and produce printing that will be a credit to the institutions from which the publications are issued. Our books will be just as good in the many years to come, when an annual is of greatest value, as they are to-day.
